

Many Aids Make Task Of Homemaker Pleasant

The homemaker of today has many aids to make her task easy and pleasant, and not the least of these is the supply of ready-to-serve meats which is in the shops, waiting to be transferred to her table or to be kept on hand on her emergency shelf for unexpected guests or quick family meals.

One advantage this array of cooked meats, meat loaves and sausages affords is that they can be very attractively arranged. The cold meat platter can be as colorful and dainty and pleasing to the eye as your center-piece of flowers. With thin slices of the roast or meat loaf cooked in your own oven, you can obtain variety by choosing several slices of different kinds of ready-to-serve meats.

Don't forget to include slices of various sausages when making up your meat platter. We are becoming quite sophisticated in our tastes in recent years and are making use more and more of the great variety of sausages, available in this country introduced from various parts of Europe where they originated.

With the popularity of buffet service for luncheons, supper parties, and for easy porch meals so delightful during the summer, the cold meat platter has become more and more important as the center of the meal, and hostesses are taking pride in the pretty arrangements they can achieve.

But the use of these ready-to-serve meats is by no means limited to the buffet meal or to serving them sliced cold. They can be heated alone or in combination with vegetables, and used in many tempting and easily prepared main dishes.

'Buck-Passing' Is Natural For Persons of All Ages

When a woman realizes that her next birthday will take her out of the youthful twenties, and make her 30 years old, she becomes jittery and fearful of entering this new decade. Vaguely, she worries lest she may have missed something important in life. She hungers for romance, fearing that old age may soon be upon her, when she erroneously believes romance cannot exist. Women are dangerous and in danger at this time, for they subconsciously flirt with the idea of more romance. If their husbands aren't feeding them a heavy romantic diet of compliments about their youth and beauty, they may even entertain the thoughts of some secret flirtations.

There is, moreover, an old saying that it takes a thief to catch a thief. This means, in substance, that guilty people tend to believe others are guilty. When a person begins to accuse others falsely and to excess, we often find such behavior is an evidence of "projection," or of blaming the other party for our own faults.

When a child awkwardly strikes his shin against a chair, he doesn't blame himself, but grows angry at the chair, maybe giving it an additional kick for retaliation. Even adult men will throw a hammer on the floor when they have pounded their thumb with it. In the army when the captain reprimands the lieutenant, the latter scolds the corporal, who then bawls out the private, who finally kicks the mule.

This buck-passing is called "projection," meaning the act of blaming another person for our own sins or faults.

Boys Strike When Girls Use Salt in Lemonade

They had a wagon, the two little girls, one of those express wagons most children own before they take it apart to make two other things out of it.

This one was in pretty fair condition, and at the moment was supporting a large cracked pitcher full of a pale liquid in which a few mysterious things were floating, and two jelly glasses, one large, one small. In case anyone might not understand the significance of these props, a sign leaning against the wagon explained all:

LIMONADe
..... Big GLASS 4c
..... SMAL GLASS 2c

The two little girls stood proudly on either side of the wagon and took turns calling their wares. "Lemonade! Two cents! Lemonade! Four cents a big glass! They also took turns sampling just to make sure their product continued up to standard.

Up to this time the story is quite usual. But presently up the street came three small boys each bearing a cardboard sign on a stick. The lettering on the signs, executed in what appeared to be shoe-black ink, read:

GIRLS UNFAIR To Boys.
BEWARE, GIRLS USE SALT IN LeMonaDe.

Business apparently was affected by this labor trouble. There were no customers in evidence.

Plan Rooms for Exposure

The influence of geographic location can have considerable effect on a home and should be considered when planning room exposures.

In localities where winters are long and severe, a compact plan and low ceilings are said to be desirable to permit ease of heating with economy. In such locations full advantage of the radiant heat of the sun is desirable in as many rooms as possible, as well as some form of protection from cold winds.

In a warm climate the opposite is required and less compact plans are needed in order to take advantage of prevailing breezes and to secure cross and through ventilation in as many rooms as possible. In this case protection from the heat of the sun is needed, and the most desirable rooms are those which are cool and shaded.

Don't Be Too Smart

One way to keep the other fellow from marking you down as dumb or misinformed is to confine your positive, unqualified opinions to the subject or subjects on which you are an authority. When the talk is down your alley be as positive as you like, but when it gets around to the other fellow's field, let him tell you.

The reason this simple rule is so hard to follow is that the average fellow is afraid to admit he doesn't know everything about everything. He is afraid that if he asks questions and try to learn from the other fellow, he'll think he is smarter. Proof that nothing like that happens occurs all the time. A man or woman will spend two hours listening to another person explain the subject in which he is most interested, interrupting only to ask an intelligent question. And the other fellow will say, "There's a smart person."

Pies in Refrigerators

A device you may borrow from commercial pastry makers is that of holding ready-to-bake pies in the refrigerator for an hour or more before baking. The thoroughly chilled pie, when baked, will have a more tender crust than a pie which enters the oven at room temperature.

New Clerk, Perhaps

Mrs. Newwed—Henry, I thought you told me that your bank loaned money on notes? Mr. Newwed—So it does, dear, why? Mrs. Newwed—Well, it doesn't. I sent the maid down there with a note telling them I wanted to borrow $100 and they wouldn't give it to her.

Royal Family of Stuart Knew Great Misfortune

If you look into the history of a royal family, you may find a great deal of adventure and sadness, but you will have to search a long time to match the story of the house of Stuart.

Eight centuries ago, a young noble was sent to Scotland by the English king. The Normans had held power in England for nearly 100 years and had obtained some control over the Scots.

The young noble was named Walter, and he was given a great deal of land in Scotland. The king also gave him the office of steward of Scotland.

Walter's son held the same office, and so did his grandson and great grandson. That is the reason for the family name of the house of Stewart or Stuart, and that is how it is most often spelled in history books.

As time went on, the Stuarts came to feel more Scottish than English. They fought in battles for the freedom of Scotland.

In the year 1315 one of the Stuarts married a princess, Marjorie, the daughter of Robert Bruce. A son of this marriage at length came to the Scottish throne.

From that time onward there was a line of Stuart kings in Scotland. It is a tale of strange tragedy.

Later came Mary Queen of Scots, who was three times a widow and was held prisoner for 20 years.

Then came a quick change of fortune. The son of Mary Queen of Scots was given the English throne, ruling both England and Scotland.

Teach Children to Cross Streets, Parents Advised

Selection by parents of the best and safest route to the store and to school for small children will help greatly in reducing chances for child traffic accidents.

Eventually the child must use the street unguarded. Isn't it a parent's duty to teach the child how to use streets safely just as much as it is a duty to teach him how to dress? Since children are prone to imitate grownups, a parent's own actions in traffic will have a great deal to do with the actions of the children.

Whenever possible the most hazardous crossings should be avoided. Walk with the child over the route to be followed—and explain why that route is best; why others are dangerous. One very effective way of teaching small children the safe way to use the streets and avoid traffic accidents is used by many parents. They take a walk with the youngster and play a game at the street crossings by letting the child observe traffic conditions, conducting the parent across the street.

Sometimes it will be impossible to choose a route with all crossings protected. In such cases, parents should explain the importance of looking in all directions, and of always looking to the left just before stepping off the curb, and looking to the right at the center of the street before completing the other half of the crossing. Explain where the child should be especially watchful and why.

Device for Deflecting Glare

An attorney of Sumter, S. C., has recently obtained a patent on a device for automobiles that reflects car lights over the head of the driver and at the same time gives him clear visibility on meeting a brightly lighted automobile traveling in the opposite direction. Harmon D. Moise, who lays claim to this invention, explains the device as being a thin, transparent device, attachable to an automobile windshield, which is glued to the inside of the windshield, with the thin edge downward, deflecting the light rays upward over the driver's head. The first prisms were made of glass, but recently he has been experimenting with a plastic substance which is as clear as glass and less fragile, and which will probably last longer.

Treaty of Versailles

It is commonly asserted that the Treaty of Versailles terminated hostile relations between all the warring powers engaged in the 1914-18 World War. The truth is that this treaty concluded the war only for Germany and the Allies when it was signed on June 28, 1919. Peace between Austria and the Allies was signed September 10, 1919; between Bulgaria and the Allies on November 27, 1919; between Hungary and the Allies on June 4, 1920; between Turkey and the Allies on August 10, 1920; and between the United States and the Central Powers (Germany, Austria and Hungary) on August 25, 1921—nearly three years after the armistice was signed.

Scant Bloom of Wistaria

Wistaria seedlings some times take six or seven years to make up their minds and produce racemes of flowers. To insure immediate flowering, plant grafted stock or layered cuttings from proven plants.

Other reasons for lack of blooms, is too rich a soil, lack of sunshine or too much water. If growth is too rampant, withhold feeding and prune the long runners to within three or four buds from the old wood stock. Repeated pruning now will force the formation of flower buds. If these precautions fail, then next fall prune the roots by spading down 12 inches deep at a distance of 18 inches from the main trunk.

HOW CAN HOGS MAKE MORE GAIN ON LESS FEED?

Our test hogs always make more gain on less feed when Dr. Hess HOG SPECIAL is added to the ration. They gain as much as 4 lbs. more per hog per month on 1/2 less supplement and 1/10 less grain!

Hog Special is a two-job product. First it supplies tonics which help stimulate body functions. And the hog is usually able to make better use of feed.

Hog Special also supplies essential minerals. These Hog Special minerals are iron, iodine, copper, calcium and phosphorus. These minerals are needed for good health and good gains.

Tonics and minerals—a two-job product. Don't let anybody try to convince you a product containing only minerals is as good as Hog Special.
