STANDARDS FOR MILK AND CREAM

M. G. Hedwall, manager of the Umatilla Cooperative Creamery, returned Tuesday evening from a conference in Portland, called by S. T. White, state director of agriculture, to discuss the operation of the dairy industry under the new law passed by the legislature recently. The meeting was attended by producers of milk, creamery operators, cheese makers, milk distributors, consumers league officers and any other persons interested in the production, distribution and manufacture of dairy products.

A tentative program as to grades of milk and butter was placed before the conference and all questions affecting the industry was allowed to be raised, and any one attending is permitted to present a brief in the matter before final specifications are adopted before May 1st when the act goes into effect. This program is as follows:

First Grade Milk:

First grade milk is the lactical secretion obtained by the complete milking of one or more healthy cows, properly fed and kept, excluding that obtained within fifteen days before and five days after freshening or such longer period as may be necessary to render the milk colostrum free. When tested for bacteria by the application of the methylene blue test, it must retain the color for a period of not less than five and one-half hours. It shall be free from sediment as determined by the method approved by the department for making such examination, and shall also be free from any sour taste, weedy or pronounced feed flavor, barny, cowy, salty, bitter, or unclean flavor or odor. It shall not be ropy, bloody, nor give any indication of having come from a diseased udder, and shall be delivered to the manufacturing plant in clean and rust free containers. It shall be produced under conditions and methods that conform to the requirements of Section 41-301, Oregon Code, 1930.

Second Grade Milk:

Second grade milk is milk that conforms to the definitions and standards for first grade milk, except that it may be slightly off in flavor, but it must not contain any dirt, filth, oil, or any foreign matter that may render it unfit for human consumption.

Unlawful Milk:

Unlawful milk is milk that contains dirt, filth, oil, or other foreign matter which renders it unfit for human consumption, or milk that is unclean or unwholesome.

Grade A Cream:

Grade A cream is a portion of the lactical secretion obtained by the complete milking of one or more healthy cows properly fed and kept, excluding that obtained fifteen days before and five days after freshening or for such longer period as may be necessary to render the milk from which cream is taken colostrum free; that is high in fat, clean to the taste and smell, smooth, without objectionable flavor or odor, and having, at the time and place of receipt for grading, acidity content not in excess of 0.5 of 1 percent calculated as lactic acid. The fat content thereof should not be less than 28 percent. It must be produced in accordance with the provisions of Section 41-301 and 41-302, Oregon Code 1930.

Grade B Cream:

Grade B Cream is cream that conforms to the definitions and standards for Grade A cream, except that it may have slightly objectionable flavors or odors, is too sour or too old to grade as grade A cream, but it must not show an acidity calculation as lactic acid of more than 0.8 of 1 percent at the time and place of receipt for grading. It must be produced in accordance with the provisions of Sections 41-301 and 41-302 of Oregon Code, 1930.

Grade C Cream:

Grade C cream is cream that conforms to the standards and definitions for Grade B cream, except that it may have acidity of more than 0.8 of 1 percent of acid calculated as lactic acid. It must not be stale, cheesy, rancid, putrid, decomposed, or actively foaming.

Unlawful Cream:

Unlawful cream is cream that contains dirt, filth, oil or other foreign matter which renders it unfit for human consumption, or that is stale, cheesy, rancid, putrid, decomposed, or actively foaming.

Butter Standards.

Grade A Butter: All butter designated, wrapped, sold, or offered or exposed for sale, or distributed to retailers or consumers as of the quality of Grade A shall score 92 points or above, and shall be graded upon a score of a possible 100 points as follows:

1. Flavor 45 points
2. Body and Texture 25 points
3. Color 15 points
4. Salt 10 points
5. Package 5 points

Grade B Butter:

All butter designated, wrapped, sold, offered or exposed for sale or distributed to retailers or consumers as of the quality of Grade B shall score less than 92 points but not less than 80 points.

Grade C Butter: O

All butter designated, wrapped, sold, offered or exposed for sale or distributed to retailers or consumers as of the quality of Grade C shall score less than 80 points and not less than 65 points.

Note: Heretofore the use of the emblems A, B and C have been voluntary upon the part of the butter manufacturer and distributor. Under Chapter 279 these grades now become compulsory, and the use of any other designations in describing the quality of butter is prohibited.

COOPERATION AS AN ENTITY

The Cooperative Retail Societies of Great Britain have over seven and a half million members who, with their families represent more than half of the nation organized as buyers, consumers, and users of goods and services. The members own the Movement, they rule and direct the Movement through elected representatives, and they provide the Market for the Movement. They own their own stores, warehouses, factories, workshops, coal-mines, etc.

Cooperation in Great Britain is now the biggest distributor, biggest miller, biggest baker, biggest tea-merchant, dairyman, furniture maker, boot and shoemaker, biggest grocery and provision dealer.

In 1935 the Movement employed 300,000 workers, all of whom are eligible, have to be Trade Unionists, receive trade union rates of wages, have holidays with pay, part pay during sickness, and half of whom are covered by pension schemes.

In 1935 the trade transacted by the Movement amounted to over a billion dollars.

Cooperation in Britain runs an Insurance Society, and most of its members are covered by free insurance, but, of course, may take out such personal policies as they wish.

Cooperation has its own bank which transacts business not only for the Movement and its members, but for nearly all the Trade Unions. When ultimately the time comes, as it must and will come, when Labor and Cooperation take control of Britain, when not half of the population, but all of them are cooperators, then we shall see a nation in which poverty and destitution will no longer exist, where exploitation will no longer be tolerated—a Co-operative Commonwealth owned by the people, run by the people, for the people.

CONSUMERS' COOPERATIVES IN ACTION

Indianapolis—The Indiana Farm Bureau Cooperative Association broke its $5,000,000 quota in 1935 when the total volume of gas, oil, farm supplies and other commodities handled, amounted to $5,187,457, an increase of $783,000 or 16 percent over its sales in 1934. Savings of the wholesale grew from $110,000 to $131,000 in 1935. The cooperative is now serving 92 retail cooperative associations in Indiana.

North Kansas City, Missouri—Consumers Cooperative Association, organized in 1930 with six retail oil cooperatives as members, added 29 new retail cooperatives to its membership and $1,110,000 to its volume in 1935. Now serving 342 member cooperatives in eight central western states, C.C.A. boosted its business from $2,646,861 in 1935 to $3,756,395 in 1936, a gain of 41 percent.

Columbus, Ohio—Contracts for construction of 620 miles of cooperative power lines were completed in January. Cooperative lines in Champaign, Loraine, Medina and Holmes counties were energized; several new projects were approved in Washington and the cooperative electrification in the state in general moved forward rapidly. With 2000 farm homes already using power from newly erected cooperative power lines it is estimated that nearly 10,000 Ohio farms will be served with cooperative electricity before the end of the year.

Roosts and Dropping Boards

Dropping boards usually placed about 20 inches from the floor for a low ceiling and from 30 to 33 inches where the ceiling is 6 1-2 feet or more above the floor, should be about 10 inches wider than the roosts and be made of matched flooring running from front to back and with nails well clinched so they can easily be cleaned. Roosts should be put from 6 to 8 inches above the droppin' boards and all on the same level to prevent the fowls from fighting to get on the highest one. Roosts should be spaced about two inches apart for small breeds and 13 inches for large ones, while the space allowance on roosts should vary from 7 to 10 inches for different breeds. Scantlings 2 by 2 or 2 by 4, and with the upper sides planed smooth and rounded, are satisfactory for perches.
