COLUMBIA NEWS

By Mrs. Baxter Hutchison

The affair given in the new club house Saturday night was the first social of the F. B. A. since the building was completed. The building now stands, welcoming all people within its reach to come and enjoy it. Old settlers had dreams of such a community center but no funds seemed available. Since the organization of the F. B. A. it has been quite apparent that more room was needed. The chairman of the park board at one time submitted similar plans, and hopes for P. W. A. funds for its construction, but were dropped as not feasible. Mrs. Miles Barager brought the idea to the front again when she was president, but the task of constructing the building fell to Mrs. Percy Corman's administration.

This was made possible when the Farm Bureau turned over for this purpose money obtained from the state highway commission. This amount added to the F. B. A. funds, labor was donated by Farm Bureau members and other friends, and an addition loan from the Farm Bureau made the dream of years come true.

Bill Trommerhouse was a visitor at the H. J. Ott home Sunday. He works with the Bonneville administration and is with the R.E.A. office at Yakima. He was here in the interest of the R. E. A. extension lines. He is a friend of the Ott's and visits here quite often.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Dunham were Pendleton visitors Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hammer, who a few months ago purchased a 20 acre farm in this district, have recently remodeled the house which they built at that time. They now have an addition of two rooms, casement windows replace the smaller ones, an outside finish of asbestos siding in white, a red roof, a matching foundation, and the surroundings are being leveled and landscaped, and will in time, no doubt, be one of the show places of the project. To view the place reminds one of a dream picture in the process of reality.
