CLAY PIGEONS TO AID IN TRAINING

Clay pigeons have gone to war. Army Ordnance is supplying the Air Force with millions of clay pigeons—a most valuable adjunct in training fledgling aircraft fighters to shoot the Luftwaffe out of European skies.

"Ground troops," declared Colonel W. J. Hoffmann, commanding Umatilla Ordnance Depot, "are first taught to fire at still targets. As their skill improves, bobbing, silhouette targets are used, approximately the size of a man, moving with average speed. But aircraft, with 300 to 400 miles-per-hour speed, presents another problem. Exclusive of shooting at another airplane, nothing compares with the training received from shooting at clay pigeons."

To aim directly at an airplane, in spite of the fact that it is a natural impulse, is a waste of ammunition. But to sight a proper lead ahead of an enemy craft gives the direct hit necessary to bring down the present-day well-armed plane.

Standing on the ground with a shot gun, watching for a clay pigeon to be hurled at approximately 50 miles an hour in an unknown direction furnishes the training which has proved invaluable in combat. After practicing on clay pigeons, the novice is permitted to fire at sleeve targets towed by aircraft. Shortly thereafter, other phases of his training program having been completed, he is qualified for actual combat.

The little girl tugged gently at her mother's sleeve.

"Now, Mother?" she asked. "Now can't we write my letter?"

"Why, of course, Betsy," Mrs. Carson grinned. "Are you going to write it or am I?"

"Well," Betsy said. "Maybe you'd better kind of say it to me. You'd love to write it."

"All right, then, Miss Carson, take a letter," her mother said, walking slowly up and down the room.

"Ready?" "Dear Mr. Morgenthau: The way I save money for War Stamp buying is to steer all the small household jobs toward my daughter, who is eight years old. She is so keen about buying War Stamps that I know all the money I might have paid to someone else for doing the jobs will go toward Victory when paid to her."

"Now make a list, Betsy. 'Windows washed, 60 cents. Apples picked from under the tree, 25 cents. Emptied trash cans, 4 cents. Sold string beans from the garden, 15 cents. Sold strips of spoiled film to children for sun-gazing, at one cent a yard, 20 cents. Total, $1.24. Yours helpfully, I hope,'—and then I'll sign it at the bottom."

Betsy was puffing like a grampus from her labors. The tall, painstaking letters tottered bravely across the sheet of paper. Gravely Mrs. Carson took the pen to sign.

"Mother, would it be the proper etiquette if I signed it too?"

"Perfectly proper, I think," Mrs. Carson said without a smile, and handed the pen back to Betsy.

(Letter from an actual communication in the files of the Treasury Department.)

low roses and orange blossoms. Each bride was attended by two bridesmaids, Miss Lavina Mae Lynch and Miss Claudine Hale in pink net and taffeta, and Miss Grace Nonne and Mrs. Basil McLaughlin wearing identical dresses of aquamarine net and taffeta. All bridesmaids carried cascade bouquets of pink roses and orange blossoms. Little misses, Shirley Quiring and Sally Pearson acted as flower girls for Miss Johnson and Miss Denton, respectively, wearing floor length dresses of aquamarine and pink marquisette. They also carried cascade bouquets of baby roses and sweet peas.

Joe Cooney of Umatilla acted as best man for Mr. Brown with Lt. Robert Davidson of Pendleton serving Lt. Johnson.

Ushers for the wedding were First Sergeant Elmer Berg, Master Sergeant Charles Parker, Lt. Charles Talbert, and Lt. Edo McCari, all of Pendleton.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Pearson with the two couples receiving before the fireplace which was banked with white peonies and carnations and lighted by white tapers. The brides' table was centered by a beautiful four tiered wedding cake with both couples traditionally cutting the first piece. Mrs. W. M. Morgan and Mrs. Leighton Smith poured with Mrs. W. M. Pearson serving the cake.

Out of town guests for the wedding were: Mrs. L. Brown, mother of the groom, Mrs. Clyde Bensen, sister of Miss Johnson and Mr. Johnson, all of Portland; William Johnson, Byron Johnson, brothers of the bride, and Miss Helen Demond, all of Boise, and Mr. and Mrs. James Selph of Pasco, Wash., aunt and uncle of Miss Johnson.

OCCUPANCY OF WAR HOUSING IS RESTRICTED

workers who must be brought into the areas for essential war jobs. He said that occupancy control forms may be obtained by private builders through their Federal Housing Administration Office nearest them. Similar regulations have been placed into effect for publicly-financed war housing.

To expedite the job of tenant selection for war housing, Soplen said that a list of firms and industries in the critical housing areas whose employees are eligible for war housing accommodations, has been prepared by his office in cooperation with the War Manpower Commission. If the war workers are not in-migrants, they are eligible to occupy privately-financed war housing for which priority assistance applications were filed prior to February 10.

Areas in which the new occupancy control regulations have been placed into effect include: Albany, Astoria, Bend, Corvallis, Fort Stevens, Hermiston, Madras, Medford, Pendleton, Redmond, Sutherlin, Tillamook, Troutdale and Warrenton. Similar restrictions were placed into effect in the Portland area two weeks ago.

Let peanut butter be the home front standby

It's time we realized the importance of peanut butter as a nutritious food, and not as a delicious snack food. Its flavor is only one of the things in favor of peanut butter. It is a protein food and that means that it can take the place of meat on the menu. It is a food high in energy value, the kind of food that gives that power needed for heavy work. As for minerals and vitamins, peanut butter scores high. It is particularly high in some of those all-important B vitamins.

PEANUT BUTTER CUTLETS—Combine 1 cup hot medium thick white sauce and 1/2 cup peanut butter. Add 1 well-beaten egg and mix well. Add 2 cups soft bread crumbs and seasonings and mix well. Form into cutlets or patties, dip in beaten egg, then cracker crumbs and fry until well browned. Serve with cheese sauce.

PEANUT BUTTER IN SOUPS—Add 2 or 3 tbsps. peanut butter to cream soups for additional nourishment and tempting new flavor.

PEANUT BUTTER SAUCE—Blend in 1 to 2 tbsps. peanut butter into white sauce, tomato sauce and gravies. It adds extra richness and intriguing nutty goodness.

PEANUT BUTTER SALAD DRESSINGS—Mix peanut butter and salad dressings or mayonnaise in proportions to suit your taste. Serve on vegetable and fruit salads. It's simply luscious.

PEANUT BUTTER PUDDING—Mix 1/4 cup of cornstarch with a dash of salt and 1 tbsp. sugar, and 1/2 cup cold water. Combine 3 tbsps. honey or corn syrup with 4 tbsps. peanut butter. Mix with cornstarch mixture, and cook in double boiler for 10 minutes, stirring constantly. Then cover and cook 15 minutes longer, stirring occasionally. Cool, pour into sherbet dishes and chill.
