On the Seven Seas

For 45 years General Electric has developed and built electric equipment for warships. Here are a few of the ways in which electricity serves the Navy.

1. Just one battleship may have electric generators to produce as much as 180,000 kilowatts. This power would supply the needs of a city of 375,000.

2. Searchlights produce millions of candlepower of light to aid in detecting enemy ships and planes, and to guide Navy gunners to their targets.

3. More than 20 different operations are performed in bringing a naval gun to bear on its target. Electricity helps to co-ordinate these operations.

4. When a battleship goes into action, electricity helps direct the ship, operate the guns, and give the orders. G.E. is building equipment to do these jobs.

General Electric believes that its first duty as a good citizen is to be a good soldier.

SPEED A TANK to the fighting front!

Telephone calls play a vital part in building tanks, guns, ships, planes. They help to move millions of men to the fighting fronts. War is on the wires. There must be no blocking of these war calls.

We cannot build new lines to carry them because copper, nickel and rubber are shooting, not talking, materials right now.

What we can do is to make the most of what we have. You can help by making Long Distance calls only when they are really necessary. And on these, please be as brief as you can.

The call you save today may speed a plane or a tank to the fighting front.

Your co-operation is deeply appreciated.

YOUR ELECTRIC SERVANT

★ America today is busy producing food for the armies of Freedom in all parts of the world, as well as for the civilian populations.

Some of the largest and most efficient food processing plants are right here in the Pacific Northwest. For this is an agricultural paradise ... and here, too, electricity has always been cheap and abundant. For example, Pacific Power & Light serves 13 flour mills with electricity that costs only about a penny per sack of flour produced.

Helping produce food is just one of PP&L's many wartime jobs. It is serving airfields, army camps, shipyards and scores of war factories.

In other words, the same cheap electricity that makes home life easier for you, is helping in hundreds of ways to make life tough for the Axis!

IN A TYPICAL FLOUR MILL 1/4¢ WORTH OF PP&L POWER DOES ALL OF THESE THINGS:

1. Unloads & elevates 66 pounds of wheat.
2. Removes seeds, foreign matter.
3. Blows dust from the wheat.
4. Washes and dries it.
5. Grinds the wheat 7 times.
6. Sifts it 7 times.
7. Purifies it.
8. Packs the flour in a 40-lb. bag.
9. Sews up the bag.
10. Stacks the bag.
