PLANS SUGGESTED FOR PICNIC LUNCH ON FOURTH OF JULY

Here it is July, open season for picnics, and to most of us plans for the "fourth" are of much importance at the moment. Most of us, too, are planning a picnic or an outing of some sort, for doesn't the Fourth of July really initiate picnic season?

In planning a picnic you must remember that the out-of-doors does a certain something to food. Plan a simple lunch—not forgetting, however, that picnic appetites are large. There is no need to tie oneself down to long-time roasts and complicated baking for the day that we want to spend out of the kitchen and in the sunshine. There are dozens of picnic menus that are delicious and well planned to safeguard the family's happiness and health.

Many families make it a policy to carry one main dish that may be heated over a camp fire or kept hot in thermos jugs. Have you ever tried packing a casserole, with its contents piping hot, between two feather pillows? It really works and will retain the heat for several hours. The hot dish accompanied by a vegetable or fruit salad, bread or rolls and butter, with ice cream for dessert, will answer the food problem. Remember that ice cream, even small quantities, can be packed to keep frozen for many hours. Fill the thermos jug with milk or a milk shake, another with fragrant coffee, not forgetting the cream, and you need give no more thought to the success of your picnic.

Some situations are ideal for an open fire picnic—in fact, many families think this is the only kind of picnic worthy of the name. A great variety of foods can be prepared over an open fire, especially now with the many new and useful pieces of equipment designed for camp fire cooking. The essentials in equipment are a coffee pot and frying pan; or if you go in for stew or chowders, a long handled kettle.

The good old way of cutting green sticks for broiling steaks or for combinations of meat broiled en broche is still a favorite, too. Combinations of veal and beef, liver and bacon, lamb with slices of onion, are all appetizing cooked in this manner.

The thing is to concentrate on one hot dish as the main interest in your picnic meal and then with plenty of "fixins", cool milk to drink and topped off with a favorite in ice cream, a simple cake or cookies, and you have provided a meal that will make the Fourth of July picnic a tradition in your home.

They will return the California coast route to the Golden Gate fair. They left last Friday.

More Summer Students at O.S.C.

Oregon State College—A 16 per cent increase in summer session enrollment was reported here by the end of the fourth day of the six-week period when the total of 764 exceeded the final total of 737 last year. At the corresponding time last year only 658 had registered. Favorable summer climate, increased course offerings, and opportunity to combine vacations with summer study are helping increase the popularity of the OSC summer session, says Dr. M. Ellwood Smith, director.

MISS HANEY HOST TO COOKING CLUB

The K. Q. Cooking club was entertained at the home of Grace Haney on Thursday, June 22. The occasion was her 11th birthday. A regular business meeting was held and a program consisting of a demonstration by LaVelle and Lois Markham, songs and games was presented.

Delightful refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting will be held the second Thursday of July at the home of Ella Mae Grim.

Members of Westland Grange and their families enjoyed a pot luck dinner and general get-together at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Hartley, last Thursday as the first of a series of informal parties to be held during the summer by the Grange.

The dinner was followed by an hour of entertainment and story telling, honors in the latter department being taken by Ed Dunning and Jess Prindle, both of whom proved to be first class raconteurs. There was also a general discussion among the men, of topics of agricultural interest, such as the new cream grading law, and the Grange Dairy Day.

The next meeting of the Grange, July 13, will be a regular business session.

HERMISTON UNION CHURCH

C. Warner, Pastor.
The regular morning worship service will be held Sunday morning, with Miss Opal Stockard delivering the sermon. There will be no evening worship service.

OREGON DOMINATES BENT GRASS MARKET

Oregon produces more than 90 per cent of the commercial bent grass seed annually in the United States, according to figures compiled by the Oregon State college extension service.

Imports of seed from other countries have been virtually halted by a protective tariff giving Oregon a near monopoly on the market for the entire country. Under the supervision of G. R. Hyslop, head of the plant industries division, a seed certification service has been developed which gives Oregon seed an accredited place on the market. Close to a half million pounds of seed were produced in 11 western Oregon counties in 1938 against 56,000 pounds in the early days of the industry in 1926.

The bent grass straw is not wasted after the seed is harvested, as it makes excellent hay.

TOWNSEND FLASHES

By, Mrs. Joe Udey
The Townsend meeting of June 23 was well attended. Many important business issues were brought up on the floor and discussed. Reports from the convention that 15,000 delegates were present at our fourth Townsend national convention were given. Dr. Townsend said that when you try to do something for people that will benefit them, it is natural for them to stick with you and that is why more members are joining the Townsend clubs. He also said that the Townsend people are the finest people in the land. They are a cross section of the middle class in America.

It was explained that the Townsend plan would make the social security tax, the WPA and all other emergency relief projects unnecessary and create millions of jobs for the young because the aged would retire. E. Howard Cadle, in whose building the convention was held, spoke briefly in words of greeting and said, "All hell and high water and cheap politicians can't stop the Townsend movement." Dr. Townsend asserted that the great desire in the hearts of all men and women is to bring America back to prosperity and march on to greater heights—and the Townsend Plan in action will do it.

More to be heard of this great convention and the Townsend weekly of July 14 will have a full report and can be had from any of the members. One hundred copies have been ordered.

Mrs. Prindle's program committee had on her program: Mrs. Waldo Dyer gave a reading, Mr. Laird a vocal solo. Refreshments were served and then H. J. Ott pleased the crowd with an hour of old time music to which the members enjoyed dancing. The next meeting will be July 14 and everyone is asked to come and join in the fun.

UMATILLA COUNTY PIONEER COUNTY PASSES SUNDAY

grandchildren and 4 great-grandchildren.
Funeral services were held at the Methodist church in Echo Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with Rev. Stearns Cushing Jr. in charge of the services. Burial was in the Echo cemetery.

Mr. Wattenburger was born October 30, 1860, in Sullivan county, Mo., and was the son of Jacob and Mary Wattenburger. He crossed the plains in 1862 in a covered wagon and his parents settled near Lakeport, Cal. When 16 years of age he moved to Umatilla county, where he worked for William Blakely and other pioneers. He often mentioned that he had ridden over all the surrounding country on horseback before there were any fences or boundary lines.

February 14, 1886, he was married to Miss Lizzie May Davison at Carlton, and they lived on a homestead at Butter Creek for a while. In 1908 they moved to a comfortable home at Echo, where they had since resided.

Throughout Mr. Wattenburger's early life he saw the necessity of hard work for meagre remuneration. Industrious, honest and thrifty, he became a prominent and influential citizen.
