LIVESTOCK SHIPPERS ASSN. MEMBERSHIP RECOMMENDED.

Considerable interest is being taken in the formation of an association designed to market livestock for our local growers. It is recognized that the entire county will ultimately be served.

All stock will be delivered to the Farmers' Union Commission company of north Portland. This organization is building a splendid reputation for service and the producing of good returns for the growers. Details will be published in this column at a later date. In the meantime, those who desire more information may interview R. G. Penney at the Grange Cooperative.

SEWING CLUB ENTERTAINS STANFIELD GRANGE TUESDAY

The 4-H Sewing club girls entertained the Stanfield Grange at its meeting Tuesday, August 11. Neva Hedrick directed the program which consisted of a guitar solo by Cecil Brown; reports on 4-H club summer school by Awilda Bleakney and Neil Bleakney, Jr.; a talk was given on health and hygiene by Mrs. J. M. Richards. Refreshments of punch and cookies were served by Mrs. L. F. Wooster and Mrs. Fred Stewart.

MANY SPECIAL 4-H AWARDS OFFERED AT OREGON FAIR.

Twelve purebred animals, including four hogs, five lambs and three dairy calves will be awarded to outstanding 4-H club boys and girls exhibiting the various breeds at the Oregon State fair September 7 to 13, according to the 4-H premium list pamphlet recently received at the state club office at O.S.C. These are known as "specials" and are in addition to the numerous cash prizes, trophies and other premiums offered.

These animals are awarded by prominent breeders and breed associations as a means of encouraging the young farmers in the use of high quality animals. In the swine divisions, M. Averhoff of Lebanon is offering a Duroc Jersey gilt; Cass Nichols of Salem a Poland China gilt; Harms Brothers of Canby a Chester White gilt, and Wilmer Averhoff, Altam, a Berkshire gilt.

The sheep specials include a Shropshire ewe lamb offered by Virgil E. Parker of Blachley; a Hampshire ewe lamb offered by the Union County Hampshire association, with Clayton Fox of Imbler making the award this year; a Hampshire ewe lamb by Frank Brown and sons of Carlton; and Oxford lamb by C. P. Kizer and son of Harrisburg; and a Lincoln ewe lamb by Ernest D. Holsington of Monmouth.

The Oregon Jersey Cattle club heifer calf will be awarded this year by Elizabeth Forrest & Son of Mc Minnville. The Holstein special is offered this year by a prominent Oregon breeder not named in the premium list, and the Oregon Guernsey Cattle club special will be a heifer calf awarded this year by F. H. Stangel of Sherwood.

The basis of awards for each of these specials is outlined in the premium list, some of them requiring special entry by club members planning to compete. The pamphlet lists exhibit classes for practically all 4-H project divisions, as well as numerous special contests and demonstration for both boys and girls.

U. S. SEED QUARANTINE PROTECT VETCH GRASS.

The request of Oregon seed producers to have a plant quarantine placed against imported vetch and certain types of pea seed has been approved by Washington authorities and such a quarantine went into effect on August 1, O.S.C. officials have been notified.

The quarantine order, issued by the secretary of agriculture, says that it has been determined that certain imported vetch and pea seeds are frequently infested with one or more species of seed weevils, particularly the vetch bruchid. Heretofore no inspection had been made of these seeds for this pest, but from now on entry of such seeds will have to meet rigid requirements.

This affords additional protection to the Oregon industry to that now provided by state quarantine, say the O.S.C. men. The highly destructive vetch bruchid has already become established in certain eastern and south Atlantic states where it is said to threaten the eastern vetch seed industry. Effective control of this pest has not been worked out and every effort is being made to keep it from spreading to the western states.

AAA LIVESTOCK PROGRAM MAY BE COMPLETED SOON.

Early formulation of a concrete plan for livestock producers of the western states to cooperate under the agricultural conservation program appears certain as stockmen at state meetings throughout the west voiced approval of such action.

Oregon stockmen at the state conference at Pendleton not only urged completion of a detailed program but provided definite assistance in formulating detailed practices of range improvement that might qualify for benefit payments under the act.

As a result of action at the meeting a committee of active stockmen representing various parts of the state and interests involved has been appointed to work with representatives of Oregon State college in working out specific proposals. This favorable action was taken only after those at the meeting had been positively assured by D. C. Mumford and other federal AAA representatives that the proposed program would be a range improvement and not a livestock reduction program.

Principles he laid down at the outset were that it would not be based on mere reduction of livestock numbers; that the AAA is not interested in shifting the livestock industry from the west to farther east, nor in increasing range for wild life to the detriment of livestock, and that it is not tied up in any way with past or future protesting tax proposals.

Tentative range improving practices suggested by stockmen for possible inclusion are water development, including water spreading and water hole and well improvement; rodent control, fencing for grazing control, alternate and deferred grazing, and range reseeding.

If developed the program would not apply exclusively to eastern Oregon in this state but would be applicable in any section where conditions are such as to meet the specifications drawn up, it was explained.

SOIL CONSERVATION CONTRACTS BEING CHECKED AT PENDLETON

The 239 soil conservation agreement contracts signed by farmers in this section of Umatilla county were checked at Pendleton this week by C. L. Upham and F. S. Greene on the county committee. These contracts have been sent to Corvallis for final checking and action in this field will start in the near future, it is thought by members of the committee.

Actual compliance with the contracts will take place immediately upon final reports on the contracts through Corvallis and Washington, D. C.

Claude Myers is also a member of the committee but was not present at Pendleton at the checking.

INFORMATION ON BANGS' DISEASE REACTOR HERDS GIVEN

Official information is now available relative to the permissibility of conducting more than four tests on herds which have shown reactors on each successive test.

According to information received from the county agent's office, it is now permissible to conduct additional tests for Bang's disease on herds as may be required to accredit or duly certify them under the state plan, and this may mean that more than four tests, where reactors have been shown in each successive test, will be required, and this will be permissible at Bureau expense, provided the owner signs Amendment No. 1 to B.A.L. form T.E. 33 Revised (Agreement).

Not more than two herds should be applied at Bureau expense in cases where neither reactor nor suspect is found as the result of two successive tests. If the owner desires to have additional tests at his own expense or at the expense of the state or other agency after the herd has passed two negative tests, he will be entitled to receive Federal indemnity payment for any reactors that may be found in these later tests, PROVIDED THE TEST HAS BEEN SPECIFICALLY AUTHORIZED BY THE PORTLAND OFFICE and is conducted in the same manner as is followed in the regular official work. These reinfected herds may again be tested at Bureau expense if desired until they pass two negative tests.

Harrowing No Help to Wild Hay.

LAKEVIEW—Spike tooth harrowing of 50 acres of wild meadow hay land on the Robert L. Weir ranch on Crooked Creek apparently did not increase the yield of hay from this land, according to County Agent Vic Johnson, who checked up on the results early in July. He found that the hay appeared no thicker on the ground and had not made a taller growth on the spike toothed area as compared with other wild meadow hay land.

BEEF AND PIG CLUB STOCK WEIGHTS ARE GIVEN.

The regular monthly weighing of stock owned by members of the purebred beef and pig 4-H clubs was made last week by Assistant County Agent W. A. Sawyer. The three heaviest calves were owned by Leo Rueber, Stanfield, weighing 1225 pounds, showing a gain of 3.13 pounds per day; Gale Martin, Echo, weighing 1066 pounds, showing a gain of 3 pounds per day; and Neil Bleakney, Echo, weighing 995 pounds.

Calves making the highest average gain over the entire feeding period are those owned by Leo Rueber, 219 days feeding, 2.76 pounds; Marie Olson, 205 days feeding, 2.76 pounds; and by Gale Martin, 218 days feeding, 2.69 pounds.

Marie Olson's calf made the best gain over a 32 day feeding period, of 3.38 pounds. The best gains in the pig clubs over a 32 day period were made by stock owned by Eldon Saylor, gaining 1.78 pounds per day, now weighing 138 lbs.; Bernard Jendrzewski has a pen of five head making an average gain of 1.63 lbs. per day, and weighing 134 lbs. each; Marie Olson's stock gained 1.66 lbs. per day, and weighs 135 lbs.

The club members have not been crowding their stock to avoid danger of over weight, but will feed well during the period prior to the Pacific International Livestock Exposition in Portland where their stock will be shown. Two earlocks will be taken from the west end of Umatilla county.

OREGON BUTTER BETTER EACH YEAR, TESTS SHOW.

Average Oregon butter quality continued to rise during the past year, according to the seventh annual report of the monthly butter scoring and analysis service carried on by the dairy department at Oregon State college in cooperation with the Oregon Dairy Products Improvement association.

The proportion of the butter which scored 92 or better this past year increased by 9 per cent, while the amount scoring below 91 dropped nearly 7 per cent. The number of samples scoring below 90 was only 3.6 per cent during the past year, as compared with 20.5 per cent in 1929, the first year the service was conducted. On the other hand the percentage of butter scoring 92 to 94 has reached 49.5 per cent, as compared with only 7.8 per cent seven years ago.

CO-OP CLEANINGS

SUPERIOR, Wis.—One of the most far reaching decisions of the recent annual meeting of the Central Cooperative Wholesale was a move toward the establishment of a National Cooperative College. Delegates from more than 100 cooperative stores affiliated with the wholesale voiced the opinion that the rapid growth of consumers' cooperatives in every section of the country has made it imperative to train competent managers and employees for cooperatives. To meet this need the board of directors of the cooperative was instructed to take initial steps, along with the cooperative wholesalers, toward the establishment of a national cooperative college.

As a first step in this educational program an eight weeks training school for present and prospective cooperative employees was authorized for this fall. The training school will probably be held in Superior under the direct supervision of Central Cooperative Wholesale and the Northern States Cooperative League.

New Land Grows Best Alfalfa.

REDMOND—Alfalfa growing on new land was found to be doing much better than alfalfa on land of the same type which has been in alfalfa before when County Agent Gus Hagglund visited the farm of A. L. Houmard at Terrebonne this summer. The field had been enlarged by clearing additional land, and the line where the old field ended and the new began was plainly evident. Samples of soil sent to O.S.C. for analysis showed the new land to contain a higher percentage of nitrogen. An attempt was made to improve conditions by applying sulfate of ammonia at the rate of 150 pounds per acre to a strip of the old land after the first crop had been removed, but observation of the field three weeks later showed no visible effect from the nitrogen fertilizer, Mr. Hagglund reports.

Polk Hairy Vetch Yields Vary.

DALLAS—Yields of hairy vetch seed on Polk county farms show a wide variation this year, says County Agent J. R. Beck. There are approximately 5000 acres of this crop in the county, and the reported yields have run from 60 to as high as 1000 pounds per acre. Some of the best yields have been from relatively poor crop land.
