"Arguments kin often start," a lot o' folks jes' natchelly like to said Uncle Eben, "not so much because sumpin' is wrong as because argue."

Il Duce Greets Mothers and Their Children

Fecundity being the most desirable feminine virtue, in the eyes of Premier Mussolini, these Italian mothers at Potenza brought their offspring with them when they gathered to meet Il Duce. Premier Mussolini is here shown chatting with a group of mothers, during his visit to Potenza. For several years, Mussolini and his Fascist government have urged the rearing of large families. Various government funds have been appropriated to give financial aid to families with several children, and the result has been a gradual increase in Italy's birthrate. Germany under the Hitler government has also used similar schemes to check the declining birth rate and to increase the population. The war and the recent financial distress in European countries has caused a falling off in the population figures, and looking to the future, the militaristic governments have used every means to increase the population.
