

Many Husbands 'Spoiled'
By Wife's Poor Cooking

A good many husbands are utterly spoiled by mismanagement in cooking, and so are not tender and good. Some women go about it as if their husbands were bladders and blow them up—others keep them constantly in hot water—and others let them freeze by their carelessness and indifference. Some keep them in a stew by irritating ways and words—others waste them. Some keep them in pickle all their lives.

It cannot be supposed that any husband will be tender and good if managed in this way, but they are really extremely delicious when properly managed.

See that the linen in which you wrap him is nicely washed and mended, and has the required number of buttons and strings neatly sewed on. Tie him into the kettle by a strong silken cord called comfort, as the one called duty is apt to be weak. They sometimes fly out of the kettle and so become burned and crusty on the edges, since, like crabs and lobsters, you have to cook them while alive.

Make a clear, steady fire out of love, neatness and cheerfulness. Set him as near this as seems to agree with him; if he sputters do not be anxious; some husbands do this until they are quite done. Add a little sugar in the form of what confectioners call kisses, but no vinegar or pepper on any account. A little spice improves them.

Do not stick any sharp instrument into him to see if he is becoming tender. Stir him gently, lest he lie too flat and close to the kettle and so become useless. You cannot fail to know when he is done.

If thus heated you will find him very digestible, agreeing perfectly with you, and he will keep as long as you want, unless you become careless and set him in too cold a place.

Invention of Reaper Not Disclosed for Ten Years

Cyrus Hall McCormick invented a reaper and started an agricultural revolution.

Until the invention of the reaper, agriculture had advanced little beyond the implements of Biblical times. Man could not harvest as much as he could sow, nor as much as land would produce. A strong man could cut two acres of wheat a day with a scythe. Four of every five people in the United States were employed on farms.

McCormick's father, an iron-worker, had tried unsuccessfully to invent a machine for cutting standing wheat. At 22, Cyrus began work on the idea and in six weeks produced the first reaper. The essentials of that first machine are found in modern binders and combines.

The reaper was given its initial test in 1831, cut 10 acres in a day. But McCormick did not offer his machine for sale until 1840.

Liverpool Rummy

Something new to pass the evenings away—Liverpool Rummy—is now on the market, and in many organizations and afternoon gatherings, this game is replacing bridge.

Any number may play this game, having the usual tables of four players and progressing just as you would at bridge. It is far more exciting than the simpler games of rummy and is very easy to learn, say those who have played the game.

Liverpool Rummy may be played at home, also, with any number of players from two to seven taking part. Two decks of cards are used, with each player getting 10 cards and the remainder being placed in the center of the table and turning up one card beside it. Ace is high and counts ten. King, Queen and Jack also count ten.

Ceiling Heights Affect Heating

Ceiling heights in houses are not solely matters of taste but also involve the important factors of heating and ventilating, FHA officials say.

Homes built during the Victorian period usually had elevations of 10 or 12 feet. These heights were thought to be of aid in keeping the rooms cool during hot weather. Actually, unless the warm air was carried off properly it only served to increase the temperatures by storing up masses of warm air.

Any sensation of coolness noted was due mainly to the mental reaction of the residents, it is believed. Most experts now agree that any space more than 12 inches above the heads of windows, unless ventilated thoroughly, is of no value in cooling the room.

Church Copies Bible

Members of the Bethany Lutheran church in Cleveland have just completed a hand-written copy of the New Testament. Almost every member of the church wrote at least a page of the document.

"Our Bible may not compare with the beautiful work of the medieval artists," said the Rev. J. H. L. Trout, minister of the church, "but it means a great deal to us."

More than 450 members contributed to the making of the book.

The only machine-made part is the elaborate Lutheran seal which is stamped on the hand-tooled leather cover.

The first chapter of each book was written by some person selected for his or her penmanship, and the subsequent chapters by those less skilled.

"NAVY TRADE TRAINING GAVE ME MY START"
SAYS PRESIDENT, SPERRY CORPORATION

THOMAS A. MORGAN (pictured in insert), president of the Sperry Corporation, world's largest manufacturer of aeronautical and marine instruments, received his early technical training in the U. S. Navy, in which he enlisted as a young man. "This has proved of great value to me in later years," said ex-sailor Morgan. Pictured above are new Navy recruits receiving electrical training at one of the modernly equipped Navy Trade Schools. The Navy offers training to young men in nearly 50 different trades and vocations.

Opportunities for advancement, to learn skilled trades, for travel and adventure are identical whether a man enlists in the regular Navy or the Naval Reserve—and his pay, food, clothing, medical and dental care are the same.

IMMEDIATE RATINGS
IN U. S. NAVY GIVEN
EXPERIENCED MEN

Immediate ratings in the United States Navy are offered to men with experience aboard small vessels of this area who are qualified to man craft of the local defense forces operating in local waters.

Seamen, engineers, radiomen, cooks, yeomen and other classes of experienced men are needed at once, officials of the Thirteenth Naval District announced today. Engineers with experience on either diesel or gasoline engines will be used. Age limits are 17 to 50.

Qualified men with this experience are requested to apply immediately at the nearest navy recruiting station. They are to ask for Class M-2, which includes enlistments for this local defense work, officials explained.

No further naval training will be given the recruits before they go into service and ratings which may pay as high as $126 monthly are offered. In addition to this, allowances are made for clothing, food and quarters. Men with dependents or families are additionally provided for.

Officials pointed out that recruits under the M-2 classification will be serving their country in waters familiar to them and near their home ports. Men for these local defense forces are urgently needed now and all qualified persons are asked to inquire about the opportunities.
