

F. S. GREEN AGAIN WINNER IN CORN SHOW AT COLLEGE

Gerald Cox of Rt. 2, Albany, is the new sweepstakes champion corn grower of Oregon as a result of winning out in stiff competition at the fifth annual state corn show held at Oregon State college. Cox succeeds Clayton Nyberg of Tualatin, last year's sweepstakes winner.

Corn displayed at this year's show was of exceptionally high quality, despite the fact that this was a rather poor year for field corn production in some parts of the state, according to the judges. Almost as many exhibits were in as were shown last year, even though the state show was revived hurriedly after having been once abandoned.

C. I. Sersanos, chairman of the agricultural committee of the Portland chamber of commerce and donor of the sweepstakes trophy, announced that he was certain that Portland business men would continue to join with Oregon farm organizations and Oregon State college in backing the state show.

C. A. Marsh, twice previously state corn husking champion, won this honor for the third time and took permanent possession of the trophy. Following are the winners in the various classes and districts:

Open class champion — Harvey Freitag, Albany, who was winner in district 2; Katie Lucht, Molalla, first place, district 1; Azola Weaver, Canyonville, first place, district 3.

Hybrid class—Gerald Cox, class champion and winner of district 2; Bernard Seus, Hillsboro, winner, district 1; H. B. Wilcoxon, Willow Creek first place, district 3.

Hybrid yield contest—F. S. Green, Stanfield, champion, 119 bushels per acre; C. W. Edwards, Junction City, winner district 1, 85.9 bushels per acre.

Four-H class—Allvin Heard, Lookingglass, champion and district 3 winner; James Kincheloe, Beaverton, first place, district 1; Walter Bidwell, Albany, first place, district 2. FFA class—Jack Heinz, Canby, champion, and winner district 1; Everett Zeller, Albany, first place, district 2; Bernard Ingie, Ontario, first place, district 3.

COLUMBIA NEWS

By Mrs. Bob Woodward

A group of ladies of the Farm Bureau Auxiliary met at the club rooms Tuesday afternoon to sew for the Red Cross and plan a series of regular meetings for this purpose.

About fifty members attended the Farm Bureau meeting at the Columbia club rooms Monday evening and enjoyed a pot luck supper served by the ladies of the organization. H. K. Dean of the experiment station gave a talk on farm problems and equipment. Sam Moore, organizer for the Hermiston Civilian defense groups, was present and gave an instructive talk on local defense plans.

Harold Woodward, formerly of this district, enlisted as a volunteer at the Walla Walla recruiting station last Saturday and departed from there Monday, unassigned, for an induction station with sixteen other volunteers. Mrs. Ruth Thelander of Nebraska is visiting here with her brother Oscar Dixon.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Byers of Salem were overnight guests at the Elmer Dixon home last week.

Sunday visitors at the W. R. Struthers home were Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Patrige and son Linnie of Pendleton, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Struthers of Butter Creek, and J. A. Witten of Echo.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Garberding were Sunday dinner guests at the E. Ebson ranch home near Lexington.

Mr. and Mrs. Myrnie Caldwell were Pendleton visitors Monday. Mrs. Caldwell is spending several days at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Reuber in Stanfield.

H. G. McCulley is at present employed on the construction of a guard house at the R.E.A. substation.

Mrs. Lester Hammer reports that she has received word from her daughter, Mrs. Hugh Neill, that they have arrived at their new home in Oceanside, Cal., that they had a fine trip and are enjoying very much the warm climate there.

Recent callers at the C. L. Upham home were Mr. and Mrs. Claude Moser of Hermiston and their son Earnest Moser of Camp Bowie, Texas, who is spending a thirty day furlough with his parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. George Barker and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Metzger who have resided in this neighborhood for several months are leaving this week. The Barkers will go to Wallace, Idaho, and Mr. and Mrs. Metzger to Portland.

Miss Bessie Hammer, who has been quite ill at Salem, is reported to be able to return to her work at the hospital there.

Along the Diagonal: Let's all remember, neighbors, to send that holiday greeting to Mrs. Duane Lathrop at the State Tuberculosis hospital in The Dalles . . . out of twelve lighted houses visible from our viewpoint last Sunday evening, five remained lighted during the black-out . . . can't we do better than that?
