

FARM CO-OPERATIVE DIVISION

A MESSAGE TO EVERY MEMBER.

TURKTY PRODUCERS TELL STORY

(Continued from page 1) association pool, usually held early in November. Marketing through this organization has always been profitable and satisfactory, the Bensels believe.

New Grower Found.

Christian Seitz is one of the new growers in Minnehaha district with 225 Narragansetts looking fine for the November market. Mr. Seitz stated that some of his alfalfa froze on the 29 acres in cultivation and he is raising turkeys to make his place productive by raising the birds on the alfalfa following the last cutting. He purchased the eggs from H. G. Rankin and E. G. Tilden, and these were custom hatched by Dr. Theo. Beletski. His brooder house is heated by coal oil and coal stoves.

Mr. Seitz purchases his feed through the Farm Bureau Co-operative and plans to market his birds through the Eastern Oregon Turkey Growers' association.

Third Year as Grower.

For the third year Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Rodda are raising turkeys. They have a flock of 700 bronze birds which were hatched May 21st and the last of June, purchased from Dyanne at Independence, Ore. They use two small houses which were formerly used as chicken houses and are heated by oil stoves. The Roddas expect to increase their flock to 1000 next year.

The Roddas are first settlers and own about 60 acres of land. They grow berries and home fruits in a very productive manner, and also operate a large apary.

Improver Brooder House.

Early this spring Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Harris constructed a fine new brooder house with a capacity of 800 birds, 200 to each unit, with a concrete floor, hot water heating system, and running water both in the house and yard. This year they purchased 500 June poults and these will be ready for the November market.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris are veteran turkey growers and market through the local pool operated by the Eastern Oregon Turkey Growers' association. They farm 30 acres in the Minnehaha district.

Member Turkey Cooperative.

A large brooder house on the C. Flannigan farm in the Minnehaha district with a capacity for 1000 turkey poults, turned out poults which now make up a flock of 1400 bronze birds ranging on the Flannigan alfalfa fields. The Flannigans are in their fourth year as turkey growers, and have made consistent improvements in their equipment. Their brooder house has a concrete floor and hot water heating system.

Mr. Flannigan has been a member of the board of directors for the Eastern Oregon Turkey Growers' association for the past six years, through which annual pool they market their turkeys.

They keep their own breeding stock and custom hatch eggs from their flock in six Master incubators. Mr. and Mrs. Flannigan look after the birds with very little extra help and state that they have always made a fair margin of profit.

Fire Destroys Poults.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry McKenty now have 300 turkeys purchased late in June after losing 800 poults in a brooder house fire this spring. They expect to re-build this fall, constructing a house with a capacity of 1200 birds and a hot water system for heating. These late birds will not be ready for market until December.

Lloyd Peterson is in his second year as a turkey producer and has a flock of 300 birds this fall. He lives next to the Harry McKenty place on the Charles McElroy place.

A. C. PROGRAM WORK SHEETS

Many Umatilla county ranchers who have signed work sheets under the Agricultural Conservation Program may now comply for Class 1 payments by seeding, prior to October 31, crested wheat grass or other perennial grasses and such legumes as alfalfa, salsike and red or sweet clover, by the use of good seed and the practices carried out in a workmanlike manner, according to A. R. Coppock and John W. Crow of the local association.

No deductions are made from Class 1 payments on farms that have at least 7 1/2% of the soil depleting crop acreage of 1935 devoted to soil conserving crops in 1936. There are a number of farms in the county which have an old acreage in soil conserving crops such as alfalfa and crested wheat grass, of from 3 to 10 per cent. Any new seeding this year made prior to October 31 of the crops mentioned, in addition to the acreage on the farm in 1935, may qualify for the Class 1 payment, providing the total acreage classified on the farm in 1936 as soil conserving amounts to 7 1/2% of the soil depleting base.

HERMISTON CLUB GIRL HONORED

Marie Skovbo, Hermiston, returned late last week from Portland where, for three days during the Pacific International Livestock Exposition, she was the guest of the First National Bank of Portland. With Wallace Buholtz, who was unable to make the Portland trip, she was named the outstanding 4-H Club member of Umatilla county and as such was honored during her Portland visit.

In Portland she joined the party of 40 other winners from 20 Oregon counties, occupying two floors of a downtown hotel. As guests of the bank, they attended the Pacific International Livestock Exposition, the horse show, the theatre, the annual 4-H Club banquet, toured the First National Bank and were honored at a dinner party on Tuesday evening at which county agents from all over Oregon and First National Bank officers were present.

Miss Skovbo is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Skovbo, Hermiston, and a junior at the Union high school. In her seven years of club work she has completed projects in cooking, canning, and sewing. Her leaders have been Mrs. W. A. Hine-line and Mrs. W. A. Sawyer.

CO-OP GLEANINGS

By E. H. Dunning.

MAYNARD, MASS.—With every state from Maine to Delaware represented for the first time in its history, delegates representing 13,000 members of constituent societies gathered here May 29, 30 and 31 for the Annual Congress of the Eastern Cooperative League. Thirty-six new organizations, the majority of them from urban areas, were attending their first cooperative convention.

Because of rapidly increasing interest in the cooperative movement in New England and because of the need for a cooperative wholesale to serve existing cooperatives the convention took action designed to create a branch office for the Eastern Cooperative League and Eastern Cooperative Wholesale in Boston.

Delegates from Philadelphia reported the organization of 40 discussion groups, 15 cooperative buying clubs and a Cooperative Center within the last year. Thirty-five cooperative clubs in New Jersey and Metropolitan New York have built a wholesale business volume of almost $1,000 a week. The Massachusetts League of Cooperative Clubs reported organization of six additional clubs in the state and the extension of youth education throughout the territory.

"GREAT MISTAKE"

Says N. D. Ex-Governor

Based on his experience with STATE BANKING

"After ten years of official connection with the governing board of this institution (Bank of North Dakota), I am personally of the opinion that it was a great mistake for the state ever to have established it. I would not advise any state to engage in the banking business with public funds or public credit."

"Our experience should be a lesson to all other states that may be tempted to engage in the experiment."

—Ex-Governor GEORGE F. SHAPER, Bismarck, N.D., Aug. 18, 1935.
