already yielded more than two billion dollars. "Purchase of these bonds which may be obtained for as little as $18.75 for the $25 ten-year bond, now becomes the first duty of every citizen. Oregon already has a carefully organized plan for sale and promotion of defense savings bonds, every county has its committee. The state committee composed of 45 leading citizens of Oregon also stands ready. Members of our staff which includes all committeemen throughout the state are urged to carry on and work to the utmost of their ability. "Defense savings bonds are on sale at all banks, post offices and savings and loan associations. Defense savings stamps in denominations from 10c up may also be purchased in retail stores and other places of business. "A plan which makes it possible for employees to purchase bonds on the installment plan from their salary has been worked out and is already in operation in many firms. Workers can greatly aid the program if they will enroll under this plan at once and urge their employers to adopt it where it has not yet been installed. "Complete information on purchase of bonds and stamps and installation of payroll allotment plan of purchase may be obtained at the defense bond staff headquarters, 722 Bedell Building, Portland, Oregon.

OREGON CITIZENS URGED TO PURCHASE DEFENSE STAMPS

Citizens of Oregon eager to take a tangible and active part in the war activities can be of greatest aid at this time by purchasing defense savings bonds and by promoting this important phase of financing the military program of the United States, declared Palmer Hoyt, Portland, state chairman of the defense savings staff, in a statement received here today.
