smallpox produces a scar. A scar which persists at the point of a former vaccination would indicate that the person is satisfactorily protected, and will need no further vaccination unless especially advocated by the physician.

Diphtheria inoculations do not leave a scar, and are usually given in two doses at six to eight week intervals. After the two doses have been given the protection is determined by the use of the simple skin test called the schick test.

Children who have been definitely known to have had previous inoculations for diphtheria would profit by having a schick test to determine how well protected they are from diphtheria, or how susceptible they are to the disease. Children past eight (8) years of age cannot get diphtheria immunizations in group clinics, but will have to go to their private physicians as this age group require smaller doses given over a longer period of time.

Whether or not smallpox or diphtheria will occur in Hermiston will depend on the whole hearted cooperation of the people of the community.

CENTRAL CHURCH OF CHRIST

C. Warner, Pastor

The sermon topic for Sunday morning will be "Now Is The Day of Salvation."

The Christian Endeavor societies of eastern Oregon meet annually at Emigrant Springs for a mountain-top retreat. We are dismissing our Sunday evening service in favor of the retreat which is being held this Sunday afternoon and evening.

The official board of the church will meet Monday evening, September 1.

WHEAT MARKET QUOTAS CERTAIN

Umatilla county farmers may plan their winter wheat seedings this fall with the knowledge that wheat marketing quotas are almost certain to be in effect for the 1942 crop, according to A. R. Coppock, chairman of the Umatilla county AAA committee.

Despite marketing quotas this year, a bumper crop and further shrinkage of exports have combined to give the United States the largest wheat supply in history. "Farmers are apt to forget the present price of wheat results from the 85 per cent loan made possible because a large percentage of growers supported marketing quotas," the chairman said. "They need only to look at the overcrowded warehouses and embargoes on shipments to all major terminal elevators for confirmation of the fact that the surplus is still with us."

Quotas have already been proclaimed for 1942 by the Secretary of Agriculture, and unless they are rejected by growers voting at a referendum next spring, they are certain to be in effect, and growers should plan their seedings accordingly.

The chairman also reminded growers of provisions of the 1942 agricultural conservation program which make seeding with acreage allotments important. There will be no tolerance in 1942. Instead, provision has been made for a 10 per cent reduction in parity payments for each 1 per cent that the allotment is overseeded.

However, the chairman warned, no overseeded farm will be eligible for wheat loans, and all farms seeded in excess of acreage allotments will have excess wheat under marketing quotas.

All county wheat growers are being contacted now (or will be contacted soon) to sign winter wheat plans for their farms. These plans, which signify the grower's intention to participate in the 1942 agricultural conservation program, must be signed before October 31st.

MORMONS PLAN TO OPEN CHURCH

Two young "Mormon" missionaries of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints visited Hermiston last Thursday to study the prospects of establishing a branch of the church in this city. The missionaries will return again tomorrow evening (Friday, August 29th) to conduct a special meeting at 7:00 p. m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ferrel Murrey whose residence is 214 Turtletown. All members of the church who are now living in the vicinity of Hermiston are cordially invited to attend this cottage gathering as special plans and arrangements for a local organization of the church will be discussed.

The two 21-year-old missionaries, now stationed at Pendleton, Elders Lorin G. Folland and John D. Evans, are from Salt Lake City, Utah, the headquarters of the so-called "Mormon Church." They are two of over 2,500 young men and women, who at their own expense are out dedicating two years of their life to missionary work. Upon completion of two years of proselyting, the young people return to their homes to take their places in the various walks of life. Since the Mormon church has no paid ministry, and an entirely voluntary missionary system, these young men have had no theological training other than their own study and attendance at church meetings. Elders Folland and Evans will be working between Pendleton and Hermiston for the next few weeks. In the very near future two other missionaries will work permanently here in Hermiston.

Some Figure!

Shapely Darlene White, Union Pacific hand drum majorette, stands on the rubber bumper to point to the spectacular "Mars" headlight, a new device on two new 6,000 horsepower Diesel-electric locomotives now being tested by the Union Pacific and which will pull two new 18-car transcontinental streamliners—City of Los Angeles and City of San Francisco. The headlight throws an oscillating beam in the form of a "figure 8" for a quarter of a mile on either side of the track.
