MARY BURNS, FUGITIVE AT OASIS THEATRE

"Mary Burns, Fugitive," a colorful tale of love, drama and clashes with the law, will be at the Oasis theatre Friday and Saturday.

In "Mary Burns Fugitive," Miss Sidney plays the role of a girl hunted by the law, a victim of circumstantial evidence. An absorbing tale of love and clashes with justice, the story centers around Miss Sidney, in the title role, who serves part of a prison term, breaks jail, falls in love with a rich and famous scientist, becomes a newspaper headline, hunted by her former sweetheart gangster and the long arm of the law, innocent of the crimes of which she has been declared guilty.

After many dramatic, swift moving, actionful situations, the film reaches a smashing climax. Melvyn Douglas, Alas Baxter, Wallace Ford, Pert Kelton are in the cast.

OUTDOOR ROMANCE SEEN IN "THE VIRGINIAN"

Hundreds of head of bellowing cattle, hard-riding and straight-shooting cowboys and rustlers form the background for one of the most delightful love stories and outdoor film classics that has ever been presented for the enjoyment of the movie-going public.

In "The Virginian," which comes to the Oasis theatre Sunday and Monday, we see Gary Cooper, in the title role, Walter Huston as the fast-shooting villain, and Richard Arlen, Mary Brian and Eugene Peltette in the supporting cast of the production, which was adopted from the novel and play by Owen Wister and Kirk LaSelle and was directed by Victor Fleming.

ETA KAPPA NU FRATERNITY WINS NATIONAL RECOGNITION.

Oregon State College, Corvallis, Dec. 2—Pi chapter of Eta Kappa Nu, national honor society in electrical engineering at Oregon State college, of which Edward H. Houghton of Irigoin, senior in electrical engineering at Oregon State is treasurer, recently won the distinction for being the most outstanding of the 24 chapters in the organization for the year 1934-1935.

As a result of winning first place, Pi chapter will be given a silver plaque by A. B. Zerby, executive-secretary of the society, when he visits the campus in December. A similar plaque is awarded each year to the most outstanding chapter by the New York Alumni association of Eta Kappa Nu.

Besides the high scholastic average of its members for the year 1934-35, Pi chapter conducted a round-table discussion on engineering education, at which faculty members and students express their opinions on methods of teaching in the engineering school.

One of the most interesting accomplishments of the Oregon State chapter is that it built and maintains a cabin located on Mary's peak in the coast range mountains west of Corvallis. Also the sound amplifying system that is being used at football games, dances, and rallies on the campus, was designed and installed by its members.
