FARM INCOME FOR 1941 IN OREGON BREAKS RECORDS

Cash income from farm sales of crops and animal products in Oregon during the first 11 months of 1941 was $37,202,000 or approximately 38 per cent greater than during the same period of 1940, according to estimates by the United States department of agriculture which have just been received by the agricultural extension service at O. S. C.

"It is apparent from the available data that Oregon's cash farm income in 1941 was the greatest on record," says L. R. Breithaupt, extension agricultural economist at Oregon State college. He added that the $135,945,000 marked up by the government statisticians as the cash farm income from January to November, 1941, may be expected to grow to well over $150,000,000 when the December figures are available, if income from various specialty crop and animal products of Oregon is included. If government payments are added, the total may reach or exceed $160,000,000.

The previous high cash farm income figure of record for Oregon is for the year 1929 at just under $140,000,000. Official estimates of cash farm income in Oregon begin with the year 1924, therefore do not include the first world war period when prices for farm products were much higher even than in 1929. The record low point in Oregon farm income came in 1932 at approximately $60,000,000 representing a tremendous post-war decline and a period when farm debts incurred during the high price years were exceedingly hard to pay.

The government report states that the outlook is "that cash income from farm marketings during the next few months will continue sharply higher than in the same months in 1941." It is indicated, however, that the rise from present farm price and income levels during the next few months may not be noteworthy compared with the sharp rise during the year 1941.

Farm leaders here and elsewhere are urging that extra income at present be used to retire debts, be saved in the form of defense bonds, and used for such other purposes as will help cushion the shock of the post-war adjustment period.

Grayden D. Lorce, Pastor

Sunday morning we shall present the fourth of the series of expositions of I John. This is entitled "Can I know that I'm Saved?" John has an answer to that question.

At 8:00 o'clock we shall discuss the topic, "The Christian and the War". Should a Christian support war? What should be our attitude? What would Jesus do? Let us face the facts and come to a decision.

All services are at the usual hours. You are welcome.
