COLUMBIA

By Lois Hutchison

The pouring of concrete for the foundation of the new club house in Columbia park was completed Tuesday. "It won't be long now," until the "Big Day." It is planned to have at least fifty volunteer men at work in the park at a date to be announced in the near future. Cleaning of the park and finishing of the building will be features of the day. One of the Farm Bureau Auxiliary's famous pot luck dinners will be served at noon. Plan your work so that you can lend a hand, and also enjoy meeting your neighbors. Your neighbors will enjoy you. Watch for the date.
