

FARM CO-OPERATIVE DIVISION

A MESSAGE TO EVERY MEMBER.

Westland Grange Dance.

The Westland Grange will give a dance Saturday, October 30th, in the Westland school house. All members are invited to attend this fall-furnished. The general public is also invited to attend.

Co-ops. Closed November 11.

The Farm Bureau Cooperative and Grange Cooperative will be closed Thursday, November 11th, on Armistice day.

Co-ops Will Close at 5:00 P.M.

The Farm Bureau Cooperative of Hermiston, the Cooperative Service Station and the Grange Cooperative will close at 5:00 p. m., beginning November 1st. Patrons are asked to take notice of this change in closing hours.

November 15 First Turkey Pool.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Eastern Oregon Turkey Growers' association held at the assistant county agent's office, October 13, shipping dates were scheduled for November 15, and the second shipping dates November 29 and 30. A circular letter confirming these dates together with other important information regarding feeding practices prior to shipping, handling, and grading will be sent out soon to all members of the Eastern Oregon Turkey Growers' association.

Livestock Marketing.

A meeting of the Umatilla Cooperative Livestock Marketing association will be held Thursday, November 4th, in the office of the Assistant County Agent Jay T. Pierson. It is a very important meeting and all members are requested to be present.

STATE GRANGE CONFERENCE AT LEXINGTON

By Maude H. Pointer
At the Lexington Grange hall Saturday, October 16th, Master Ray Gill, state secretary Bertha Beck, Grange insurance chairman C. G. Patterson, Grange bulletin editor George Corson, state extension service of O.S.C. Morton Tompkins and Charles Beck, county agent Joseph Belanger, Mrs. Slack, Mrs. Thiesen, and Mrs. Mary Lundell, state committee chairmen, put on a very interesting and instructive program. State Master Gill spoke of the recent achievements of the Grange in the appointment of Mr. Ross of Seattle as manager of the Bonneville power, and the "original with Oregon" idea of the Granges sponsoring 4-H club work. He stated that there were nearly 189 boys and girls at summer school this year and 200 are expected next year. An invitation was extended by him to all Grangers to visit the new headquarters at E. 12th & Salmon, Portland. Mr. Corson spoke of the advantage to advertisers and Grangers alike of saving sales slips; also of the cooperative movement.

Mr. Tompkins stressed the necessity of organized farmers, especially at freight rate and congressional hearings for needed legislative action.

County Agent Belanger spoke of the results of the work of the Blow Control Committee. He had some very interesting charts and maps showing the noxious weeds and location thereof in this county. He told of the help the county court was ready to give in controlling same. All in all, the Grange Agricultural Committees in cooperation with the county agent's office, are doing some very necessary work along original ideas in both weed and erosion control.

Mrs. G. W. Thiesen advised full cooperation with the Smith-Hughes instructors in forming adult education classes. The recreation hour, of which she had charge, was thoroughly enjoyed.

Mrs. Lundell of Willows Grange, told of the conferences the state officers were holding and the work of Grange women in various committees.

The dining room and hall were beautiful with decorations of Michaelmas daisies and marigolds.

Greenfield Grange, with a score of 96, won the drill team contest but equal money was awarded the Lexington team, for participating under very adverse circumstances.

A large attendance from the various Granges enjoyed the day. Over eighty were served, both at noon and at night. A vote of thanks from the conference was tendered to the Home Economics Club of Lexington for the fine meals and hospitality.

CO-OP MOVEMENT HAS WIDE PROGRESS

GENEVA—Despite the hard siege of depression days, the cooperative movement has made world-wide progress and, now that recovery is here, it is beginning to reap the rewards. This is revealed in the International Labor Office Year Book for 1936-37.

It also says that the results in certain countries "have been most significant and the light they throw on the part which the cooperative movement may play as a factor in economic and social recovery has aroused further efforts elsewhere."

Although all the figures for 1936 were not available, records for the previous year show that the total trade figures of most wholesale societies equaled those of the pre-depression period, while those of the Bulgarian, Finnish, Netherland, Swedish and Swiss societies were higher. Such figures as were available, however, showed a big advance over the trade figures in 1935.

Lithuania leads the field with an increase of 14.9 per cent. Norway follows with 12.4 per cent. Scotland shows a 10.4 per cent increase, while U.S.S.R. completed its annual plan for 1936, providing for a total trade of 19,650,000 roubles by November 15 of that year. It distributed 23,300,000 roubles in goods to rural populations, an increase of more than 50 per cent over 1935.

Agricultural co-operative societies have shared in the increased prosperity of the distributive societies in almost every country, according to the labor office. And, with the exception of Germany, there has been a world-wide increase in the number of societies and their memberships. This statement is confirmed by reports from Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, England, Finland, France, India, Italy, Netherlands, Norway, Sweden, Poland, Scotland, Switzerland, Turkey and Yugoslavia.

The Labor Year Book particularly emphasizes the progress of the cooperative movement in the United States. Reviewing the remarkable advance of the farm cooperatives, credit unions and consumers' cooperatives, it said: "The fact that there is a vast field of action for cooperative organizations of various sorts and for relations between them, in the systematic reconstruction now in progress in the United States has not failed to attract the attention and arouse the interest of the masses. . . . In this connection the appeal to the president made by the National Religion and Labor Foundation in the name of 22 of the chief religious denominations of the country, the support given to the cooperative movement by organized labor, and the holding of debates on cooperation in most of the universities and colleges, are particularly significant and bear witness to a great increase in general interest."

A REVOLUTION IN THE KITCHEN

of turning a steak or chops several times, and letting the surface become charred while the interior is uncooked. Miss Conklin shows that the meat is placed at a sufficient distance from the heating unit so that when one side is nicely browned, the steak or chops are half done. Then it is seasoned and turned, and browned on the other side.

Stresses Economy Cuts.

In Miss Conklin's demonstrations, special attention will be given to the right ways of cooking the less demanded cuts of meat, those which are fine in flavor and high in food value, but which contain connective tissue that must be softened by cooking in moist meat. Miss Conklin prepares a variety of dishes featuring these cuts. Casserole dishes, meat pies, potroasts and stews are among them, and in many, vegetables are cooked with the meats.

Another economy idea which results in tempting dishes Miss Conklin shows is the ways of stuffing. Some cuts are boned, and the stuffing is placed in the cavity. Others, like flank steak, rolled breast of veal or lamb, and veal birds, are rolled about stuffing.

Will Discuss Nutrition.

Besides cookery methods, Miss Conklin goes into the subject of the value of meat in proper nutrition for children and adults. The importance of meat in providing high quality protein, the "building" food, and as a source of iron and phosphorus as well as certain vitamins makes it easy to see why mankind has always depended upon this food, long before science was able to analyze the reason for its value. Homemakers will come away from Miss Conklin's demonstrations with a fund of authentic information to guide them in selecting and preparing meats, as well as with new ideas for tempting economy dishes.

Baby Beef Club Notice.

Boys and girls who plan to carry a baby beef project next year should decide on the breed of calves that they intend to have and turn this information over to the assistant county agent's office immediately. Mr. Pierson, assistant county agent, plans to spend the last three days of the month picking out suitable calves for next year. It is hoped that they will be started on feed by November 15th.

SMALLER TURKEY CROP THIS YEAR

Oregon turkey growers expect to market some 700,000 birds this year as compared with 800,000 in 1936, preliminary estimates prepared by extension specialists at O.S.C. show. Seventy per cent of these are expected to go to out-of-state markets.

It generally pays to market only top-grade birds, growers have found, even though that requires several killing periods. It is well to withhold all feed for 24 hours before killing, and to cool carcasses to 40 degrees as quickly as possible.

POULTRY BRIGHTER PICTURE AHEAD

SPOKANE, Wn.—The large crops of grains this fall and the smaller number of pullets raised throughout the nation should reverse for 1938, the situation of high-priced feed and low-priced eggs which cut the poultrymen's returns in 1937.

W. J. Green, Spokane county agent, in outlining the program for the poultry school which will be held in Spokane, October 26 and 27, at the Y.M.C.A. gave assurance that complete information on the outlook will be available at that meeting.

Mr. Green said, "Wheat production is estimated at 890,000,000 bushels and corn at 2,500,000,000 bushels, both large crops. The number of young chickens July 1, this year, per farm flock in the United States was 19 per cent lower than a year ago, and the smallest per farm for the 13 years for which data is available. Large stocks of storage eggs and frozen eggs will tend to retard this favorable trend this fall and early winter.

The program is as follows: October 26, 10 A. M.—"New Information on Producing Quality Eggs", W. D. Buchanan; 11 A. M., round table discussion; 1:00 P. M., "The Poultry Outlook for 1938"; 2:00 P. M., round table discussion. October 27, 10 A. M.—"The Range Shelter in Reducing Laying House Mortality", W. D. Buchanan; 11:00 A. M., round table discussion; 1:00 P. M., open the question box and discussion of local poultry problems; 8:00 P. M., moving picture and address on "Marketing Eggs and Poultry", G. H. Anderson.

OSC STUDENT OFFERS HEADACHE CURE

CORVALLIS—That the "water balance" in a person's body may be the key to prevention of migraine or nervous sick headache is the theory advanced by Frank Thompson, graduate student in chemistry at Oregon State college, who recently reported his experiments and conclusions on this subject to the Oregon section of the American Chemical Society at its meeting in Portland.

When informed about eight years ago that this malady, from which he suffered frequently, and which, incidentally, afflicts from one to two per cent of the population, was incurable, Thompson began using his earlier scientific training in an effort to find out something about it for himself. His study of his own case and those of a number of others has finally convinced him that the secret of prevention of these headaches lies in keeping the intake of water or liquid at a minimum.

He recommends that persons subject to such headaches stay on the borderline of thirst at all times, and that if they feel an attack coming on, wrap themselves in blankets in the warmest possible spot and sweat it out.

HEADACHE REMEDY

STARTS WORKING IN SECONDS

THE REASON BAYER ASPIRIN WORKS SO FAST
Drop a Bayer Aspirin tablet into a tumbler of water. By the time it hits the bottom of the glass it is disintegrating. This speed of disintegration enables genuine BAYER Aspirin tablets to start "taking hold" of headache and similar pain a few minutes after taking.

All people who suffer occasionally from headaches ought to know this way to quick relief.

At the first sign of such pain, take two Bayer Aspirin tablets with a half glass of water. Sometimes if the pain is unusually severe, one more tablet is necessary later, according to directions.

If headaches keep coming back we advise you to see your own physician. He will look for the cause in order to correct it.
