TOWNSEND CLUB NEWS

By MRS. JOE UDEY

The Townsend club meets this week. Another important meeting Friday, March 22, and all committees are to turn in their reports.

Some more interesting flashes from Washington, D. C., dated March 13th—one from Rep. Martin Sweeney of Ohio—"Say, I don't mean maybe! That Townsend steering committee had some meeting. A few more meetings like that and with the way every one is getting disgusted with the social security act, we will find that we have two or three times the votes we had last time. The Townsend plan is a real scientific measure."

Another flash from Sen. Downey, following the inspiringly successful steering committee meeting. "The Townsend legislative staff is preparing a list of House members for each of your Townsend congressmen to solicit for signatures to our petition, the petition that will bring your bill on the floor of the House. The list consists of five names. The petition will be started in circulation this week. We expect more names the first day than even before. In fact, your representatives are so enthusiastic they set the goal for 110 the first day. The bill is open to amendment. There will be no "gag" rule and there is, therefore, no possible excuse for an honest friend of age security to withhold his signature from the petition. More of these flashes will be read Friday night at the meeting and you are welcome even though you are not a member.

The Townsend paper that has the new bill printed in it is now ready for distribution. Be sure and get one from a Townsend member. This being the last meeting of the

GARDEN CLUB CHATS

By Mrs. T. A. O'Grady

This is the second in a series of flower show notes planned in cooperation with Mrs. B. A. Doyle, chairman of the flower show committee. In order to make perfectly clear just what the judges will look for in the miniature class at our spring show we quote from "Judging the Amateur Flower Show" published by the National Council of State Garden Clubs.

"Scale is of the utmost importance in a true miniature. Consider the size of your container. The fundamental rules of design hold good for all flower arrangement though it is more difficult to arrange a small vase, as one must strive for and emphasize line without neglecting mass, and keep a balance without over crowding. A single stem must often do the work that several would in a larger composition. Remember in choosing flowers, that often their own foliage is unsuitable in point of size."

Webster's definition of the word miniature is "a representation on a much reduced scale." One of the best rules to follow in making an arrangement is that the arrangement should be once and a half the height of your container or once and a half the breadth of your container if the container be a low broad one. This same rule should hold true in the making of a miniature flower arrangement. This classification in the spring show is limited in size to six inches in the combined height or breadth of the arrangement and container. (This rule will be adhered to strictly.)

Small accessories will be allowed only if they are related to the arrangement and complete it by carrying out the design or accenting the color scheme. Again we quote from the book on "Judging the Amateur Flower Show": scale must take into consideration the size of the flowers and the foliage in relation to the container and to each other. Under design the line, balance, emphasis and originality should be considered as well as the artistic relation of the flowers and the container. Color interest may be achieved by either color harmony or color contrast.

The points used in judging this classification will be: Scale 50%; Design 30%; Color 20%; making a total of 100%.

Next meeting date will be March 22 at the library. Please bring spring catalogs and come prepared to discuss flower show problems.
