

TURKEY GROWERS ASSOCIATION SHOWS VOLUME INCREASE

HIGH QUALITY SEEN IN OREGON GROWN BIRDS.

Former Officers of Organization Retained; H. Kelley Elected as New Director.

Harry Kelley was unanimously elected as a new director for the Eastern Oregon Turkey Growers' association at its annual meeting held Saturday, June 15, in the city library. J. Jendrzewski, president, Mrs. R. G. Penney, secretary-treasurer, C. A. Flannigan, L. C. Todd and Merrill Potter, were re-elected to the membership to serve another year. Kelley replaced Cooney of Boardman who no longer resides in this district.

The association retained its membership in the Oregon Turkey Growers' association which is affiliated with the Northwestern Turkey Growers' association. J. C. Leedy, president of the state organization said that the business of the association had increased 109 per cent in 1934 over the previous year, and also stated that there were no Oregon cars listed as rejects shown at the conference for the Northwest Turkey Growers' association held recently at Salt Lake City, which indicated the high quality of Oregon grown birds.

Mrs. R. G. Penney, secretary for the local organization, who was a delegate to the conference, served on the finance committee, and returned with a feeling of confidence in the set-up of the organization.

H. E. Cosby, Oregon State College extension poultry specialist, spoke on the turkey situation in a general way, but specified the fact that the grower must use his own intelligence in selecting the most likely system for growing turkeys in his particular district.

When asked about the semi-scald method of picking turkeys, Mr. Leedy and Mr. Cosby said that it was the general opinion of the trade that it was not justifiable unless the birds were being moved to an immediate market to reach consumers in a comparatively short time.

Annual Turkey Tour.

The date for the annual turkey tour, a big event in the growth of the association, was set for August 17, the third Saturday in the month. The schedule and program will be announced at a later date. C. A. Flannigan, H. K. Dean, Donald DeMoss and Mrs. C. A. Flannigan were named on the arrangement committee for the picnic. The member units in Oregon include the Oregon Turkey Growers, Roseburg; Eastern Oregon Turkey Growers, Hermiston; Central Oregon Turkey Growers, Redmond; and Southern Oregon Turkey Growers, Medford.

Resolution Passed.

The following resolution was adopted by the association: Whereas your organization, in conjunction with the Southern Pacific and the Denver, Rio Grande, has recently published reduced tariff rates on dressed poultry, effective in Salt Lake regions and westward to Huntington, Oregon, and, Whereas the present rate of $1.22 on dressed poultry in carlots from Hermiston to Los Angeles places our district at a disadvantage in view of the above reductions; Therefore, Be it resolved that we ask a carlot rate of $1.00 from Hermiston Oregon, to Los Angeles, and $1.25 on less than carlot rate on dressed poultry from Hermiston, Oregon, to Los Angeles; and

Be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Northwest Turkey Growers Assn. and a copy be published in the Hermiston Herald.

Approved by Eastern Oregon Turkey Growers Assn., at Hermiston, Oregon, this 15th day of June, 1935. Eastern Oregon Turkey Growers Association.

SCHOOL BOARD STUDIES REVISED PLANS FOR HIGH SCHOOL

Members of the Hermiston Union high school board, district No. 9, studied revised plans for the proposed high school building presented by architects at the meeting held Tuesday night, but no definite action was taken. The general appearance of the building will be the same but a few of the dimensions have been reduced, it was shown. The total cost of the revised building will be less than $70,000 including sidewalk improvement and heating plant. The government, through the PWA set-up, offers a 45 per cent grant on such projects, with 30 years in which to pay at 4 per cent interest.

THEATRE HIDES ESCAPED KILLER IN THRILL FILM

Drama in a theatre that takes place in front of the footlights, instead of behind, is the story told in Paramount's "Four Hours to Kill", starring Richard Barthelmess, and coming Sunday and Monday to the Oasis theatre.

Barthelmess plays an escaped convict, hiding in the theatre and waiting for his chance to get the man who squealed on him. In the same audience are others whose life dramas are bound with his—a cloak-room boy who has stolen to get money, a rich woman planning to run away with her sweetheart, a handsome phlanderer who preys on impressionable women.

While police frantically search for Barthelmess, he makes a telephone call that lures his victim to the lobby of the theatre. Then, just as the separate life dramas of the others are rising to their climaxes, he steps from his hiding place and shoots down the man before the eyes of an aghast audience.

How the criminal is caught and the tangled lives of the others straightened out furnishes the climax to a thrilling drama. "Norman Krassa's 'Small Miracle'" the hit of the current Broadway season, furnished the original from which "Four Hours to Kill" was written.

GEORGE O'BRIEN STARS IN NEW TYPE PICTURE.

Blazing a path as a pioneer of a new type action picture, George O'Brien's new starring picture, "The Cowboy Millionaire" shows at the Oasis theatre Friday and Saturday.

Action ranges over six thousand miles from city spires to Arizona's deserts. Audiences are promised an engrossing lot of thrills.

This Fox Film release has been acclaimed wherever seen. It eschews the stereotyped formula of the hardened cowboy plus fragile girl fluttering around mortgaged homesteads.

In "The Cowboy Millionaire" the settings denote wealth, and bespeak refinement and culture. The women wear clothes befitting wealthy society. No cowboy strut up the dust of the village street. No chases predominate the picture, yet this fast-moving film is packed to the hilt with action.

Producer Sol Lesser spared no money to give this picture a fitting frame. George O'Brien moves with ease from the hard west to society's drawing rooms.
