PRICE LEVELS ON FARM PRODUCTION SIMILAR TO 1938

With the general farm price level steady to firm at about the same average level as a year ago and farm costs generally slightly lower, the principal difference in the current agricultural situation compared with last year is in crop prospects, according to information contained in the latest monthly review of economic conditions as they pertain to agriculture just released by the agricultural extension service at O.S.C. Government information as of June 1 covering all crops in the nation as a whole indicated a total output 7 per cent less than last year. The drought in the western part of the United States was relieved by rains late in May and in June, and extra favorable weather could still result in a general level of crop production equal to the usual output in the country as a whole, of course, although it is fairly certain that some early crops will be short.

Prospects for hay crops, farm pastures, and for barley and oats on June 1 were lower than in any season of record since 1934, and western ranges were the poorest of record except 1934 and 1937. On the other hand, the carry-over of feed grain and hay is fairly large in much of the country. Yields of corn and some other late crops have not yet been estimated.

United States and world wheat crops will be smaller, but the carry-over is large enough to offset the expected reduction in production this year. The United States rye crop is also much smaller than last year and below average.

Prospects for fruit and nut crops were generally favorable on June 1. The pear crop was expected to be only slightly less than last year. Apples were reported above average condition in the central and eastern states and slightly below average in the west. The California prune crop is expected to be smaller than last year, but prospects are favorable in the Pacific northwest.

The Oregon index of the general level of farm prices and the United States index both stood at 64 per cent of the 1926-1930 average as of May 15, according to data given in the extension service report. Compared with a year previous, the Oregon index was up two points, while the United States index was down one. The report, which is available from county agricultural agents, contains several tables of data on farm prices, costs, and demand factors, and other current and comparative information.

Operators of 87 per cent of Oregon's crop land have given advance notice of intention to participate in the 1939 AAA program, according to figures compiled by the state office at Corvallis. This represents close to 42,000 farmers who operate about 3,800,000 acres of crop land.

OREGON CROP LAND UNDER AAA PLAN

Government payments that these farmers will earn will not all be profit," said N. C. Donaldson, state executive officer. "Usually the cost of carrying on the conservation practices is greater than the payment received. Hence the farmers really earn the payments made possible by the program."

F. B. AUXILIARY PROGRAM OUTLINED

At an executive committee meeting of the Farm Bureau Auxiliary on June 21, the program for the ensuing year was outlined. All members are asked to keep this list for future reference.

The program follows:

UMATILLA WHEAT ALLOTMENT HIGHER THAN LAST YEAR

Umatilla county's 1940 wheat allotment under the AAA farm program will be 203,380 acres, according to word received this week by A. R. Coppock, chairman of the county agricultural conservation committee. This allotment is approximately 10 percent larger than the 1939 allotment.

Wide participation in the AAA crop adjustment program, together with prospect for lower yields in some wheat areas, has made possible the larger allotments for 1940, Steen said.

With the announcement of the county wheat acreage allotment, the county office will establish the individual wheat allotments which will be announced for "new" and "old" farms in ample time for fall seeding.

Farms on which wheat was harvested in 1937, 1938 or 1939 are referred to as "old farms." "New" wheat farms—those which grew no wheat in 1937, 1938 or 1939 and on which wheat will be seeded for harvest as grain in 1940—may receive allotments, said the county chairman. Requests for wheat acreage allotments on "new" farms must be made in writing and should be submitted to the county committee by July 15. Only three percent of the county's 1940 allotment will be available to "new" wheat farms.

"Compliance with all allotments is, of course, entirely optional," the county chairman pointed out. "Farmers comply with the program only if they wish to do so. Those who do comply know that by planting only their allotment acreage, they contribute to the welfare of American farmers by helping keep down a surplus."

OREGON MAN TO SPEAK ON NATIONAL AAA BROADCAST

Will Steen, chairman of the Oregon state AAA committee will represent the western division of the Triple-A on a national radio broadcast from Washington, D.C., Tuesday, July 11. The program, to be heard in the west at 8:30 a.m. over station KEX, will deal with the general subject of "Agricultural Problems That Farmers Are Solving With the Help of the AAA." State committeemen from Kentucky, Georgia, Maine, and Ohio will report for their sections of the country.

Steen plans to explain a farm problem typical of the western division and tell what farmers, working through the AAA, are doing to meet it. The broadcast will be a feature of the National Farm and Home hour and is made possible by the fact that state chairmen and state executive officers will be in Washington at that time for a conference to obtain farmer suggestions for the 1940 farm program.

N. C. Donaldson, state executive officer of Oregon stationed at Oregon State college, will be the other Oregon representative at the conference.

STATE GRANGE AT OSC PASSES UPON MANY PROPOSALS

Described by many state officers as one of the most constructive and harmonious sessions in years, the sixty-sixth annual convention of the Oregon State Grange concluded a five-day session on the campus of Oregon State college by reaffirming much of the traditional grange policy on state and national affairs and taking action for or against various current issues.

For the first time in history the grange shared the campus with more than 2000 4-H club summer session students and their leaders, which added to the interest of both events, according to those in charge.

Benton county host granges, in addition to providing what was described as the best convention facilities ever enjoyed, were able to win one of the high convention honors when the Willamette grange drill team took first prize in the state drill competition. Silverton Hills grange was second, and Harding grange in Clackamas county third.

Following is a highly condensed summary of official action on several of the major issues considered:

FARM PROGRAM—Favored principles of so-called cost-of-production bill (S.B.570) but urged continuation of present plan pending adoption of such legislation. Approved passage of pending agricultural appropriation bill, including funds for surplus purchases and parity payments.

PUBLIC POWER—Condemned most changes in PUD law made by last legislature and authorized executive committee to consider amendments before next grange session or possible special session of the legislature. Favored election rather than appointment of state utilities commissioner.

SEED LAWS—Favored adding seed grains to the state pure seed law and urged adoption of proposed federal seed law (HR 5625) with amendments.

TAXATION—Authorized county and state studies of complete tax plan, including possibility of taxing both public and private power on kilowatt hour basis.

TRANSPORTATION AND HIGHWAYS—Favored including water transportation in ICC, mixed carlot freight privileges, and compulsory testing of automobiles to be financed by highway funds. Opposed so-called long and short haul bills.

GRANGE ORGANIZATION—Changed name of Young Grangers' auxiliary to Young Grangers of America, and gave this more official standing. Refused to change state grange election procedure. Required that local and county grange resolutions be harmonized with state and national policy before being made public.

BOY SCOUT SUMMER CAMP ANNOUNCED

The 1939 Boy Scout summer camp will be held at Wallowa Lake which has frequently been referred to as the "Switzerland of America." This beautiful lake, surrounded by rugged peaks with many small lakes nestled at the foot of each, is reached by traveling through Elgin, Wallowa, Enterprise, and Joseph, Oregon. The entire trip is made on surfaced highway, along beautiful mountain rivers, without any dangerous unguarded grades such as those leading to many mountain camps.

Camp is held at Wallowa Lake for four weeks, beginning on July 16 and running until August 13. Camp is set up in two-week periods, however, scouts will be permitted to attend for a single week. First period, July 16 to 30; second period, July 30 to August 13. From reveille to taps the day is chock full of fun, adventure, fellowship and knowledge. Something new every day, hiking, handicraft, swimming, boating games and contests, are only a few. Camp is the place to pass outdoor scout tests, and a court of honor is held every week.

The camp staff will be composed of Executive O. E. Hoover as camp director, Professor A. S. Hawk of Milton as assistant director in charge of activities, hiking, and nature lore. Assisting these men will be a number of Eagle scouts.

The cost to go to camp is $2.00 a week in cash and a food list brought from home, or $6.00 a week without the food list. Registration is made through the Boy Scout Headquarters, City Hall, Walla Walla, Wa.

HOME BAKED QUICK BREADS FOR SUMMER

Summer's officially here again. And problem number one in the minds of meal planners is "What's something appetizing to serve these hot days?"

One answer to that question is "home-baked quick breads." For even when it is ninety in the shade no family is satisfied with all-cold meals. Bread, fresh from the oven, is one way to work a necessary hot dish into the menu.

Made-to-order for summer baking at home are the quick breads, which can be stirred up in a hurry, baked quickly. For these breads butter makes a satisfactory shortening. Best liquid for food value, flavor and texture is milk. In any quick bread but pop-overs, sour milk may be substituted cup for cup for sweet. Always of course when sour milk is substituted for sweet, there must be a change in the leavening agent. Each cup of sour milk needs 1/2 teaspoon soda to neutralize the acid in it. One half teaspoon soda equals in leavening power 2 teaspoons baking powder—and takes the place of that much of the baking powder in the original recipe.

Quickest of all the quick breads are muffins. Secret of their success lies mostly in the mixing, and the knowing when to stop. Therefore, stir muffins enough to moisten the ingredients and leave the mixture with a rough appearance. Do not mix for smoothness. Muffins are at their best served hot from the oven with plenty of butter. But some cooks purposely make up more than their family can eat at one meal. Then these "left-over" muffins are cut in slices, buttered and toasted. Muffins also lend themselves to tasteful variations. To a recipe calling for 1 cup liquid, add 1/2 cup chopped dried fruit with the dry ingredients or add 1/4 cup chopped nuts.

Cornmeal may be substituted for all or part of all-purpose flour in muffins or griddle cakes. However, for the most part, cornmeal works best in recipes designed especially for it. And of all the dishes made from cornmeal one of the favorites since the Indians started it has been corn pone.

"Curiosity Killed the Cat" The saying "Curiosity killed the cat" is believed to be a corruption of the older saying "Care killed the cat." It is one of the sayings perpetuated more by sound than sense. A proverb known in England and Scotland from time immemorial says that a cat has nine lives, yet care will wear them out. "Hang sorrow, care will kill a cat," occurs in "Christmas," a poem written by George Wither, who died in 1687. The same line is attributed to Ben Johnson, John Taylor and others. This proverb probably referred originally to the fact that cats are frequently so petted and pampered that they sicken and die. However, cats are not usually thought of as being especially curious. Why "Care killed the cat" was changed to "Curiosity killed the cat" is a puzzling question. One writer says a plausible explanation of this change is found in the fact that one of the figurative senses of "cat" is "a human being who scratches like a cat, particularly a spiteful or back-biting woman."
