

Judged No. 1 from among ten skillful finalists after an afternoon of stiff competition held under the auspices of the National Farm Youth Foundation at the Walter Everest Hopyard near Newberg Monday. Leroy Nicewood of Halsey, Oregon, received not only top honors but also a new Ford Tractor and a two-bottom Ferguson System Plow as part of his prize award. Over 500 farm youths from Oregon, Washington, and Idaho have participated in this educational and job producing movement. Second prize honors were garnered by Harry Parker of Vancouver, Wash.; third prize by Buford E. Kroll of Colfax, Wash. Presentation being made to Young Nicewood (center) by F. E. Palate Poll Reflects 'Personality' of Eaters

While celebrities of stage, screen and radio profess a liking for epicurean dishes, the tastes of other public figures are for the more conventional foods. The preferences, which seem to prove that what you eat determines your personality, were collected in a "palate poll" conducted by the National Restaurant association.

Numbered among the gourmets are Bette Davis, Lillian Gish, Dorothy Lamour, Cecile B. De Mille and H. V. Kaltenborn. Miss Davis likes to start her "perfect dinner" with caviar and egg, Miss Gish with a "bit of DuBonnet," Miss Lamour with fresh shrimp served on cold artichoke leaves with whipped mayonnaise. Mr. De Mille votes for crab creole with sauterne as an appetizer and roast pheasant with burgundy for the entree, and Mr. Kaltenborn forgets about the European troubles of his radio broadcasts in a meal that starts with blue points on the half shell and winds up with cognac served in an inhaling glass.

But if you're entertaining a senator, congressman, governor, mayor, or sports notable, more common fare would be in order.

Gov. Keen Johnson of Kentucky submits a combination of tomato juice, old-fashioned bean soup, broiled steak, greens, beets, potatoes, head lettuce with Roquefort dressing, milk and ice cream with cake as his "company dinner," but breaks down and confesses under the heading of "remarks" that "my favorite menu really is: hog jowl, turnip greens, cornbread, navy beans, buttermilk and cherry pie"

Sen. Guy M. Gillette of Iowa casts a ballot for roast beef or steak, but admits that he is willing to trade either for meat pie. Sen. Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota says he likes his chicken soup thick and his vegetable soup thin.

Gov. Ralph L. Carr of Colorado adds this thought after listing his preferences: "Give me a glimpse of a Colorado sunset and as twilight falls over the Rockies, I would change places with no man on earth." Mayor Dan B. Butler of Omaha, Neb., prescribes a heavy repast and concludes under "remarks" that "after eating a meal like the above, too full for remarks." Mayor Brantly Harris of Galveston, Texas, also under "remarks," says: "A good couch to go to sleep on" suits him best after his favorite dinner. Mayor J. J. Kaufman of Tacoma, Wash., admonishes; "Don't forget the finger bowl."

Machine Now Can Show The Inside of Solids

A machine which enables scientists to look inside solid metal was described recently before the final session of the American Physical Society meeting.

Three Johns Hopkins university research workers reported the development of a double crystal spectrometer which makes possible new studies of the inner crystalline structure of metals and their alloys.

When X-rays are shot through pieces of metals the resulting photographs reveal exactly the arrangement of the crystals inside the metal. Dr. J. A. Bearden, Dr. T. M. Snyder and Dr. W. W. Beeman said.

A prediction that three "ghost" elements of matter will be found in the near future came from three other scientists.

The existence of these elements is indicated by tables of atomic weights, but they have eluded the best detective work of hundreds of research laboratory workers.

Chemical Fertilizer Is Born

Just 100 years ago a young and ambitious British scientist stood in an old barn at Rothamsted, England, treating old animal bones with sulphuric acid. At that hour the chemical fertilizer industry was born and a new age of agriculture had begun.

Many of the important contributions to modern industry have had humble beginnings and that is true of soil chemistry. Its laboratory was the Rothamsted barn and its first test case was a tiny turnip crop. Those British turnips planted in a small plot of ground proved what today the whole world knows. They demonstrated that the science of man could help things grow and that chemistry can provide better aids to plant growth than those supplied by nature. The scientist in his barn had, by treating bones with acid, created superphosphate, a product which is now produced, for fertilizer purposes, at a rate approximating 20,000,000 tons a year.

Unluckily Coat Fitted

Although he's rather dapper, George Allyn Spinks of the St. Louis Spinks wishes his overcoat wasn't such a perfect fit. He was picked up by Detectives Neil Rourke and Roy Carrier as a holdup man who weaved into a Chicago tavern, flashed a .38 revolver on Bartender Howard Lederer and reeled out with $4.

Spotting a lone drinker of Spinks' description in another tavern, the detectives asked him if an overcoat hanging on the wall was his. "Nope," said Spinks. "Try it on," ordered Rourke. The coat fitted as though it were made to order. A .38 revolver was in a pocket. So the trio returned to the first tavern where the bartender said Spinks was the man.

HERMISTON BAPTIST CHURCH

Our Sunday morning topic will be "Victory from Defeat." The cross was not the end of Christianity; it was the beginning. Our valleys of defeat can be transformed into the mountains of victory. It is no disgrace to be defeated, but it is cowardice to give up because of defeat. "You can't keep a good man down." One has said, "God cannot make pillars out of the defeated lives."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES DOCTRINE OF ATONEMENT was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 20. The Golden Text was, "Walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweet-smelling savour" (Eph. 5:2). Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Then came the Jews round about him, and said unto him, How long dost thou make us to doubt? If thou be the Christ, tell us plainly. Jesus answered them... 'I and my Father are one' (John 10:24, 30). The Lesson-Sermon also included the following correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Atonement is the exemplification of man's unity with God, whereby man reflects divine Truth, Life and Love. Jesus of Nazareth taught and demonstrated man's oneness with the Father, and for this we owe him endless homage" (p. 18). OFFICER'S MANUAL AVAILABLE FREE "A manual for officers and members of clubs and organizations, containing a simple outline of proper parliamentary procedure, has just been published by the Oregon State College extension service for free distribution," announces Miss Frances Weston, Home Demonstration Agent in Umatilla county. The manual was prepared by Mrs. Azalea Sager, state home demonstration leader, especially for use by home economics units and study clubs. It is applicable, however, to any ordinary organization. Aside from a guide to parliamentary procedure, it includes lists of duties of various officers and model constitutions and by-laws for use in county home extension organizations. "Parliamentary procedure has grown out of the background of democracy in practice. For this reason some method of parliamentary practice is needed by every group or organization in a democratic country."
