OREGON LEADS ALL STATES IN BANGS DISEASE DRIVE.

Oregon passed the 300,000 mark in tests for Bangs disease with the close of October, reports Dr. B. T. Simms, head of the veterinary department at Oregon State college, where the laboratory work for the eradication campaign is conducted. October was the banner month since the campaign was started in September, 1934, with 34,540 tests bringing the total to 203,042.

The campaign in Oregon is far ahead of that in any other state considering the relative total number of dairy cattle, a national report on the progress of testing shows. Minnesota, Ohio and Wisconsin are the only states exceeding Oregon in total number of tests made, while these states each have from seven to ten times the number of dairy cattle found in this state.

The number of reactors found to date in Oregon amounts to 6.76 per cent, with 2.92 per cent suspects. This is an exceptionally low percentage compared with most of the other states, accounted for by the years of state encouragement of Bangs disease clean-up. About 50,000 tests a year had been made for the six years before the federal program started, Dr. Simms' records reveal.

Under the federal clean-up program approximately $450,000 has been used or obligated in Oregon. Present allotment of funds will carry the program to January 1, and a further allotment has been assured to continue the work through next June. Oregon farmers have been cooperating heartily in the clean-up work so that at present the campaign is nearly complete in many Willamette valley counties.

At the conclusion of the program, it is believed that all of the Willamette valley counties as well as Curry, Clatsop, Columbia and Coos, will have tested more than 90 per cent of the cattle. By October 1 a total of 27,431 herds had been tested, of which 21,800 or more than 70 per cent were entirely clean, while 5,637 contained one or more reactors or suspects.

The work in Oregon has been under the direction of Dr. Sam B. Foster, who has represented the bureau of animal industry in charge of TB eradication in Oregon since the program started in 1917. During this same period Dr. W. H. Lytle has served as state veterinarian, giving Oregon the distinction of having kept the same federal and state leadership throughout the entire period.

BOLES STARRED IN HAPPIEST ROLE.

Motion pictures are at last revealing the true John Boles—the gay romantic Boles.

Recent pictures have given the youthful side of this popular star more and more scope, but Fox Film's musical spectacle, "Redheads on Parade," at the Oasis theatre Sunday and Monday, stars him in his lightest hearted, gayest role.

Boles, starred with Dixie Lee, acts the male lead in the tender, inspired love story about which the plot of this picture is woven. He sings, both with ensembles and his co-star, the three hit tunes written by Jay Gorney and Don Hartman for the picture.

And then, to top his performance, Boles reveals himself as a dancer of the first rank, in a graceful series of dances in which he does the waltz, tango and rumba successively with a series of beautiful partners.

The Baer-Louis fight picture is on this program.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"EVERLASTING Punishment" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Nov. 3.

The Golden Text was, "Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me" (Ps. 51: 10).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Wash me thoroughly from mine iniquity, and cleanse me from my sin" (Ps. 51:2).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christian Science commands man to master the propensities,—to hold hatred in abeyance with kindness, to conquer just with chastity, revenge with charity, and to overcome deceit with honesty. Choke these errors in their early stages, if you would not cherish an army of conspirators against health, happiness, and success. . . . It were better to be exposed to every plague on earth than to endure the cumulative effects of a guilty conscience. The abiding consciousness of wrongdoing tends to destroy the ability to do right" (p. 405).
