Juice Benefits.
 Do not think that electricity is coming to you like the bloom on the sage. It is a natural movement in modern development, and farms are to receive the benefits like their urban friends have had for many years. It is a natural resource being applied to human needs. And while it is now as strong a movement as nature itself and holds in its power great unlimited blessings, it requires great effort to apply and distribute.

The beginning, on the first of a new year, of a lengthy system represents nearly two years of honest effort by the several communities and their leaders and the allotment by Uncle Sam of a large sum of money. These efforts and the returnable funds must be coordinated into a business enterprise that must pay its way. While, in several ways, it may be considered a gift from heaven—heaven helps only those who best help themselves.

This splendid work is no dole or relief enterprise, just handed out to you. It is something that must be sustained, or maintained and the original fund be returned to the government, at a very low rate of interest and over a long period of time. It is a truly cooperative plan, just the same as our other successful cooperatives for which this district is renowned, and must be handled throughout the years to come under careful and strict business methods.

The system has been carefully planned. Under government requirements and inspection, it will be well built. There will be nothing lax, or shoddy, or cheap about it. It will belong to the several communities which should take great pride in it, and endeavor to use and maintain the splendid benefits provided for them.
