Hermiston Population.
 Election day brought out 298 voters within the city limits of Hermiston, and it is not to be supposed that all voters were at the polls. The 1930 census gives Hermiston only 608 population. According to the usual way of estimating population one voter is multiplied by three, which would give the city 900. We suggest a local census—a good job for the commercial club.

CHURCH NOTES

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"A DAM and Fallen Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Nov. 6.
 The Golden Text was, "He that is of the earth is earthly, and speaketh of the earth: he that cometh from heaven is above all" (John 8:31).
 Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. So God created man in His own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them. And God saw everything that he had made, and behold, it was very good. And the evening and the morning were the sixth day" (Gen. 1:1,2,7,31).
 The Lesson-Sermon also included the following correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "With a single command, Mind had made man, both male and female. How then could a material organization become the basis of man? The creations of matter arise from a mist or false claim, or from mystification, and not from the firmament, or understanding, which God erects between the true and false" (p. 524,525).

NO CHANCE FOR ARGUMENT!
 A lad told his chum the other day that he had a goat that didn't have a nose, and the chum asked, "How does the goat smell?" "Perfectly awful," replied he. It's awful risky to buy a used car from any other than a dealer who has a reputation to sustain and who values that reputation. We rate in that class.

Joliet, Ill., Once Juliet
 The city of Joliet, Ill., once bore the name Juliet, which was later changed by the substitution of one letter in the name. The first settlement on the site of the present city was made in 1833, and named Juliet after a daughter of James B. Campbell, one of the settlers. When a postoffice was established, it bore that name, and it was not until 1845 that it was changed to Joliet in honor of the famous explorer of the Mississippi river.

Odd Relationship
 An odd relationship existed between Peter Tchaikovsky, the Russian composer, and his patron, Nafelja von Meck, a wealthy widow from 1877 to 1890. On condition that they never meet, she gave him, during these years, sums of money which totaled about $75,000, notes a correspondent in Collier's Weekly. The agreement was never violated, although they lived close by, passed each other on the street and wrote each other love letters several times a week.
