

FARM CO-OPERATIVE DIVISION

A MESSAGE TO EVERY MEMBER.

HOME FURNISHING PROGRAM AT UNION CHURCH APRIL 21.

Miss Joan Patterson, Extension Specialist in Home Furnishings from Oregon State college, will speak on the Home Furnishings Day program Tuesday, April 21st. The program will be held in the Union Church, starting at 10:30. "Window Curtaining in the Home" will be the subject for discussion in the morning, and "Color in the Home" will be the afternoon subject. Both discussions will be accompanied by beautiful illustrative material giving suggestions for inexpensive and attractive home furnishings. This program is being arranged by Miss Frances Clinton, Home Demonstration Agent for Umatilla County. Any homemaker who is interested is invited.

Luncheon is being provided by members of the home extension units at Hermiston and at Echo-Stanford. Mrs. Hawley Bean of Echo or Mrs. E. H. Dunning of Hermiston may be called for additional information about the luncheon.

A Day Nursery will be held in the Union church where mothers may leave their children in charge of a competent person while they are attending the meeting. There is no charge for the nursery.

Similar Home Furnishings Day programs will be held at Pendleton, April 20th, in the club room of the Umatilla county library, and at Ferndale April 22nd, in the Grange hall.

Westland Grange Dance.

A hard times dance will be given by the Westland Grange Saturday, April 18, at the Westland school house, and everyone is asked to appear in hard times dress. No one will be barred from the dance however, who has no hard times apparel to wear.

RUST COTTON PICKING MACHINE PROFITS TO AID HAND-PICKERS.

A cotton picking machine has been perfected in Louisiana by John and Mack Rust, and the machines are being manufactured and sent all over the world.

But John and Mack are quite a bit different from the average person. They have, all their lives, been personally familiar with poverty. They realize that the invasion of their machine in the Southland will be a disaster to millions, and here is where the Rust boys are "different."

In co-operation with Sherwood Eddy, liberal writer, and his partner, Sam Franklin of New York, the Rust brothers have formed the "Rust Foundation." This foundation is described as one of the "industrial revolutions" of history, for it provides, for the first time in history, for the harnessing of a major invention with human welfare. It provides that nine-tenths of the profits from the manufacture and licensing of the Rust cotton picker shall be used to found a series of co-operative farms, stores and industrial projects in the south. Thus these profits of the machine which will displace thousands of workers will be used to help those same workers—even to better their condition.

Already a start has been made, even though the machines are not yet being commercialized. A short time ago Eddy and Franklin of New York, with Bishop Scarlett of St. Louis airplanned to the South where they joined the Rust boys. The outcome of this meeting was the formation of the Rust Foundation already mentioned. As a preliminary move a two-thousand acre tract of Mississippi delta land was bought (600 acres already in cultivation), with a $1000 down payment. Then the promoters flew back to New York and by the help of friends raised the remainder of the $17,500 contract price of the land, and the land paid for. One hundred acres of the land is covered with cypress timber, and with it went nine houses, one tractor, two wagons, 12 mules, a barn, blacksmith shop and farm tools.

It is understood this is only a starter. As the machines develop and as cotton hands are eliminated from their backbreaking jobs, new farms will be added by the Rust Foundation. It is thus planned to absorb the tens of thousands eliminated by the revolutionary cotton picking machine which is destined to make a new South of the old.

In other words the poor cotton farmers of the South will come into possession of their cultural heritage—the inheritance to which they are justly entitled.

4-H CLUB MEMBERS VISIT LOCAL DAIRY INSTITUTIONS

Members of the Blue Ribbon Club, accompanied by Assistant County Agent W. A. Sawyer, visited the Umatilla Cooperative Creamery Saturday, April 11, and were shown through the plant by the manager M. G. Hedwall. The process used in manufacturing butter was explained to the boys and girls.

After looking through the creamery plant the group visited the Hermiston Dairy and were shown around by E. E. Rainwater, manager.

Members of the club are grateful for the courtesies shown them by the managers of these institutions and have expressed their appreciation.

CO-OP GLEANINGS

By E. H. Dunning.

Could not the whole of a future Cooperative Economy be summed up in the motto Consumer-Producer Cooperatives? Would it not be correct to say that Credit Unions are Consumers' Cooperatives in Finance; that Public Ownership will eventually be Consumers' Cooperatives in Utilities; equally as much as Consumers' Cooperatives in Industry? Would it not also be correct to say, as William Leiserson, Chairman of the National Mediation Board does, that "Collective bargaining is Cooperative Marketing of Labor," or, in other words that Labor Unions are also Producers Cooperatives? Likewise that even Professional Associations might, as they develop, be correctly called producers' cooperatives in the field of Services, similar to what we now call Producers Cooperatives in the field of Farming?

Some general phrase such as "Consumer-Producer Cooperatives" is needed to describe all types of Consumers and Producers Associations of the future Cooperative Economic Democracy. People are constantly confused now because of the variation of names and fail to understand that there are only two basic types of economic associations possible—consumers and producers—all economic functions are included in these two words.

"The Corporate League" might well be used as the true name of The Liberty League. It represents in its personnel, Money, Metals, Motors, and Munitions—the great triumvirate of Finance, Industry and Utilities. It stands for liberty for money rather than liberty for men. It is the antithesis of the ideal expressed in Edwin Markham's poem, "Make way for brotherhood, make way for man." Its only real virtue is that it sharpens issues and may lead to a more definite division of political parties, rather than the camouflage of one economic interest under two political names which we now have. Either way, it's always "win," never "lose," today. As we have said before, "Fascism again rears its ugly head in America"—Dictatorship in Disguise.

SPRING GARDEN TIPS

A. G. B. Bousquet, O.S.C.

New strains of Swiss Chard, such as Fordhook and the Broad-stemmed dark-leaved varieties, are finer in size and general characteristics than the old strains of Lucullus. The improvement of this vegetable is shown in the larger, broader and whiter leaf stalks and the large dark leaves which are particularly blistered and attractive. This vegetable is very useful in the home garden since it does not run to seed in hot weather as do other types of greens. It is quite hardy and usually winters over successfully to produce a new crop the following spring before going to seed. Plants should be thinned to 6 to 10 inches apart in the row so as to have ample room for development.

Strains of varieties of tomatoes sometimes show variation so that when one has chosen a variety there yet remains the question of the breeding and selection back of the strain. The standard varieties most widely planted in Oregon include Bonny Best, John Baer, Chalk's Jewel and Pritchard. Others used to a lesser extent are Earlians, Perfection, Marglobe and Indiana Baltimore—the last being a canning variety in southern Oregon.

OREGON STATE NEWS OF GENERAL INTEREST

Brief Resume of Happenings of the Week Collected for Our Readers

Bend—An ordinance prohibiting the sale of beer between 1 a. m. and noon on Sundays has been adopted by the city commission.

The Dalles—The Union Pacific has agreed to sell The Dalles port commission 26 acres of waterfront land at the rate of $100 per acre.

Salem—The county courts of Marion and Clackamas counties have agreed upon the construction of a new bridge across Butte creek at Monitor. The estimated cost is between $6000 and $8000.

Eugene—Fourteen hundred feet of hand-placed rock rip-rap to replace new gravel revetment washed out by the recent high water in the Willamette below Eugene will be built by the government in the near future.

Philomath—Joe Bullivant, a farmer near Philomath, found when he went to his pasture for his team that a three-year-old boar had run amuck and had gored the two horses. While he was caring for them the boar killed another horse.

Oregon City—For the first time in the political history of Clackamas county, a woman will run for sheriff. Mrs. Alta M. (Ma) Griggs, local restaurant owner, announced that she had salled her bonnet into the ring for the republican nomination.

Grants Pass—Fruit shipments from the Rogue River valley now total 2337 cars. Pears are moving at the rate of eight cars per day, chiefly to eastern markets. The present price is less per box than last year.

Medford—It cost Jackson county 35 cents for each of the 7192 votes cast at the recent special election. About 48 per cent. of the registered voters went to the polls. The rural precincts voted more heavily than the city ones.

Oswego—Charging that the draining of Duck lake, which adjoins Lake Oswego, has caused the destruction of thousands of fish, the state police authorities have signed a complaint against the manager of the Ladd estate, charging wanton destruction of fish.

Port Orford—Truck loads of dairy cattle from Coos and Curry counties are being moved daily on the Coast highway going south into California where there is an excellent market this year due to the weeding out of tuberculosis among the herds of that state.

Medford—When Vernon Hopkins, Dead Indian district rancher, ran afoul of the depression he set out a string of traps. This month he brought his pelts to the courthouse and received $114 in bounties for 32 coyotes and six bobcats. In December his check was $186, for 62 coyotes.

Gold Beach—To build or not to build a new courthouse is a question which is much discussed in Curry county. Assurance that a PWA grant would be available was given several weeks ago. C. C. Hockley visited Gold Beach last week and urged immediate action in order to prevent cancellation of the grant. As considerable opposition has been voiced by taxpayers of various parts of the county, the county court called a meeting here to discuss the matter from all angles to decide whether or not a special election on the question should be held.

Vale—One hundred thousand rabbits in the Snake, Malheur and Willow creek valleys were sent to the clover patches and carrot fields of rabbit heaven last week in a determined drive by the United States biological survey, the CCC's in Malheur county, and County Agent R. G. Larson to rid the country of the pests. For the past two weeks, crews have been poisoning the rabbits in all irrigated sections. Several rabbit drives were held but the chief reliance has been on the poisoning method. Larson said Thursday that 100,000 was a conservative estimate and that probably two or three times that number had been killed.

1935 Hops on Hand
Salem—A total of 21,000 bales of 1935 hops are still in the growers' hands. Approximately 1500 bales of hops were sold last week at prices ranging from 5 to 9 cents.

Prunes Pay $300,000
Milton—The annual report of the Prune Growers' Co-operative organization claims that $30,000 was returned to growers during the past season because of the organization. Last year was the first in several that a price greater than cost of production was received, it is claimed.
