

FARM CO-OPERATIVE DIVISION

A MESSAGE TO EVERY MEMBER.

F. B. AUXILIARY SETS MEETING

The next meeting of the Farm Bureau auxiliary will be held Friday, June 7, at the Columbia park hall. Mrs. Catherine Jendrzewski will be in charge of the business meeting and Mrs. May Getchell, Mrs. May Reed and Mrs. Grace Foster will serve the refreshments.

The auxiliary is sponsoring a cooked food and flower sale for Memorial day at Burnham's store Wednesday, May 29, for the 4-H scholarship fund.

Irrigon Grange Meets Saturday.

There will be a program by the Irrigon Grange Saturday evening, May 25. The social evening was changed to this date because of a school program. Everybody is welcome and the ladies are asked to bring cake and sandwiches, according to Mrs. H. W. Grim, president.

PRISCILLA SEWING CLUB HAS MEETING

Members of the Hermiston Priscilla Sewing club met Monday at the Julius Gimble home for the purpose of selecting a candidate for the 4-H summer school from that group. Mrs. Dorothy Bishop, home demonstration agent, was present and addressed the group on different matters pertaining to club work.

Miss Iva VanArsdale was selected as a full scholarship winner while Miss Donna Saylor received a half scholarship. Approximately 16 members were present. Mrs. Gimble served refreshments at the close of the meeting.

COLUMBIA GRANGE NOTES

Morton Tompkins, Oregon State Grange Overseer and representative from Bonneville dam, was guest speaker for Columbia Grange's open meeting Tuesday evening. Mr. Tompkins spoke at length on the several achievements to the West because of this great product of engineering science. He reviewed the purposes for the building of the dam, and used self explanatory charts based on facts to show that river transportation, because of the locks and Bonneville lake, has tripled from The Dalles to Portland. Twice the quantity of gasoline and oil is brought to Umatilla and even farther by barge as a result of improved river navigation. Because of lowered transportation rates, people of this area have benefited from more than a cent a gallon reduction in gasoline prices.

The tremendous amount of power generated at Bonneville is the by-product of the regulated water allowed to pass through the many gates of the dam. This power will be available to those groups who desire it at $17.50 a kilowatt year until January 1, 1942.

People in this area may have the power just as cheap as those living fifteen miles from the dam. This is called the "postage stamp rate" so that all people who desire cheap power from a government project may benefit.

Mr. Tompkins stated that it is a fact that in all districts where cooperative organizations have been formed to distribute power to their towns and districts at a cost about one-half of regular rates, increased use in homes and business, has put more electricity to work. He pointed out that the government wholesales the power, thus communities desiring the power must so organize themselves into a unit and then request power from the dam.

Following the discussion, a 40-minute talkie movie, "The River," was shown. It was a fine educational picture, requiring much thought and effort to secure the actual scenes that made the film so worthwhile.

Representatives from Westland and Stanfield Granges, Hermiston, Columbia and Westland communities were present. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ott arranged for this very fine evening.

PINE CITY NEWS

By Mrs. Bernice Wattenburger

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Neill entertained the senior class of the Heppner high school. All members of the class and teachers were present. Those helping with the serving were Mrs. John Healy, Mrs. Harold Wilkins, Mrs. Jim Daley and Mrs. Dan Lindsey.

Pine City grade school closed Friday with all passing in their grades.

Hermiston Co-op Cannery

Mrs. Lois Kent, teacher, left for her home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Harrison were Sunday dinner guests at the George Curran home in Lena.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Moore spent Sunday in Umatilla on a picnic with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wattenburger and son Freddie spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Wattenburger. On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Wattenburger and family joined them and spent the day fishing, coming home with 39 nice trout.

Ray Ayers is spending a week with his aunt, Miss Hazel Richey in Washington.

Charley Bartholomew spent Monday in Pasco.

A number of farmers on Butter Creek have started their first crop of haying this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Burl Coxen and family of Heppner called at the Roy Neill and Clayton Ayers homes.

Harvey Miller and Lloyd Rankin of the co-op of Lexington are putting some new machinery together for Roy Neill.

A number of rattlesnakes have been seen on the creek already this spring. Clayton Ayers has killed 5 so far with three of them being in the back yard. The last big one bit the dog, but at present the dog is recovering. Two have been killed on the John Harrison place. One was killed in their wash room.

Roy Neill started his sheep to the mountains at Wallowa Monday. Guy Moore is helping Ray Coxen take them through.

COW ELK PERMITS NOT AVAILABLE

Applications for special permits to shoot cow elk during the coming fall hunting season cannot be accepted at the present time due to the fact that the question of another open season on cow elk will not be determined until the July meeting of the Oregon State Game Commission.

During the past few weeks the Portland office of the commission has been flooded with applications accompanied with money orders and checks and all such applications are being returned to the senders by Frank B. Wire, state game supervisor.

"Until the commission reaches a decision as to whether there is to be another cow elk season, we cannot accept applications," said Supervisor Wire. "After that decision has been made and in the event that another season is decided upon, we must then determine the method of distribution of the permits so all applicants will be given a fair deal. Then we will make an announcement and will be ready to receive applications."

WHEAT CROP LOSS PROCEDURE GIVEN INSURED GROWERS

Oregon farmers who have taken out federal crop insurance on their wheat crop were reminded this week by the state AAA office in Corvallis to notify their county conservation offices immediately if their fields become damaged. The county office will send a crop insurance adjuster to inspect the damaged wheat.

If the adjuster reports a small or partial loss, due to drought, storm, insects, or other insurable causes, adjustment will be made after harvest. If he reports total or substantial total loss, however, immediate appraisal and payment can be made.

Payments will be made on the basis of "unavoidable" loss, it was pointed out. This means that where insect infestations appear, such as grasshoppers or crickets, an effort must be made to control them.

Farmers will have three options in receiving crop insurance indemnity payments:

(1) Immediate cash payment, equal to market value of insured wheat loss involved.

(2) Warehouse receipt for wheat due, if suitable stored wheat is available nearby.

(3) Deferred cash payment, with farmer specifying time within 90 days when he wishes crop insurance corporation to sell the wheat for him.

Oregon farmers have taken out 2011 crop insurance applications this year, giving "all-risk" protection on 298,731 acres of wheat. This guarantees an insured production of 3,712,272 bushels.

MORE HAIRY VETCH SEED TO BE GROWN IN STATE OF OREGON

More emphasis on hairy vetch seed production and less on field peas is in prospect for Oregon, says G. R. Hyslop, head of the plant industries division at Oregon State college. H. A. Schoth, federal agronomist at O. S. C., and others who have visited the south recently, report that Oregon-grown hairy vetch is in stronger favor there as a cover crop for cotton land than the Austrian winter field peas.

"Hundreds of thousands of acres of rather unproductive hill land in western Oregon, and some areas in eastern Oregon, can grow hairy vetch to better advantage than some crops now grown," said Professor Hyslop. "Many areas now classed as non-crop pasture land could be used to more than double the hairy vetch acreage in Oregon. Douglas county particularly has a lot of this type of land. We believe that the hairy vetch acreage in Oregon can be quadrupled."

Through the stimulus of a guaranteed minimum price by the AAA, the acreage of field peas has been increased this year to an estimated total of more than 70,000 acres, and that of hairy vetch to more than 50,000 acres.

AAA WHEAT LOAN PROGRAM ADDS MILLIONS IN INCOME

Pacific northwest wheat growers received fully two and a half million dollars additional income from their 1939 crop as a result of the federal commodity loan program, in the belief of Edgar L. Ludwick, Corvallis, wheat loan supervisor for northwest states.

Ludwick said that growers averaged about ten cents a bushel more for their wheat by taking out loans and awaiting a favorable market than they would have received had they sold immediately after harvest.

Federal commodity loans were made on approximately 24,000,000 bushels of wheat in the Pacific northwest. Loans averaged about 58 cents on the bushel. Oregon growers took out loans on about 5,750,000 bushels of wheat, Washington on 14,000,000 bushels, and Idaho on about 4,750,000 bushels.

Practically all this wheat, once held as security by the Commodity Credit corporation or local banks, has now been moved into regular market channels. Less than a million bushels of loan wheat is still unsold, he said, and this is in the form of farm stored wheat which will be resold and kept under loan.

VERA SISSON TO ENROLL AT O.S.C.

Oregon State College—Vera A. Sisson, graduate of Hermiston Union high school in 1938, is one of 72 to receive Oregon state board of higher education scholarships to attend O. S. C. next fall.

Ranking in the upper third of her class, the winner was highly recommended by W. G. Kersbergen, superintendent of Hermiston public schools, who commented on her scholastic ability, character ability, character and worthiness for the benefit of the high school contacts committee which makes the selections.

Miss Sisson was business manager of the annual and a member of the cast in the senior play and all-school play. The pep and glee clubs, Torch Honor society, tennis and basketball are other activities in which she participated.

At Oregon State Miss Sisson will take work in business administration. She will enroll on the campus for Freshman week, starting September 23.

HERMISTON BAPTIST CHURCH

Grayden D. Loree, Pastor
Our Sunday morning topic will be "What Do You See?" Two ladies were admiring a rose bush. One said, "What beautiful roses." The other said, "Yes, but see what great ugly thorns it has!" Our Christian character can be measured by our ability to look above the rough and ugly, and behold the beautiful and good.

Vivian Dyer will lead B.Y.P.U. at 7 o'clock. At 8 o'clock we continue our Bible study hour in the book of Genesis. This Sunday we take up chapter 2. Come and bring your questions.

PILGRIM HOLINESS CHURCH

Alice Norris, Pastor
The invitation to worship with us from Sunday to Sunday for several months has gone out over this city as well as the outlying districts. Have you availed yourself of this opportunity? If not there is a blessing you have missed indeed. "Come with us and we will do thee good."

This world is the only place where we will ever need, or be able to accept a gospel message. The preparation we make here will determine our destiny when we leave here. There will be no second chance.

Services at the usual hours.

METHODIST CHURCH

Stearns Cushing, Pastor
"America's Greatest Need" will be the central thought of the service for Memorial Day Sunday. As we remember, "Our Honored Dead" are we going to let their sacrifices be in vain? Given the leadership of vision, of knowledge, of conviction, of faith, of character and of religion, the kingdom of God will come, America's need will be met, and democracy will be a promise, an opportunity for the development of free men and free government.

Services at the usual hours.

PENTECOSTAL TABERNACLE

Rev. E. D. Greeley, Pastor
The Lord's Day services are: Bible school, 10 a. m. Classes for all. Preaching hour, 11 a. m. The pastor's subject Sunday will be "God's Plan for His People." You will be helped.

Evening meeting at 8. Lively song service, inspirational testimonies and fundamental preaching. You are welcome.
