

PROTECTION

In collective ownership with democratic control and management of the processes of production, distribution and exchange of wealth, lies protection for the common people against the powerful minorities whose aim is to exploit the consuming public for their own selfish gain.

We have many laws such as our pure food and drug acts, standard container laws, etc., which give us some protection against being cheated and poisoned for the satisfaction of capitalist greed. People should realize however, that the most effective regulation can only be established through collective ownership by the people themselves.

The cooperative movement because it places ownership and control in the hands of the people, is proving itself an effective control of monopoly and a real protection against exploitation. It therefore deserves the support of all forward looking people, for in cooperative enterprise lies the goal of the greatest good for the greatest number.

GARDEN CLUB CHATS

by Mrs. Vera Doyle

Friday, October 25, we begin our study class again on arrangements, botany and horticulture. We shall meet in the library basement at 2:30 p. m. You are all urged to attend because we find in our round table discussions during our business meetings that many subjects come up that our study group has discussed and studied.

Report house plants in good, rich soil and move them to a protected place for a day or two before bringing them inside, so as to gradually acustom them to house conditions. Two species of beetles feed on asparagus tops. The common asparagus beetle is blue-black with three white spots and an orange margin on each wing. The grubs feed on the leaves and stalks. There are from two to five generations. The 12-spotted asparagus beetle is reddish-brown or orange with 6 black spots on each wing cover. The larvae feed on the berries of the fruiting plants. There are two generations a year.

To fight both kinds spray or dust new beds with arsenate of lead. After the cutting season spray or dust two or three times with lead or calcium arsenate. Poultry allowed the run of the asparagus patch will keep beetles under control, but in this case do not spray with poisons.

Litmus paper, obtainable from your druggist, inserted in a cupful of moistened soil will prove if it alkaline or acid. If the blue paper turns red, the soil is acid; if the red paper turns blue, the soil is alkaline; while if either paper turns purple it indicates neutral conditions.

Signs of alkaline poisoning in acid-soil plants are: drooping, yellowing and falling of leaves; lack of root growth; poor health not otherwise explainable. Solution of one part commercial tannic acid to 50 parts water may be used for acid loving plants.

Plants that need a decidedly acid soil, crysanthemum, fir, pine, lupine, marigold, radish, raspberry, rhododendron and azalea, and a much longer list of plants are listed in the Garden Encyclopedia at the library.

Alkaline soil plants may become stunted, sickly and yellow or reddish in acid soil. Lime, limestone or bonemeal should be added to counteract the acidity.

MOYER-FUITEN

At an impressive candlelighted marriage ceremony solemnized in the Heppner Methodist church at 5:00 o'clock Sunday evening, Miss Florence Moyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Moyer of Hermiston, became the bride of John Fuiten, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Fuiten of Forest Grove, with Rev. James Wilkins performing the marriage service, assisted by Rev. Sterl D. Spiez.

Miss Mary Jane Fuiten, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid, wearing a rose crepe gown, also princess style.

Elmer Moyer, brother of the bride, was best man.

Attending the service from Hermiston were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Moyer, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Moyer, Anna Belle Moyer, Miss Lily Moyer, Miss Marian Casady and Dellie Moyer. Mr. Fuiten is employed at the M. L. Case Furniture Co. in Heppner and the young couple will make their home there.

JUNIOR GARDEN CLUB ACTIVE

The Columbia Junior Garden club members have been active this fall. A committee of boys prepared the soil for the bulb garden and planted hyacinths, daffodils and tulips for springtime joy. Other committees planted hyacinths, Chinese lilies and paper white narcissus bulbs in attractive bowls of rocks. They are rooted well, have vigorous stems and are now in the light.

Members are planting bulbs in bowls at home and taking slips of geraniums or other house plants to have ready for Christmas gifts. Still others are planning to make attractive seed packets to hold seeds from their own flower gardens to be used as gifts.

Election of officers will be held in November. Clayton Buell is now serving as chairman, since both president and vice president are now high school students.

 opportunities for jobs than the youth of today. They had a nation to build—what is there for all the youth today in this great machine age? The big problem is what are we going to do with all our youth today?

There is enough money to start all wheels turning if the Townsend plan is enacted and we will work. This is all we ask, a chance to make something of our lives. Youth wants to build, create and make homes.

Give us this chance, something to defend and we will take care of it. Youth feels we have enough trouble at home without crossing the waters to fight other nations' battles. We love our liberty more than our lives, that is why we don't want to lose faith in America. Keep politics below Townsendism and Americanism. Go to the polls and make your vote worthwhile for the Townsend candidate.

If our plan is to come at all, it must come quickly—now, to save the youth of the land. The youth challenge the older clubs. Before the next convention youth will try to have a larger membership than the older clubs. We intend to take the burden off the heads of the older people and make the Townsend plan the law of the land."

The next local club meeting will be in the Legion hall October 25. Everyone is welcome and especially the members are urged to be present.

Hunter of Milton, republican, is attempting to gain the seat of Commissioner Will Meiners, democrat, Raley Peterson, young Pendleton attorney, is carrying the democrat banner in a race against incumbent A. C. McIntyre, republican. For sheriff, veteran Robert E. Goad, democrat, is attempting to retain his post against the opposition, J. H. Estes, republican.

No other contests occur in the county, with County Assessor D. W. Davis having the two-party nomination, and with J. A. Yeager, school superintendent, without opposition on the non-partisan ballot.

Locally the interest somewhat picked up this week when a petition for B. Haneline appeared on the streets, nominating him for a seat in the council. Holdover councilmen who have voiced their opinion as willing to be re-elected are: Monte Hedwall, Al Quiring, N. R. Mueller, George Harkenrider, R. A. Brownson and W. L. Morgan. These names, with that of Haneline, will appear on the ballot, with six to be elected.

To date no opposition has been listed for the office of mayor, recorder, treasurer and justice of peace. Incumbents respectively are F. C. McKenzie, Charles Taylor, Mrs. Gertrude Sanders and E. P. Dodd. Friday is the deadline for filing of petitions for names to appear on the ballot.

Registration for city election has progressed rapidly during the week. It is necessary that each voter be registered separately for the city election and may be done either at the office of Recorder Charles Taylor, the Herald office or with Mrs. Gertrude Sanders.
