HERMISTON BAPTIST CHURCH

Grayden D. Loree, Pastor
In the twentieth chapter of Matthew we read the story of the man who went out early in the morning to hire workers to labor in his vineyard. He agreed to pay them the common wage. As he saw need for more workers he went out again at various times of the day and hired others. At the eleventh hour, 5:00 p. m., he went to the market place and finding idle men he sent them also into his vineyard to work. At the close of the day each one received the same wage although some had worked twelve hours while others had worked only one hour. Each one who believes in the blood of Jesus Christ will be saved and gain entrance into heaven regardless of whether he serves the Lord many years or few. However we must remember that there is a life to save as well as a soul. The topic at the 11 o'clock worship service will be "Souls saved, but lives lost." There will be baptismal following the message.

B.Y.P.U. meets at 6:45 p. m. with Barbara Follett leading. The evening evangelistic service is at 7:45.

METHODIST CHURCH

Stearns Cushing Jr., Pastor
Bringing to a close the series relating to "Life," the subject for the Sunday morning worship service will be "Measurably Christian." Living in a day of strenuous conditions one's Christian experience must be one that is active, dynamic and vital. In view of the world problems, the church will either take the lead in their solution or else when the crisis comes the church will be treated as it is today in Russia, and Germany. You are invited to hear problems considered in the light which Jesus Christ brought to a sin burdened world.

The services for the Sabbath begin with Sunday school at 10 a. m., Junior church under the leadership of Mrs. Lois Shaw at 11, morning worship with special music by the choir at 11 o'clock and the Epworth League at 7 p. m. with Zelma Sale leading the discussion. A hearty invitation is extended to you.

SEVENTH DAY ADVENTIST

Through the past ages the beginning of sin and the reason for its existence have been a fountain of great perplexity to many minds. But with the passing of time this problem has remained to many a mystery beyond comprehension. They have seen the work of evil, with its fruitage of woe and desolation and to them the question has occurred time after time, "If God is truly the sovereign of the universe, the One who is infinite in understanding, in might and in love, how can He allow such things to continue."

But God who is ruler in the heavens and on earth, sees the end from the beginning. To Him the past holds no hidden secret, neither does the future. They are alike before Him as an opened book. Beyond the woe, the darkness and the desolation that sin has brought. He be-holds the accomplishment of His own purposes of love and blessing. On January 28 at 7:30 p. m. in the Seventh Day Adventist chapel, this topic, "Why Was Sin Permitted?" shall be presented by Ivan Schaber. Come, and bring your questions.

STANFIELD SCS CAMP MAKES PROGRESS DURING YEAR

another major job of the Stanfield camp. Most of these are two-row and three-row plantings of black locust, Russian olive and pine. First year growths of locust measuring up to seven feet have been noted, and the survival of these plantings to date is more than 90 per cent. The total windbreak acreage is 49 acres.

Where "blow" spots have started and are spreading, more trees are being set out to tie down the restless soil. With irrigation water available, it has been found that black locust will grow on even the worst blow areas. Also being demonstrated are the best methods of harvesting fence posts, fuel and other wood products the trees in the windbreaks will produce in this section where timber is 60 miles away. The selective cutting and related woodland management practices are demonstrated in older existing woodland plantings of farmers with whom the service is cooperating.

Still aiming at better land use in all respects, the irrigation farmers likewise are working out soil-building crop rotations, better pasture management plans, and more effective water distribution systems. The rotation, used on most of this land, consists of 4 to 6 years of grass and legumes and 2 to 3 years of grain or cultivating crops. During the years of cultivation, crop residues, straw or manure, and winter cover crops are used as protection against wind erosion. The improved irrigation systems are planned and are being developed on 626 acres.

Along Butter Creek, just south of Hermiston, livestock farmers depend upon early spring creek flow for flood-irrigating their bottomland alfalfa fields. The CCC's are helping them to build dams in the creek to hold back more water and raise the creek channel to a point where sub-irrigation will be more effective.

Of the 256,449 acres involved in the 42 plans worked out for Stanfield camp cooperation, 200,000 acres is range land. On it, a detailed survey has been completed and range management plans developed on the basis of its needs as shown by the survey. Similarly, soil surveyors have finished a conservation survey on 220,000 acres.

GARDEN CLUB CHATS

By Mrs. T. A. O'Grady

This is the best month for fire-side gardening, planning the garden on paper, sending off for seed catalogs and pasting all those clippings in the garden scrap book. If you have not sent for your seed and plant catalogs yet, now is the time because it is only nine weeks, sixty eight more days until the first of April. There is much help and inspiration in a new seed catalog with the colorful illustrations and news of the new varieties offered for 1940.

Some of the new introductions were mentioned last week, but there are many more. A new nasturtium, the Sun Ball, is highly recommended. The plants are dwarf with foliage much greener than usually found in nasturtiums. The flowers are a soft creamy yellow and very sweet scented. Limelight, a large soft primrose yellow marigold has petals curled and twisted like the chrysanthemums we buy during the football season. This marigold was awarded a bronze medal in the all-American class for 1940. The blooms are nearly three inches across and should come on seven weeks from planting.

Have you ever tried planting grapefruit seeds? They can be grown successfully in a dish without a drainage hole, but will do even better in a small pot. Plant the seeds about an inch deep, keep the soil moist and then forget them. After you have given up hope that they are going to grow you will be surprised one morning to see the sturdy green shoots coming through the soil. The leaves are glossy and attractive and the small trees will do well without full sunlight and with very little care. Avocado seeds handled in the same manner will make good looking plants.

Next meeting, Friday, January 26th, the speaker will be Harry F. Cline of the Oregon State Extension Service. Mr. Cline's subject will be "Garden Pests." Do you remember the New Year's resolutions we all made to attend the club meetings and to help make our club a real live active one?
