STANFORD GAME OREGON STATE HOME COMING FEATURE

OREGON STATE COLLEGE — A football game between OSC and Stanford on Bell field at Corvallis, will be the major attraction for the annual homecoming celebration, set for November 11 and 12. This will be the first time for many years that a Stanford team has played in Corvallis.

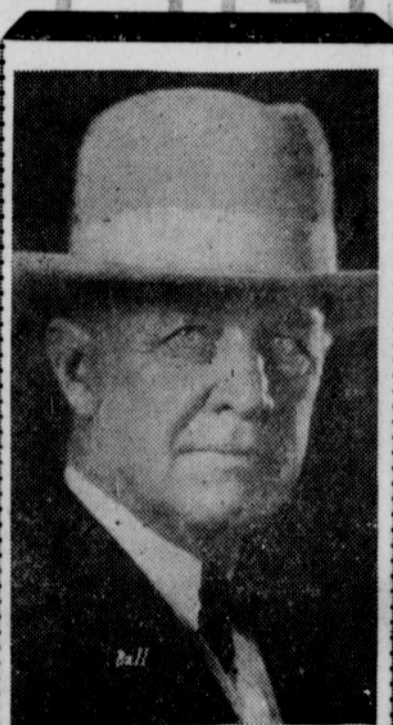

Other features will be the usual noise parade, rally and bonfire on Friday night, followed by a tour of the many ingeniously designed and mechanized house signs with which the fraternities, sororities and halls compete for living cups. Reviving a practice of former years, an alumni banquet will be held again this year for all returning Beavers following the game.

John Ansley of Portland, senior in engineering, is general chairman for homecoming, with May Callo-way of Corvallis, junior in home economics, as his first assistant. Under them a score or more of committees are working to see that each different phase of the annual celebration is at least as good or better than ever before.

OPEN TERRITORY ON ELK LISTED

PORTLAND, Ore. (Special)—The northeastern Oregon elk season this fall will extend from Tuesday, November 8, to and including November 20, being two days longer than last year. The open territory has been enlarged by addition of all of Morrow county and the balance of Grant county. The complete list of open counties is as follows: all of Morrow and Grant counties; all of Union and Umatilla counties except the Mt. Emily game refuge; that portion of Wallowa county lying north and west of the Grande Ronde river; and that portion of Baker county lying west of the La Grande-Baker, Baker-Unity and Unity-Vale highway.

Walter M. Pierce
Deserves Your Support for Re-election

He has championed the development of the Columbia river since his arrival in Washington in 1933. He has made a gallant fight to preserve the benefits of Bonneville for the greatest number of people in Oregon. He forced an early report upon Umatilla Rapids dam in the closing days of the last session, and together with Senator McNary, Co-Sponsored a bill for the building of this other important link in river development.

When this project is complete it will give the west a navigable stream to the Idaho line. It will give irrigation to the fertile lands of the mid-Columbia. It will give much needed cheap power to the residents of the states in the proximity of the river.

Mr. Pierce's positions on the Agriculture committee of the House and the joint Senate-House Forestry committee place him in a most favorable position to speak for Oregon's greatest industries—Farming & Lumbering.

RE-ELECT WALTER M. PIERCE AND LET HIM CONTINUE TO SERVE YOU.

in and out of the open area at any one of the following stations: Seneca, Heppner, Milton, Pendleton, Pilot Rock, Ukiah, Dale Ranger Station, Long Creek, Blue Mountain Ranger Station, Sumpter, Baker, North Powder, La Grande, Troy, Unity and John Day. Hunters will have to be adequately equipped for taking care of any elk killed, which means they must have sufficient ropes, preferable block and tackle, skinning knives, hatchet or ax, shovel and a vehicle of proper capacity to transport elk. No guns will be allowed that are smaller than 30 caliber except when using cartridges with bullets of not less than 1400 foot pound energy at 100 yards distance or weighing not less than 150 grains. Each hunter is required to check out of the area after he finishes hunting regardless of whether or not he kills an elk.

The bag limit is one bull elk having horns. Resident elk tags cost $3 each and are required in addition to the regular hunting licenses. Non-residents are charged $25 for their elk tags and $15 for the hunting licenses. Those hunters who purchased elk tags for the Clatsop county elk season and were not successful in bagging an elk, can use the same tag for the eastern Oregon area.

Klamath county will again have a three day open season for elk from November 8 to 10, inclusive.
