Valueless Comparisons

A COMPARISON may seem more creditable than it really is. To say of a man that his word is as good as his bond may appear quite complimentary; but when it is known that his bond is worthless, the comparison loses its value.

To say that a man is as godly every day of the week as he is on Sunday is little to his credit when he is known to spend his Sundays drinking and gambling. Only when the standard has real value are comparisons with the standard of substantial credit.

New Dialect
Eastern Visitor—Has the advent of the radio helped ranch life?
Pinto Pete—I'll say it has! Why, we learn a new cowboy song every night, and, say—we've found out that the dialect us fellers have used for years is all wrong.

AND NOT SHORTED
"Is a man a good conductor of electricity?"
"Sure, if he's a live wire!"

Real Soaking
A Scot was engaged in an argument with a conductor as to whether the fare was 5 or 10 cents. Finally the disgusted conductor picked up the Scotsman's suitcase and tossed it off the train, just as they passed over a bridge. It landed with a splash.
"Mon," screamed Sandy, "isn't it bad enough to try and overcharge me, but now you try to drown my little boy."—Berkshire Eagle.

He's the Barrier
Dorothy—But, Mother, why do you object to my becoming engaged? Is it because of my youth?
Mother—Yes, he's hopeless. —Pathfinder.

Substantial Estate
Mrs. Murphy—What! You're going to sell up and marry that hard-up lodger of yours? What on earth are you going to live on?
Mrs. O'Flynn—We'll be all right. The poor fellow owes me enough to keep us in comfort for years—Montreal Star.

Oh the Wailing
"And what if you did lose a sixpense on a horse?"
"It's nae only mase! There's sax of us in it!"
