P. P. & L. TELLS OF COMPANY POLICY

Members of the Pacific Power & Light company organization who volunteer or are called up for military training will be granted a year's leave of absence and assured restoration of their position at the conclusion of their service, according to a company statement of national defense policy announced today by John Clarke, local agent.

The importance of utmost cooperation in national defense, from the standpoint both of military training and education and of mobilization of industry, is stressed in the policy statement. Through well-planned system development and interconnections the company already is fully prepared to meet defense power needs in its territory.

Group life insurance coverage also will be extended during the one-year period of military service under an agreement reached with the insurance company. The full premium will be paid by the Pacific company during the leave period.

In addition, full pay for the customary vacation period falling during the year's leave of absence will be given the member of the organization when his leave starts. In line with its plan to reinstate members of the organization in their old positions, or positions of equal status, upon expiration of the training period, the company announced that any individuals employed to fill vacancies will be taken on a purely temporary basis. A written understanding to that effect will be required of all such temporary employees.

As 1940 draws to its end, we add our voices to the ever-swelling chorus of "Merry Christmas to You All."
