INSURANCE COMMISSIONER URGES RETENTION OF POLICIES.

Salem, Ore., Mar. 25.—(Special)—Insurance agents who attempt to replace or encourage the replacement of life insurance policies already in force by one in another company, which new policy is purported to be more suitable to the insured's needs, are not only unethical in their practices but are usually doing the policyholders a grave injustice, declares A. H. Averill, insurance commissioner, in a statement issued as a result of inquiries from numerous policyholders as to whether a policy in another company would not be more beneficial than one which has already been carried for a number of years.

Reputable life insurance companies do not sanction this practice of lapsing policies and rewriting them in other companies, and the agent who encourages the surrender of a policy having an accrued value and replacing it with another is serving his own selfish interests rather than the best interests of the policyholder, according to Commissioner Averill.

A life insurance policy has a definite property value which increases with age of the policy and a change from one company to another usually means a financial loss to the insured, for the new insurance purchased must be paid for at the advanced age rate. It is remembered that with the first payment on a life policy an immediate insurance estate has been created and the acquisition costs have been paid. It will be more difficult for the unethical agent to induce the insured to make a change.

Policyholders are urged to give serious thought before relinquishing any protection under the policies they now hold, and any plan for an exchange of coverage should be submitted in writing and should show the policy form number of the policy being analyzed, the name of the company in whose behalf the analysis is made, and the name of the agent or representative making the analysis. This analysis should then be submitted to the original company who will point out any flaws in any plan of change proposed. If a change in the form or amount of the present policy is desired, your company can make for you without your suffering a loss.

Beware of agents who want to replace old policies with new insurance.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"MATTER" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 24.

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit. Marvel not that I said unto thee, Ye must be born again" (John 3: 6, 7).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy: "The fading forms of matter, the mortal body and material earth, are the fleeting concepts of the human mind. . . Spirit and its formations are the only realities of being. Matter disappears under the microscope of Spirit. . . Man understands spiritual existence in proportion as his treasures of Truth and Love are enlarged. Mortals must gravitate Godward, their affections and aims grow spiritual, —they must near the broader interpretations of being, and gain some proper sense of the infinite, —in order that sin and mortality may be put off" (pp. 263-265).

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES.
