Farm Bureau Will Close.

The Farm Bureau Cooperative will close on Labor Day, which is Monday, September 7th. The plant will also be closed Friday and Saturday afternoons, September 3 and 4, during the Umatilla Project fair, opening again about 5:00 o'clock each evening. Patrons are requested to note this arrangement.

REA WIRING LOAN PROCEDURE GIVEN

Coincident with the announcement of the REA policy intended to insure that farmsteads be efficiently wired before electricity will be made available, increased interest has been shown in many areas on the availability of REA funds for wiring installations.

When money is obtained for wiring loans, there are several plans which may be followed. Many borrowers have successfully used the procedure described below.

The project superintendent, with necessary assistants, makes a survey of each farm to be served and lists on a survey from the number of various type outlets service entrances, feet of wire between buildings and other material required.

The farms are then divided into groups of 50 or more, all centralized in one area. Data shown on survey forms for all houses in each group are incorporated in specifications upon which competitive bids may be taken from electrical contractors. Unit prices will be given for the amount of work indicated on outlets, switches, service entrances, distribution panels, outside wire per foot in place, yard lights, and other material necessary.

The successful bidder on each group then delivers the materials to each farm and collects 20 percent of the price of the job from the farmer. The contractor then obtains the farmer's signed note and payment contract for the balance, made out in the name of the cooperative.

After completing his wiring installation, the contractor obtains a certificate of inspection and approval from the inspector to whom he pays the predetermined fee. The contractor presents this certificate, together with one from the farmer asserting that he is satisfied with the work done, to the project superintendent. He gets his money for the work performed within 10 days after completion and acceptance of the job.

REA wiring financing is not limited to jobs performed on a group basis only. Any individual job may be financed, but the contractor must first present his order from the farmer to the project superintendent and have it approved.

The wiring program proposed in the Manual of Wiring and Plumbing Procedure, has been well received in all sections of the country. This program is the outgrowth of efforts of REA to assist farmers in getting safe and adequate wiring installations and at the same time have the work done for him at a fair price. The financing is made available so that those who do not have immediate cash available can wire their buildings at once and connect to the lines rather than waiting. It will also permit adequate installations on farms where cash requirements would limit the wiring to the bare necessities for lighting alone. The cost of the service extension beyond that allowed in the line construction contract, may also be included in the financing. The customer, after making a 20 percent down payment, is allowed up to 5 years to pay the balance.

It is essential that all farms to get electricity be wired as soon as possible. To delay may be costly if the contractor building the transmission lines has to make a special trip to provide a transformer and a service wire. The farmer will benefit further by lower prices if he will have his farmstead wired while the

CO-OPERATORS SAIL FOR PARIS CONGRESS

(Co-op League News Service)

NEW YORK—With five delegates to the International Cooperative Alliance Triennial Congress already in Europe, several prominent American and British cooperators sailed today on the Queen Mary to take part in the Paris conference September 6 to 9. Among those sailing today were Sydney Elliott, editor of Reynolds News, London, and Mrs. Elliott, E. R. Bowen, general secretary of the Cooperative League of the U.S.A., E. G. Cort, manager of Midland Cooperative Wholesale, Mrs. Cort, Mrs. Platt and Mary Cordier, Minneapolis.

A special broadcast will be made from the I.C.A. Congress in Paris September 8 when Vaino Tanner, President of the International Alliance and Howard A. Cowden, president of Consumers Cooperative Association, North Kansas City, will speak to American cooperators. The broadcast will be from 6:15 to 6:30, EDST, and will be carried by the coast-to-coast network of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

The five delegates already in Europe are Mr. and Mrs. Cowden, Edward A. Filene, Robert Smith, Eastern Cooperative League, and Lionel Perkins, Cooperative Institute.

CO-OPS ONLY WAY TO MEET PRICE FIXING

CO-OPS ONLY WAY TO MEET PRICE FIXING

(Co-op League News Service)

NEW YORK—Rising prices, stimulated by the passage of the Miller-Tydings Price Maintenance Bill which was signed by President Roosevelt last week, although detrimental to consumers, will create added interest in consumers cooperatives, according to E. R. Bowen, general secretary of The Cooperative League of the U.S.A.

The Miller-Tydings Bill makes it possible for manufacturers to fix the retail price of goods by contracts with distributors and retailers. This is directly contrary to the provisions of the Sherman Anti-Trust law under which the government is now prosecuting a score of manufacturers for price fixing.

With legislative action to prevent consumer exploitation waived, the consumer must turn to economic action through cooperative buying to meet rising prices. Co-ops organized on Rochdale principles sell goods to their members at market prices and return the overcharge as a savings return. With skyrocketing prices the co-ops will automatically have wider margins to operate on and the savings return will make it possible to get goods to the consumer at a just price. Queried by a New York Times reporter about the legality of returning the overcharge on branded goods, Mr. Bowen pointed out that "co-ops have to return their savings to their members—it's the only thing they can do".

European co-ops, opposing the price fixing policies of cartels and monopolies, have faced boycotts of manufacturers who refused to supply the co-ops with branded goods. As a result the co-ops were forced to build factories and produce goods for themselves, making even greater savings to the consumers. "If American manufacturers attempt to follow the same policy of boycotting the co-ops we will be increasingly forced to produce our own merchandise", Mr. Bowen declared.

LEAF HOPPERS INVADE OREGON

LEAF HOPPERS INVADE OREGON

(Co-op League News Service)

CORVALLIS—The little black hopping beetles that have invaded Oregon cabbage and kale fields this summer, laying some of them waste by chewing up the leaves, is a new species of leaf hopper observed first in this state about two years ago, say the entomologists at Oregon State college. Little is known of its life history, but the use of rotenone dust has been the most effective in its control.

POULTRYMEN TO MEET SEPT. 14

POULTRYMEN TO MEET SEPT. 14

(Co-op League News Service)

CORVALLIS—The fourteenth annual poultrymen's convention, consisting of an educational program sponsored and arranged by the poultry department at Oregon State college, will be held Tuesday, September 14, in the Memorial Union building here, announces H. E. Cosby, head of the department. The program will consist of matters of interest to chicken and egg producers, as a similar day for turkey growers was held recently.

Auxiliary Met Friday.

The last meeting of the Farm Bureau Auxiliary was held Friday, August 20th, in the club house with Mrs. Grace Foster, Mrs. E. Ryland, Mrs. H. M. Sommerer, Mrs. J. Jendrzewski and Mrs. Baxter Hutchison in charge.

Mrs. Emma Christley told of her recent trip into California when she visited the Golden Gate. Mrs. Jesse Hooker told of the Homemaker's Camp activities.

No meeting will be held September 3rd which comes on fair dates. The next meeting will be September 17th with Mrs. F. Guivits, Mrs. Harry Connor, Mrs. E. H. Dunning, Mrs. H. J. Ott and Mrs. C. A. Lynch serving on the committee. An invitation is extended to all neighbors and friends of the Auxiliary.

BETTER BREEDING OF TURKEYS

Better breeding is the next big step in establishing Oregon's turkey industry on a firm and profitable basis, is the belief of a number of speakers at the second annual turkey day, which drew 200 growers to the campus of Oregon State college recently.

This subject was introduced by H. E. Cosby, head of the poultry department, and elaborated on by Noel Bennion, new extension specialist. Bennion pointed out that systematic breeding in turkeys is comparatively new, even though it has been highly developed with chickens for many decades. Four factors he suggested in the selection of turkey breeding stock, as well as with other animals, are the individual characteristics, the ancestry, the type or family, including brothers and sisters, and the progeny test, which means the actual performance of the animal as shown in the offspring.

Bennion said that the development of good breeding of foundation stock will make it possible for commercial growers to buy stock from these foundation breeders. It may be possible, he said, to breed out such things as pendulous crop, crooked breast and other undesirable qualities.

The problem of providing consumers with turkey meat in smaller quantities between holiday seasons was discussed from a number of angles. Herbert Byers, manager of the Northwest Turkey Growers association, is convinced that the plea for "six pound turkeys" is impossible to meet, at least under present circumstances of breeding and feeding, because such a turkey would be far too expensive.

An advertising man, on the other hand, suggested the possibility of putting up turkey meat in small packages of five pounds or less for the retail market. A national advertising campaign, he said, would be too expensive for any one group, but it might be possible to try out a new marketing plan by concentrating in some one western city to start with.

AMERICAN BOY INTRODUCES A NEW FOOTBALL GAME.

In the early fall issues of THE AMERICAN BOY there'll be presented the story of a new game—six-man football—fast as professional football, wide open as basketball, thrilling as hockey!

The game came to life through the need of small schools for some substitute for 11-man football, which was too expensive. Stephen Epler, a Nebraska graduate student in athletics, developed the game of six-man football to meet this need. In six-man football anybody can score, the possibility of injury from mass plays is minimized, and the game is open enough for spectators to follow every exciting development. The new game is a hit. New schools are taking it up every day. In coming issues THE AMERICAN BOY tells the world about this practical new game. In addition, it presents The American Boy Official Handbook, which can be obtained from the magazine at 20 cents a copy, or 15 cents when bought in bulk.

NOTE: Subscription prices of THE AMERICAN BOY will be raised in the near future. Send your subscription order at once to take advantage of the bargain rates now in effect: one year at $1.00 or three years at $2.00. Foreign subscriptions 50c a year extra. Send your name, address and remittance to THE AMERICAN BOY, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Mich. On newsstands the price is 15c a copy.

Today's Quote.

"To hold profitable markets it is necessary to have assured, uniform production and high quality. Nature is rather fickle, but irrigation has proved to be the answer for us."—E. A. McCornack, manager of the Eugene Fruit Growers' association, in an address during the eighth annual Willamette Valley Irrigation tour.
