MOBILIZATION OF 4-H CLUB FORCES SET FOR APR. 5-11

A 4-H club mobilization week will be observed both nationally and in Oregon from April 5 to 11, as this branch of the extension service marshals its full strength to aid in the war effort.

With the announcement of this special week also came word from Washington that the annual national 4-H club camp, held in Washington, D. C., for the past 15 years, has been canceled for this year. Lack of necessary facilities, transportation difficulties and the desire of all to devote full time to 4-H club projects are reasons for the cancellation, says H. C. Seymour, state club leader in Oregon.

During the mobilization week approximately 1,500,000 farm boys and girls, and 150,000 volunteer local club leaders will be asked to pledge themselves for all-out effort in a seven-point 4-H victory program. This seven-point program has been in effect as a defense measure for more than a year and now is to be intensified as part of the all-out war effort, says Seymour.

Club members have been concentrating on, and will emphasize even more this year, projects that produce needed foods, conservation of foods, care of farm machinery, clothing and other vital items, farm fire prevention, helping in civilian defense activities and collecting scrap metal, paper, and other needed materials. In addition they have carried on discussions of the world issue involved in this conflict and have been practicing democratic principles in their club work.

Here in Oregon last year there were 2873 organized clubs, involving 30,590 projects carried on by 22,732 different club members. A few of the outstanding projects were dairy clubs, in which 1690 took part, with a gross income of approximately $160,000; 528 had poultry projects yielding $32,600; while 371 engaged in gardening, which brought in $4,175. Far more garden clubs will be active this year, says Seymour.
