

CITY COUNCIL PASSES PARKING LAW ORDINANCE

PARKING AUTHORIZED AT 35 DEGREE ANGLE.

Council Also Endorses Installation of City Drinking Fountain on Main Street

The city council passed an ordinance last week affecting car parking regulations on Main street between first and third streets, and H. A. Pankow of the city police department supervised the painting of parking lanes in that section of the street Wednesday and Thursday.

B. S. Kingsley presided at the meeting as acting mayor in the absence of F. C. McKenzie.

The ordinance states that no person shall park a car or vehicle except as follows: "All cars and vehicles parked upon Main street between First and Third streets, shall be parked upon the right hand side of the street so that the right front wheel shall be placed at not to exceed one foot from the curb and the car or vehicle shall stand at an angle of approximately 35 degrees to the curb line and shall be placed so that the car or vehicle shall occupy no part of more than one space. In cases where the spaces for parking are marked on the streets or curbs. All cars and vehicles parked upon all other streets of the city, except the above mentioned portion of Main street, shall be parked upon the right hand side of the street so that one front wheel and one back wheel shall be placed at not to exceed one foot from the curb and the car or vehicle shall stand parallel with the curb line. All cars and vehicles receiving or discharging a heavy load shall be permitted to park with hind wheels to the curb line."

Furthermore, the ordinance states that "all cars and vehicles receiving or discharging a heavy load shall be permitted to park with hind wheels to the curb line. No trucks of more than 16 feet over all in length nor car nor truck with trailer shall be permitted to park on Main street between First and Third streets, or Gladys street between Gladys avenue and Main street, or Gladys avenue between First street and the tracks of the Union Pacific railroad.

In the matter of installing a drinking fountain on Main street action was taken by the council in the appointment of W. W. Felthouse, N. R. Mueller and B. Haneline on a committee given full power to purchase and install the fountain. Roy Hale, who operates the Hale's Confectionery, offered to refrigerate the water for the fountain and because of that the fountain will be placed on the sidewalk in front of Hale's. Installation will probably be made within the next week.

The council endorsed application by Ben C. Connor for a beer license.

WALTHER OTT WILL WED MISS MAXINE PETERSON AUGUST 27.

Announcement of the coming marriage of Walther Ott, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Ott of Columbia district, and Miss Maxine Peterson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. S. H. Peterson of Corvallis, was made at a lawn party held at the Ott home Sunday honoring Mrs. Peterson and daughter who are their guests for several days. August 27 is the date set for the ceremony.

A large number of friends from Hermiston and the Columbia district were present during the afternoon. Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Ott and daughter Edna.

Walther Ott was a graduate of Oregon State College of the class of 1934, an honor student in the school of agriculture and spent the following year in obtaining his degree. Miss Peterson is a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. S. H. Peterson, head of the English department at the Oregon State college. For the past year she has been engaged in teaching in California.

SLEEPY OZARK HILLS BACKGROUND OF ROMANCE.

A love story set in the sleepy Ozark village of Mill Stream, high in the hills, is the background for "Girl of the Ozarks," Paramount film starring eight-year-old Virginia Weidler, scheduled to be at the Oasis theatre Wednesday and Thursday.

The picture tells of the hardships of a spirited mountain child, daughter of a family of poor hill folk and considered a "good-for-nothing" by members of the small community. Left Erikson and Elizabeth Russell, Lief the publisher of the "Mill Stream Clarion," and Elizabeth a mountain girl who has been educated in the city, are principals of the love story.

Virginia's attempt to meet the baffling problems of school, and the difficulties which eventually lead to her confinement in the country home, make a touching story for the talented little star. Customs and superstitions of the hill people run through the tale and give it additional color.

EARLY DAY HISTORY ASKED FOR BY HERALD.

Pictures, old letters and data pertaining to the early life and history of the Umatilla and all other irrigation projects and towns is requested by the Herald for its special thirty year anniversary edition which will be published September 17th. If all persons having this information, will bring it into the office, it will aid materially in making all historical sketches as nearly correct as possible. Pioneers who have grown with the project and nearby districts and made their homes here for years, are asked to drop in at the Herald office in the near future so that a sketch may be secured of all the old pioneers. If names of friends who formerly lived here will be written out and brought in, copies of the edition will be mailed to them. Any person who has lived in this territory 20 years or more should bring in their name and receive an interview. All these things will aid in making this anniversary edition a correct record of the history of the region and the Herald is asking your support and cooperation in this effort.

OREGON STATERS' DANCE IN PENDLETON, AUGUST 22

An Oregon Staters' dance will be held on the tennis courts in Pendleton Saturday, August 22. Several dances have been given at the courts this summer and are said to have been very good.

Numerous rushing affairs are scheduled throughout the state and the staters' dance is eastern Oregon's version. Young people planning to enter colleges are especially urged to attend. The dance will be open to the public.

Much interest is being shown according to Ralph May and Verda Wagner of Pendleton, who were named chairmen at a recent banquet meeting of Oregon State students and alumni. Inquiries have come from as far as Condon.

Tickets will be on sale at the Herald office and the Farm Bureau Co-operative.

HOMEMAKERS' VACATION CAMP

Several local women returned Sunday from a week spent at the Homemakers' vacation camp held at Tollgate, bringing enthusiastic reports from the camp. These ladies include Mrs. Wm. Kik, Mrs. J. H. Reid, Mrs. Henry Hooker, Mrs. Jens Skovbo, Mrs. W. A. Sawyer, Mrs. Wm. Benschel and Miss Elva Berry of Stanfield. Miss Frances Clinton, county home demonstration agent, had arranged a program with educational, recreational and rest periods with classes given in pottery making. Lectures were given at intervals by the county nurse, county librarian and a man from the forest service. Two good cooks were provided by the camp and in the evenings the ladies enjoyed a fireside rendezvous.

On Friday evening a Gypsy party was planned and the ladies were sent out on the trail to find their dinner which was hidden along the trail leading to the picnic grounds. The vacation camp is an annual vacation period for homemakers and the hope is expressed that more will take advantage of the opportunities offered next year. The camp broke up Sunday afternoon and the vacationers returned home.

Home extension classes for the Hermiston Unit will be resumed the last Tuesday in September.

"VIGORBILT" IN HATCHERY LINE FOURTEEN YEARS

TRAP NESTED HENS PRODUCE EGGS FOR CHICK STOCK.

Plant Has Incubator Capacity of 37,000 Eggs; Pedigreed Cockerels Used for Breeding Purposes.

N. J. Vanskike's "Vigorbilt" hatchery in the edge of Hermiston has been in business 14 years. The institution was started in the Walla Walla valley with a 400 egg incubator and 100 trap nested high producing hens. Mr. Vanskike moved his plant here five years ago and this year hatched 50,000 birds.

He has now 1100 White Leghorn trap nested hens from which he secures his eggs and in addition to hens, he carries on a large turkey hatching business.

The plant has an incubator capacity of 37,000 eggs and he has installed during the last two years, capacity of 24,000 eggs in new Jamesway electric incubators. It has a semi-basement building 30x60 feet and the ventilation has been greatly improved. The Jamesway is the very latest in hatching equipment. The laying house is 22x200 feet, divided into eight pens. Each pen holds 150 birds.

Part of the laying house is double walled and part single, and during the past five years only one winter season of a few nights required brooder stoves. There is a new brooder house 20x48 divided into three compartments of 2400 capacity total. Two broods are carried through during the season. The plant has also another building 16x18 divided into two mating pens where all pedigree work is done from high record hens from the main flocks. The offspring from this special mating stuff is all wing-banded at day old, so a complete record is thereby kept of the breeding of each bird.

The pedigreed cockerels are used for the breeding at the plant and to put out flocks from which the Vigorbilt buy eggs. Particular attention is paid to the selection of hens for special mating, not only as to high egg production, but for vigor and longevity, and standard leghorn type capable of producing a lot of eggs during her lifetime. The plant still has hens used for breeders, five years old and still heavy producers as shown by the trap nest. This special mating and production of cockerels produces good dividends in the type of birds and in the marketing of a wonderful quality of eggs. The Vigorbilt birds have won at every show where they have exhibited. Has two silver cups at Walla Walla, and have won a fair share of the premiums at the project fair each year, and will have a large exhibit this year. They were placed third at the Pacific International last year against strong competition.

In addition to the White Leghorns the plant has just hatched 600 Rhode Island Reds from the best breeding stock in the Northwest. Vigorbilt will sell day old chicks from these pullets and has made a contract with the house to furnish more eggs next year. There is a need and demand for heavier birds than the Leghorns and Vigorbilt will cater to that trade from now on in this territory in addition to continuing with more volume and further improved breeding in the Leghorn line. The plant now has an order for 3000 fryers of the heavy type and cannot find the eggs in the northwest to supply the order.

Mr. Vanskike believes that the hens on this project should be increased to 200,000 and that an assembling plant should be built for better care of the eggs for marketing. There is no danger of over production of poultry and poultry products.

R. G. Penney of Stanfield is going out of the poultry business because of lack of time due to other interests. He has a laying house on his farm near Stanfield with a capacity for 480 hens and has carried them to full capacity every year except this one. The house is modern in every detail with water furnished by an automatic well system.

Mr. Penney has been in the business since 1927 and now is looking for a competent person to make use of the laying house and poultry equipment on his farm and also on the Wm. Horgman place, where there is equipment to run 1000 laying hens.

Mr. Penney says, "The poultry business has always made money and the country is naturally adapted to chicken raising."

High School Teacher Elected.

Mrs. Beulah V. Adams of Seattle has been elected by the school board of District No. 14 to teach two classes in English, music and domestic science. The board has not yet been able to secure a coach but hopes to have an announcement within the next week.
