SEED PRODUCTION FOR OREGON LAST YEAR SETS RECORD

Detailed figures just issued by counties and districts show that Oregon harvested in 1940 the greatest crop of forage seeds in its history, which brought farmers of the state a total cash income of at least $6,228,600, compared with $4,854,000 in 1939. The figures are contained in a new extension circular No. 375, "Forage Seed Crops, 1940," issued by the O.S.C. extension service in cooperation with the United States department of agriculture.

The marked increase in seed production last year was caused mostly by the sharp expansion in acreage of winter legumes for cover crop seed purposes, although important increases were registered in several kinds of grass and clover seeds. The only seed crop of importance showing a decline in acreage was red clover.

The widespread production of forage crop seeds in Oregon is emphasized by the fact that county statistics show that the leadership in the various seeds is scattered among many counties, both east and west of the Cascades.

Washington county led in the production of Austrian winter pea seed, with a cash income of $392,300 out of a state total of $1,335,000. In hairy vetch production Yamhill county topped the list with a cash income of $387,000 out of a state total of $1,630,000. Polk county led in the production of common vetch, while Douglas county produced most outside of the Willamette valley.

In alsike clover Klamath county is far in the lead with a cash income of $228,500 out of a state total of $500,000. Linn county led in western Oregon. Josephine is the biggest ladino clover seed producer with $94,000 cash income.

Other county leaders are crimson clover, Clackamas county; alfalfa, Malheur county; ryegrass, Linn county; chewings fescue and tall fescue, Marion county, and bent grass, Clatsop county.

Now—more than 12 million telephone calls a day!

THE number of telephone calls we handle on the Pacific Coast has mounted to over twelve million a day!

Each telephone call must be made to order—on a moment's notice...manufactured and delivered in a matter of seconds.

That's a big job—but it's only part of the job we're doing today as the West hits its stride on National Defense work. Add to this a program of plant additions, this year, in excess of $70,000,000 of which expenditures for new construction alone will be over $57,000,000.

We are making an all-out drive of man power, materials and money to supply the kind of telephone service that will help the Pacific Coast speed its part of America's biggest job.
