CLEANUP DAY AT PARK SCHEDULED

The annual cleanup day for Columbia park has been set for Wednesday, April 7, when the ladies of the Farm Bureau Auxiliary hope to have a good attendance of Farm Bureau members and others who would assist in getting the grounds in condition for the summer season. The clean-up is expected to take the entire day and the ladies will serve a potluck dinner at noon. Workers should provide their own tools, such as rakes, shovels, pitchforks and axes. Water has been piped to the club building and grounds and the park is generally used throughout the summer by picnickers.

An 82-year-old Galesville, Wis., mechanic, with a single machine in his home, turns out parts for naval ordnance as a war production subcontractor.

All Fathers Know the Value of Their Eyes

Dad knows how important good vision is because he speaks from past experience. He also knows that in order for his children to do their best in school they must be able to see clearly.

Our offices are open to every school boy and girl whose eyes will benefit by scientific examination. A registered Optometrist is here to examine and prescribe for your eyes.
