Blue shirts and striped overalls, straw hats and bandana handkerchiefs, print dresses and sun bonnets will be seen on the streets of Hermiston and in country districts during the next two weeks worn by local citizens who are supporting the Umatilla Project fair to be staged September 17-19. Every citizen who will aid in advertising the annual project fair will wear this attire, starting Monday, September 7th.

Mayor F. C. McKenzie has issued the following proclamation:

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS: That I, F. C. McKenzie, Mayor of the City of Hermiston, by virtue of the authority in me vested, in order to show our appreciation of the Umatilla Project fair and to advertise the same, do hereby order all citizens of the City of Hermiston to dress as follows from September 7 to 19, inclusive: All male citizens shall wear striped overalls, blue cambric shirt, red bandana handkerchief and old style straw hat; All female citizens shall wear cotton print dresses and sunbonnets. Anyone violating any of the provisions of this order will be dealt with accordingly.

F. C. McKENZIE, Mayor.

For the first time in the history of the fair an attempt is being made at dress up to advertise the project fair and those who have been contacted are going into it with enthusiasm.

The committee in charge states that the ladies need not wear an extreme style either in sun bonnet or cotton print dress. Displays are being placed about town and patterns for sun bonnets may be seen in the Herald office window. No certain style of sun bonnet is required.

All persons who can be asked to wear their regulation outfit to the fair queen dance Saturday night at the new auditorium building on the fair grounds when the fair queen and her six attendants will be elected.

CONSTRUCTION UMATILLA DAM WILL SOLVE MIGRATION PROBLEM

The Umatilla Rapids dam for immediate construction is before President Roosevelt today and Congressman Walter M. Pierce is pressing the matter with all the force of his official, political and personal energy. He spent part of last Friday and again on Monday for several hours in Hermiston studying the situation with officials of the Wallula Gateway club and other citizens, and Tuesday evening forwarded a letter by air mail and brief of the new argument to the president, urging immediate construction.

The question has been brought to fresh attention because of the tremendous immigration of drought sufferers of the midwest and the Pacific Northwest, which will increase the demand for relief and employment. The Umatilla rapids dam survey are complete and the whole thing is ready to go. An order from the president and allocation of part of the funds would provide work for nearly 5000 persons, directly on the works and indirectly in housing and otherwise caring for the men employed on the dam.

It was also shown to the congressman that many houses could be built on small tracts at motor distances of one to 20 miles which could be used for employees on the works during construction, and salvaged to farmers after the work was completed. Instead of a barracks arrangement at the dam which would be useless or of small salvage value after the workers were removed, the same materials and labor could be cashed in at fair prices to farmers on tracts of land, or in towns, at the same time the necessary housing be accomplished.

This measure has been proposed and accepted by army engineers on other public works. The situation of necessary employment to farmers, who are without means of support, and a chance to improve their tracts and re-establish themselves on the land, during hours not employed, and of being permitted to buy a home at a very reasonable cost, is expected to appeal to the president.

It was estimated that over 2000 such farms could be made available within driving distances of the dam site. And because of the length of the dam and easy access to construction on all parts, and because of mild winter climate, many of these distressed farmers could be set to work very soon. Otherwise the states and government will be at the expense of caring for them and their families this winter and directly providing means for them to return to farming.

Some of them have a little money but most of them have only a car and a trailer, big families, and few goods, and are looking already for relief and employment and small leases on farm tracts, or houses in town of which there are none available in the Pacific Northwest.
