GOLF TOURNEY PLANS CHANGED

Original plans for a golf tournament for enthusiasts of this sport have been changed somewhat, according to C. J. Jackson, golf club president, and Lee Weber of the U.S.O. staff who is in charge of the arrangements. Due to the fact that not enough score cards were turned in by Monday of this week it was thought best to extend this requirement one week. Anyone wishing to enter the tourney is asked to turn in score cards for at least 18 holes not later than Monday, July 5. Actual play will get underway probably Sunday, July 11.

It is hoped that a large number will take advantage of tournament play. Several prizes of bonds will be offered as well as other awards.

FOURTH OF JULY CAUTION URGED

Put victory first on the fourth! With that slogan, Secretary of State Bob Farrell today joined the National Safety Council and other agencies in urging drivers to exercise care to avoid traffic accidents during the Fourth of July holiday period this year.

"July 4, 1941 found this country celebrating its independence. July 4, 1943 finds this country fighting again to preserve this independence," Farrell declared.

"It would be poor business to threaten the efficient conduct of our fight for freedom by destroying human life and valuable property needlessly."

Holiday travel will of necessity be curtailed to a considerable extent this year, but there will be some local travel over the highways of Oregon, Farrell said. It is important that this travel be accident free because accidents today may involve military vehicles, military personnel, or war workers and their vehicles.

"Hundreds of essential workers will be traveling to and from their jobs during the Fourth of July holidays as our war plants continue their operations," the secretary of state said. "Our highways must be kept free of accidents so that this and other forms of essential transportation may move uninterruptedly."

Farrell urged drivers to observe the 35 mile wartime speed limit at all times, to observe posted speeds on military reservations, narrow bridges, towns and at other points, and to keep alert to existing traffic conditions.

One battle won does not win a war. We've got tougher times ahead.

Stanfield Soldiers Need Furniture
The soldiers now stationed at Stanfield are undertaking a search for used and old furniture which they could remodel, paint or touch up for use in their day room. The loss of furniture in the recreation hall fire last March left the camp with very few usable items. If anyone has any kind of furniture which would be available for this purpose, they are asked to call the U.S.O. club, phone 2821.
