A Little Country Paper.

By CLARA McCREERY in "The Wasp" I got a little paper from a little country town...

It gives no clever verses by the syndicated birds, But states that Mrs. Williams entertained some friends at cards...

It says the Curtis family sold out and moved away.

On Boulder Dam it's silent, and there's nothing on finance— It tells that the Rebekahs gave an installation dance.

That Miss Day is returning soon to open up her school, That Alexander Hargrave lost a valuable mule.

Our Own Prospects.

Spring is just around the corner, and few seasons in this area have found the farmer so well advanced in his year's work.

A very noticeable feature of agriculture here is better farming. The average farm has put on a much more prosperous appearance.

Industrial centers that the population should have no desire to swap chances. Improvement is general, and the citizens are welcoming the new power system as a betterment to their ways of living and an improvement in value to their properties.

A little thought along these lines should bring contentment, courage, and a vigor to all our people to make the best of their opportunities.

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out! For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things: to whom be glory for ever" (Rom. 11:33, 36).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy: "Divine metaphysics, as revealed to spiritual understanding, shows clearly that all is Mind, and that Mind is God, omnipotence, omnipresence, omniscience,—that is, all power, all presence, all Science" (p. 275).
