HEPPNER READY TO PLAY HOST TO BIG E.O.W.L. MEETING

HEPPNER—The city of Heppner is ready to provide adequate accommodations for, and otherwise play host to what is expected to be one of the largest and most important meetings of the Eastern Oregon Wheat League here December 4 to 6, reports Charles W. Smith, secretary of the league, who recently met with the local committee, headed by E. H. Miller. Both business houses and home owners are cooperating, and arrangements have been made to accommodate the largest banquet in the 15 years' history of the league.

The program and committee sessions this year will be of exceptional interest and importance to all wheat growers of the Pacific northwest points out President S. J. Culley of Weston. Assurances have been received that one or more national leaders from the U. S. department of agriculture will be out from Washington, D. C., and make this wheat league meeting the occasion for major addresses or announcements of policy. In addition to Oregon wheat growers, those from neighboring states may be present in fairly large numbers as well.

Among the subjects to receive special attention, according to Culley, are the following:

- (1) The contributions that wheat growers can make toward helping supply needed food for defense.
- (2) Crops that may be grown to further the production of more pork on wheat farms.
- (3) What to do about the probable labor and machinery shortages.
- (4) The situation with respect to the forthcoming second vote on wheat marketing quotas.
- (5) Problems in connection with farm storage of wheat unable to obtain warehouse or terminal storage.
- (6) Practical methods of perennial weed control without loss of use of the land.

A special feature also will be the display and judging of pens of lambs fattened on wheat by 4-H club members.
