

HOW LONG SINCE YOU'VE READ

The Constitution of the United States?

"We, the people of the United States..."

156 years ago, these simple words began America's warranty of freedom.

Today we are deep in war—so that this warranty may endure. Should we win—and win we must—whom will it profit?

Are you a farmer, and do you love your land? Are you a worker, and do you cherish your hard-bought home? It will profit you that no man, without due process, can wrest your home, your field, your plow from you.

Do you worship God in a church, or in a synagogue, or in the secret places of your heart? It will profit you that no heathen hand can desecrate your altars.

Do you impart the truth to the printed page—or do you seek it there? It will profit you that the presses will not be shattered in the night.

Do you talk with your neighbors in the market place—or meet on the steps of the town hall? It will profit you that no bludgeon can drive you into secret cellars.

Our Constitution assures us these things. And these we fight for.

In many ways we fight. Some in small, silent ways—when our sons have gone. Some in large, heroic ways—in the roaring of wings. Farmers fight in the rows of corn; writers under the lamp; ministers from the pulpit's height.

Not the least of these are the men of industry. And proud we are to be among them.

Proud to pledge ourselves still further to the fight—that all peoples everywhere may continue to find in this Constitution of ours a heartening hope!

GARDEN SEEDS FOR ALL

"There will be enough seeds of standard vegetables to meet the normal needs of Uncle Sam's vast army of Victory Gardeners in 1943." This confident statement comes from Dexter Ferry of the Ferry-Morse Seed Co., the world's largest seed breeding and growing organization. "Our own home gardeners are provided for," he adds, "even though we are shipping large quantities of seeds to our Allies."

American-grown seeds will indeed plant the gardens of the far corners of the earth this year as well as those of this hemisphere. Certain types of seed are being sent to all the friendly nations because their usual sources of supply have been cut off. By air and by water they are being carried to England, Russia, Australia, India, New Zealand, British West Indies, South Africa, and many other Allied countries.

Sharing garden seeds with other countries, as America is doing, is one of the most economical as well as one of the most effective ways of helping needy neighbors in wartime. Seeds take up less room than most food stuffs, thus leaving valuable shipping space for important munitions and other war supplies. From a health standpoint vegetable seeds are a necessity in every land because they are the basis of fresh foods which could not possibly be shipped long distances without deterioration.

"Because there are garden seeds enough for Victory Gardeners does not mean that they can be used carelessly," Mr. Ferry explains. "As a wartime measure, every man, woman, and child who plans a Victory Garden this year should make the most of every seed planted. Determining the right amount of seed for a given space, proper planning and planting so that all seeds will have the best growing chance, caring for crops to avoid waste and spoilage, and making good use of the garden-fresh food produced, will all help to prevent what otherwise might be serious national food shortages."

Although seed supplies in general are sufficient, certain varieties of some kinds of vegetables are rather short this year due to unfavorable growing and harvesting conditions, according to Mr. Ferry.

"That should inconvenience no one," he says. "If you cannot find seed of your pet variety of vegetable at your dealer's, there will be others so nearly like it that you will not miss your favorite."

Put every dollar above the necessities of life into War Bonds. Payroll Savings is the best means of doing your best in helping your sons and friends on the fighting fronts. Figure it out yourself.

WEATHER TURNS HOT THIS WEEK

The first extended heat wave of the season struck this week with the thermometer gradually climbing into the 90's and remaining there. Farmers took advantage of the sunshine and literally "made hay" for fear of another wet spell. Corn, watermelon, cucumbers and tomato plants are also showing signs of life after almost a month of very slow growth.

The report for the week follows:

Date	Max.	Min.
June 23	76	46
June 24	80	45
June 25	79	56
June 26	83	48
June 27	87	50
June 28	91	50
June 29	92	53

BUY WAR BONDS

Figure It Out Yourself. How can you effectively join in saving all the little children of the world from human slavery, death and injury from the Nazis and Japanese? Put more and more of your pay into war bonds every payday. Your savings will go to war in the form of war equipment and other munitions. How much more should you put into war bonds? The only ones who can answer that are—you and your family. It's up to you to decide just how much more you'll do to win the war.
