RURAL BUILDERS MAY RECEIVE AID FROM EXTENSION

Farm families planning to build new homes will find considerable help in materials now available at a county agent's office, some of which have been especially adapted to Oregon conditions, says Herbert R. Sinnard, experiment station architect at Oregon State college.

A U.S.D.A. publication No. 319, entitled "Plans of Farm Buildings for Western States," is one recent plan book available. These plans have been developed jointly by state experiment station architects and engineers of the United States department of agriculture. Various Oregon bulletins are also available on detailed suggestions for the rural home with special emphasis on kitchen planning.

After building plans have been talked over and decided upon, actual working drawings of the plans shown in the U.S.D.A. publication may be obtained through the agricultural engineering department at Oregon State college for a nominal charge. These blueprints show enough detail to be used in actual construction.

Designs suited to the western region have been carefully worked out for houses of different sizes, says Sinnard. Regardless of the size of a farm house or its cost, it is best to build the type suited to the local climate and adapted to neighborhood practice, he adds. Conditions in Oregon vary greatly, as some sections are hilly, others are flat, and in some parts of the state insulation is needed while in others it is less important. Because of regional building customs and designs, usually based on sound experience, it is well to consult someone with experience in the locality before building. Sinnard believes.

The plan books available at the county agents' offices include many structures besides houses. There are layouts for general purpose and livestock barns, different kinds of shelters for dairy cattle, horses, sheep and hogs, as well as plans for equipment and poultry houses. Other plans may be obtained for roadside stands, milk houses, smoke houses, community halls, cabins and many others.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"GOD THE ONLY CAUSE AND CREATOR" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Dec. 8.

The Golden Text was, "Every house is builded by some man; but he that built all things is God" (Hebrews 3:4).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "But now thus saith the Lord that created thee, O Jacob, and he that formed thee, O Israel, Fear not. Even every one that is called by my name: for I have formed him; yea, I have made him" (Isa. 43:1,7).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "This creation consists of the unfolding of spiritual ideas and their identities, which are embraced in the infinite Mind and forever reflected. These ideas range from the infinitesimal to infinity, and the highest ideas are the sons and daughters of God" (p. 502).

TED HAMMER IS HONORED GUEST

Ted Hammer was very much surprised Saturday afternoon when a group of little neighbor girls and boys gathered at his home to help him celebrate his ninth birthday. There were eight little boys and eight little girls and nine grownups present. They were Marilyn Shaver, Leon Elwood, Donita Dixon, Jack Osborne, Carole Hammer, Melvin Ezell, Rita Blinston, Dick Hammer, Teddy Shaver, Louise Hammer, Clyde Hughes, Peggy Neill, Lois Elwood, Clarence Hughes, Rosalie Hammer and Ted Hammer. The grownups were Vyola and Gloria Hammer, Mrs. E. Shaver, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Elwood, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hammer and Mr. and Mrs. L. Hammer.

The little girls enjoyed inside games while the boys played football with a ball Ted received for a present.

Plates were laid on the long table brightly lighted with candles and a white cake with nine bright red candles was the centerpiece.

Capital Stock Fire Insurance Removes All Risk

YOU take out fire insurance for one purpose . . . to protect yourself against financial loss. Yet you are not completely protected if your policy is the type that fails to safeguard you in case the company suffers abnormal losses. Conflagrations are always apt to occur. No one can foresee them. They mean huge losses . . . losses that must be paid by someone.

If your policy is issued by a CAPITAL STOCK FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY, you are protected against having to pay any part of the losses except through your premium. Backed by cash capital and adequate surplus, at all times you receive 100% protection against financial loss.

That is why four out of five people choose CAPITAL STOCK COMPANY FIRE INSURANCE in preference to other types. That is the kind YOU should have. We'll be glad to confer with you about it.
