

FARM CO-OPERATIVE DIVISION

A MESSAGE TO EVERY MEMBER.

R.E.A. HIGHLIGHTS

RAY L. WOOLLEY, Manager

It is very interesting to note the increase in use of electricity by those who have been energized during the past year. Approximately 30 per cent increase is noticeable. This has several implications. First of all, it indicates that there is a definite benefit to be derived by our members from the use of electricity on the farms and residences. Second, it makes the cooperative take courage and new faith in the support of its members. Third, it indicates that the cooperative will be a going concern financially sound and capable of carrying on indefinitely.

Just a word in explanation of the note on your last statement. Some of us have been just a little negligent in taking care of our obligations. This rule is set forth as a definite step to be followed up to help us not to become careless, and to provide a definite arrangement whereby your cooperative may meet its obligations.

We are continuing work on the construction of the Wheatland Extension. Everything there is progressing satisfactorily.

Two new members have signed and agreed to wire their premises in the wheatland area, Mr. French and Frank Beddow. We welcome these new members to our cooperative and we feel that they will profit from our organization, and that our organization will also profit from their additional support.

Remember the 15th, and save yourself any additional charge. Many of us are responding very favorably.

W. M. Tromershausen, field engineer of the R.E.A., and Mr. Vollheue, state electrical inspector, paid an official visit to the local R.E.A. office Monday. They met with the local board and discussed matters concerning the operations of the Hermiston field.

F. B. AUXILIARY NOTES

The meeting Friday, November 3, was postponed to Tuesday, November 7. A pot luck dinner was held at noon, served to several men that worked on the building. Quite a lot of work was done.

Another day, Armistice day, has been set to shingle the building. All that would like to help are asked to come and bring hammer and saw. Bring the ladies and enjoy a pot luck dinner with your neighbors and friends, and help complete the building that will be enjoyed by all on the project when completed. This meeting, Armistice day, will be an all day meeting, providing it does not rain.

The size of this building is 24 x 40. All work has been volunteer work and is hoped to have it done before bad weather sets in.

Farm Bureau Auxiliary meetings are held every first and third Friday of the month. The next regular meeting will be Friday, November 17. Mrs. Lois Shaw will have charge of the program, and Mrs. Emma Upham, Mrs. Catherine Jendrzewski, and Mrs. Ella Beddow are on the refreshment committee.

Westland Home Ec Club To Meet

AAA SETS NOV. 30 CLOSING DATES OF 1939 AG. PROGRAM

The books of the 1939 agricultural conservation program in Oregon will be closed on November 30, according to a decision of the state AAA committee, and any farm practices completed after that date will apply to the 1940 program.

The early closing date is necessary so that county conservation offices will have time to submit all applications for 1939 AAA payments by March 31, 1940, said Will Steen, state committee chairman.

Specifications for the 1940 conservation program in Oregon have been drawn up, Steen said, and it is expected that the new handbooks explaining next year's practices will be ready for distribution by the first of January.

The 1940 agricultural conservation program will begin officially on December 1, 1939, and end November 30, 1940. This year's AAA range program will not end until December 31, but in 1940 it will terminate on the same date as the farm program, according to Steen.

First 1939 payment has been made to Francis E. Lilly of Bonanza, Klamath county. At the top of the list for receiving first checks were Klamath, Multnomah, Umatilla, Baker, Hood River and Wasco counties.

It is expected that approximately 31,000 applications for 1939 conservation payments will be made by Oregon farmers, said N. C. Donaldson of Corvallis, state executive. The payments are made as an aid to carrying on soil building and soil conserving practices, or for keeping within wheat, potato, or commercial vegetable allotments.

Conservation payments to Oregon farmers cooperating with the 1939 AAA program will total about $3,483,000, Donaldson added. Other federal farm payments, including those for the sugar beet program and the wheat price adjustment program will probably bring the year's total agricultural benefits in Oregon to more than five million dollars.

Wedding Anniversary Celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Bensej celebrated their 35th wedding anniversary over the week end by attending the auto show and Oregon State-Southern California football game in Portland. They left Friday and returned home Sunday.

FARM WOMEN GAIN IMPORTANCE IN RURAL LIFE

"The important place of women in the agricultural picture is becoming more and more recognized and the Oregon Farm Bureau is anxious to accord them a place in the organization", said Mac Hoke, president of the Oregon Farm Bureau Federation, in commenting on plans for the state convention of that organization in Hood River, November 18 and 19.

Hoke's comment related to the appearance at the Oregon convention of Mrs. Henry Ahart, president of the Associated Women of the American Farm Bureau Federation. Mrs. Ahart will be present both days of the convention to confer with women of Oregon and plans regarding the formation of an organization in this state.

The Oregon president pointed out that so far women have been accorded no prominent place in the State Farm Bureau organization and advanced the opinion that this would be remedied at the state meeting. He declared that the appearance of Mrs. Ahart will signal the beginning of a women's organization in Oregon.

In line with the Bureau's program Hoke urged all agricultural women in the state to plan to attend the Oregon meeting and participate in the formation of an active organization.

In addition to Mrs. Ahart, B. E. Blackburn, secretary of the national Farm Bureau Federation will be present at the meeting to discuss problems with Bureau members of Oregon. Special attention will also be paid to round table conference on taxation and transportation problems.

SOME PROGRESS SEEN IN ARGUMENT ON KOAC RADIO CASE

Oregon State College—The oral arguments at Washington, D. C., on the KOAC-KOY radio case resulted in "moderate indication of progress" toward the goal of protecting KOAC listeners from excessive interference, according to word received from L. R. Breithaupt, extension economist, who was in Washington at the time attending the annual agricultural outlook conference. Breithaupt is also in charge of the campaign to protect the state-owned station.

The commission members will now weigh all the evidence and arguments personally before reaching a final conclusion, Breithaupt learned. No time was set for announcing the decision. The case arose over the request of KOY of Phoenix, Ariz., to use the same wavelength now occupied by KOAC.

Meanwhile the state board of control has let the contract for enlarging KOAC to 5000 watt power, contingent upon winning the KOY case. Money for such expansion was appropriated by the last legislature.
