IRENE DUNNE AND CARY GRANT IN 'MY FAVORITE WIFE'

A wife believed lost at sea returns to find her husband re-married. That's the unique basis on which "My Favorite Wife" has been constructed. Irene Dunne and Cary Grant are co-starred in this hilarious comedy of marital confusion, while Gail Patrick and Randolph Scott have other pivotal roles.

The streamlined marital entanglements revolve around the plight of a young attorney (Grant) whose lovely wife (Miss Dunne) has been missing for seven years as a result of a sea disaster. He has her declared legally dead and weds another woman. On the same evening the honeymooners are moving into a hotel suite they are overtaken by the first wife who has miraculously been rescued from a remote desert island. The distraught groom successfully hides his beloved first wife from his un-kissed bride and returns home to find that his premier mate spent seven years alone with a virile and handsome explorer on a Pacific island paradise.

"My Favorite Wife" will be shown Sunday and Monday, August 18 and 19 at the Oasis theatre.
