Water Increases Seed Yield.
HILLSBORO—irrigation of a field of red clover gave an average seed yield approximately seven times as great as on an unirrigated field that had, if anything, a little the better soil on the farm of John Thornburgh at Forest Grove, he reported recently to County Agent W. F. Cyrus. The seed crop from the unirrigated field averaged 55 pounds per acre, and on irrigated field 355 pounds per acre. At 35 cents a pound for seed, this meant a gross return of $39 an acre from the irrigation. Mr. Thornburgh now has a major part of his land under irrigation and has recently laid out an additional 35 acres to receive supplemental water.

PRES. ROOSEVELT ENDORSES CHRISTMAS SEAL CAMPAIGN

THE WHITE HOUSE, WASHINGTON.
"On Thanksgiving Day will again be launched throughout the country the annual Christmas Seal sale of the National Tuberculosis Association for funds with which to continue the fight against tuberculosis. The appeal deserves the serious consideration of everyone, for the disease continues to be the Nation's foremost public health problem—especially among the young. It is imperative that protective measures which have been found effective in preventing further spread of the disease shall be continued unabated.

"Leadership in the work of carrying out these protective measures is given by the National Tuberculosis Association and its two thousand affiliated units throughout the country. Their work has been of special value during the past five years when Federal, State and Municipal administrations were extended to the limit in caring for those who turned to them for aid.
"The cooperation of every man, woman and child, every organized group and every governmental official is needed in order to bring this dread disease under control. It is properly the duty of each local community to raise the funds for its own protection. Christmas Seals give everyone an opportunity to do his part. The funds are spent in the communities in which they are raised for the protection of all. The need is great."

perial court, reviewing his army, and engaged in other public duties, all seen in Paramount's "Wings Over Ethiopia," which is at the Oasis theatre Friday and Saturday.

Invading the very heart of Ethiopia three intrepid men, L. Wechsler, E. Berne, a cameraman, and Walter Mittelholzer, Swiss pilot, covered this empire by plane, motor and camel caravan, collecting a startling picture of Ethiopian life, from Selassie's ancient court to the wild hill tribes in the mountainous interior. The complete inaccessibility of the country except by camel caravan or mule packs is most significant.
"Wings Over Ethiopia" is a laudatory, impressive piece of work, of genuine interest to everybody everywhere, revealing a true picture of a fascinating, ancient race.
The feature Six of a Kind starring Charles Ruggles, Burns, an Allen, completes the program.

stock swindle which took Tom's money and the constable is happy when he is allowed to make one arrest.
Mr. Sutton then relents and recognizes his daughter and gives his blessings to the two couples.
Perhaps the most creditable character portrayal performance was carried out by the Constable Don Parker and by the leading lady, Helen Dunning.
Entertainment between acts was furnished by the high school orchestra under the direction of Miss Golda Mumma.
