RELIGIOUS LEADERS FIND GOOD RESPONSE

Oregon State College—Keen satisfaction over the response of students and faculty here to the week-long stay of world famous religious leaders was expressed by members of the University Christian Embassy which opened a schedule here and at

Eugene which will take them to 14 leading colleges and universities this fall.
 Leaders of the Embassy were kept busy through six days with meetings, conferences, classroom lectures and dinner speaking engagements during which they stressed the place of Christianity in modern life and education.

Upon leaving, Dr. E. Stanley Jones of India, probably the most famous member of the group, declared publicly that far from finding American college students cynical, blasé, and flapperish, as he has been led to believe, he found the students here unspoiled, wholesome and interested in life.

PINE CITY
 By Mrs. Bernice Wattenburger

The Pine City high school is giving a play entitled "Aunt Bessie Beats The Band," a farce in three acts, by Henry Rowland. The chief laugh ingredient of this play is how the women get the better of the men in the matrimonial market. Alice Morley, with plenty of cash, takes on a salaried husband and Aunt Bessie catches the village lawyer, and runs up an enormous bill. May Ketchum, a hopeful spinster, finally whacks a home run into green pastures and is set for life. The funniest couple of all are Simon and Betsy, the hired help, who fall in love and Simon's hay-fever is some handicap. Cast of characters: Alice Morley, played by Cecilia Healy; Bessie Bonner, Mabel Rauch; Betsy Blotter, Helen Healy; Simon Trotter, Malcolm O'Brien; May Ketchum, Patricia Daly; Hezekiah Hawkeye, Bruce Lindsay; Paul Vernon, Bernard Doherty; Frederick Frost, Ralph Neill.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Neill and children of Oceanside, Cal., are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Moore and Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Neill.
