 Disturbances by stray dogs has become a nightly occurrence and citizens are complaining because their rest is interrupted. They have a right to utter complaints.

 People who have dogs should keep them in at night to prevent the danger of packing and damage resulting to sheep or other unprotected animals, to say nothing of the noise and barking which disturbs the rest of sleeping citizens.
 Check on your pet dog at night to make sure he is not prowling in strange neighborhoods.
 While men are struggling to get back to work and earning wages in the steel industrial centers, there are no pickets in this busy farming region.
 We cannot imagine any farmer's wife, who cleans lamp chimneys and spills coal oil day by day, not demanding that her husband sign the card of membership in the new REA. Right there she will press the button.

Again we may use the old proverb, "It is an ill wind that blows no good." While the rains made some of the hay musty, they did make the grain grow and the other crops awakened into knee deep in June, though a little late in June.
