en into other cities, one being made to Cuernavaca, a favorite Mexican health resort, where Cortez's palace is situated. Another trip took them to Taxco, famous for its silver mines and manufacturing. The latter city is more typically Mexican than the other places visited. Mexico City has a population of a million and a half inhabitants and has become quite Americanized.

MOSHBERGER SPENDS MEXICAN VACATION

(From the Bulldog)

Ladrew Moshberger, a member of the high school faculty, spent a two months' vacation during the summer in Mexico City, and reports an extremely interesting and instructive trip.

The party left Portland about the middle of June, drove to San Francisco by the inland route, and spent four days there before going to Bakersfield, and east to Las Vegas, Nevada. A short stop was made at Boulder Dam, and then the group went on to the Grand Canyon, and from there to Carlsbad, New Mexico.

Mr. Moshberger reports that the trip through the Cavern was one of the most interesting parts of the journey, and that the cave, while it resembles the Oregon Caves in formation, is much larger. The rock formations are more varied and unusual.

Entry into Mexico was made at Laredo, Texas. From there a paved highway leads directly to Mexico City, some 750 miles to the south. At one point in the mountains, where the road gains an altitude of over 10,000 feet, the party enjoyed the vista of miles of tree-covered mountains, stretched out below as far as the eye could see. They experienced looking down on the clouds.

In Mexico City, Mr. Moshberger and members of his party attended the summer session at the University of Mexico, which lasted six weeks. He says the school is conducted in much the same manner as our universities, except that some of the classes are entirely in Spanish, while others are conducted in English. The summer session students attended classes during the morning and spent the afternoon sight seeing.

Several week end trips were tak-

IT'S GREAT TO BE BACK AT WORK
when you've found a way to ease the pains of RHEUMATISM and do it the inexpensive way, too.

You can pay as high as you want for remedies claimed to relieve the pain of Rheumatism, Neuritis, Sciatica, etc. But the medicine so many doctors generally approve—the one used by thousands of families daily—is Bayer Aspirin—15¢ a dozen tablets—about 1¢ apiece.

Simply take 2 Bayer Aspirin tablets with a half glass of water. Repeat, if necessary, according to directions.

Usually this will ease such pain in a remarkably short time. For quick relief from such pain which exhausts you and keeps you awake at night—ask for genuine Bayer Aspirin.
