Woman's Prerogative.
 Since all the politicians are trying to pick a winner for president, and since the possible candidates are trying to change their platforms to suit the changing times we have decided to avoid such difficulties. There is only one woman who would make a good president and it is always a woman's prerogative to change her mind. We therefore have decided to support Alice. She knows national problems since the great days of her great father and has shown herself one of the greatest of the Roosevelt dynasty, albeit she is a woman.
 Her pen is a two edged sword which shows her an adept at eliminating fuss and folly. Her doctrine in political life is mainly common sense which shows that she could select the ablest men in cabinet and other political affairs. Therefore let's quit guessing and pick Alice for both parties.

The Dairy Industry.
 Dairying is the most important agricultural industry in the United States.
 In recent years, sales of dairy products have amounted to about 25 per cent of the cash income of all agriculture. And in 1934, the cash income from dairying was higher than the combined cash income from wheat and cotton. It was almost as high as the combined cash income from hogs, cattle and calves, a part of which is represented by dairy cattle. It is an interesting fact that American dairy farmers have been among the most progressive of all farm groups in forming and supporting organizations. In the great eastern area, for example, dairy farmers are served by a pioneer co-op, the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association, Inc. In other areas, large and strong dairy co-operatives are helping to bring better times to the farmer. The pre-eminent place of dairying in the agricultural set-up is not entirely due, of course, to the success of dairy co-operatives—but those organizations have done and are doing a mighty important work in behalf of their members and the public at large.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES
 "TRUTH" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Jan. 26.

The Golden Text was, "O Lord, thou art my God; I will exalt thee, I will praise thy name; for thou hast done wonderful things; thy counsels of old are faithfulness and truth" (Isa. 25:1).
 Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth. For this is good and acceptable in the sight of God our Saviour; Who will have all men to be saved, and to come unto the knowledge of the truth" (II Tim. 2: 15; I Tim. 2: 3, 4).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The question, What is Truth, is answered by demonstration—by healing both disease and sin; and this demonstration shows that Christian healing confers the most health and makes the best men . . . The thunder of Sinai and the Sermon on the Mount are pursuing and will overtake the ages, rebuking in their course all error and proclaiming the kingdom of heaven on earth. Truth is revealed. It needs only to be practised" (Pref. VIII, 174).

SELECTED CAST OF ELEVEN PARTICIPATING

Author Takes in Waif for Local Color
 (Note: This play has been postponed but will probably be given Feb. 20)

"The Brat," a three act comedy farce by Maud Fulton, will be presented Thursday evening, February 6th, at the Oasis theatre, by members of the class of '36 of the high school. The production is under the direction of Miss Margaret Elliott, and it promises to be a very different type of high school production, previously presented here. The clever comedy was first published in 1929 and has had long runs in both New York and London theatres recently.

A brief summary is as follows: Mac Millan Forrester, a successful author, who is searching for "local color" to use in a novel on which he is working, picks up a half-starved waif called "The Brat" and brings her to his family's palatial house. She turns out to be a clever, honest, delightful little Irish girl, but the Forresters are snobs and regard her as a savage. The black sheep of the family is Steve, MacMillan's younger brother and he falls in love with the natural sincerity and sweetness of "the Brat." When the novel is finished, Mac Millan plans to turn her out of the house without compunction, but Steve will not hear of this cold-blooded proposal and finally finds a solution for her life and his own.

The cast includes:
 Mrs. Forrester Eleanor Dawson
 Mac Millan Bill Jackson
 Her son, an author,
 Stephen Harold Throop
 Her younger son,
 Bishop Ware Deverde Elwood
 Her brother,
 Mrs. Ware Jo Ellen Mopps

— HUMOR —
 These jokes were taken from The Bulldog, the high school publication.
 Miss Brierley had been giving the pupils a lecture about calling each other such names as dumb-bell. When she had finished she remarked, "If there are any dumb-bells in the room please stand up." There was silence for a moment and a little girl stood up.
 "Why, Rosemary, do you consider yourself a dumb-bell?"
 "Well no, but-well y'see I hated to see you standin' there all alone," replied Rosemary.
 Young public speaking student to girl friend: "May I have the exquisite beatitude of escorting your corporeal system across the space intervening between your paternal domicile and the edifice erected for the worship of the Supreme Being after the dialuminous has receded far below the western horizon."
 Girl Friend: "No thank you. I came with auntie."
